CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free. Building Edition, monthly, $5.00 a year. Single copies, 15 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new patents, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 351 BROADWAY.

They Want McEnery.

From a well defined sentiment there seems to be no doubt but the opponents of Gov. Foster have resolved to force Judge S. D. McEnery, which is altogether against his will, to become a candidate for governor. In New Orleans it is said that a monster mass meeting is being arranged for at an early date in that city which will pronounce in favor of the ex-Governor, and he will be asked to lead the fight against the present State administration. It is also stated upon the best of authority that an organization like or similar to the Young Men's Democratic Association of 1888 is being organized and the present city administration of New Orleans will be completely wiped out. It is the determination of the best people of New Orleans, regardless of politics, to rid themselves of the gang now dominating the affairs of that city, and that they will succeed there is not a shadow of doubt. What they did in 1888 they will do again in 1896.—Shreveport Judge.

"While down in the southwestern part of the state some time ago," says Mr. W. Chalmer, editor of the Chicago (Cal.) Enterprise, "I had an attack of dysentery. Having heard of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I bought a bottle. A couple of doses of it completely cured me. Now I am a champion of that remedy for all stomach and bowel complaints." For sale by T. J. Labbe, Druggist.

The Danger Ahead.

There appears to be a growing impression in New Orleans and elsewhere about the State that the populists will nominate a State ticket that will not be objectionable to dissatisfied democrats, and that this ticket will be endorsed by the Sugar Planters' Association and the Republicans. This is what The Item has been fearing all along, because if it is done the days of democratic rule in Louisiana are numbered. In fearing such probable action we endeavored to urge a plan by which such dangerous result might be avoided. Later the Times-Democrat bravely came forward in advocacy of the same plan, but the shallow little administration organs throughout the State, who doubtless feared that if the white people were united against their favorites would get left, denounced the Times-Democrat in a shameful manner for doing that which alone will reunite the white people and preserve democratic supremacy in the State. Just so sure as the program now talked of is carried into execution just so sure the supremacy of the democratic party in this State ceases. We are speaking here earnestly and honestly for the salvation of the democratic party and not for the welfare of any candidate for office. If others who oppose the plan could look at the subject in the same way the party would profit largely by it.—Capital Item.

SUNDAY DRINKING.

Archbishop Grosse, of Oregon, declares:

"Sunday beer drinking in moderation is not wrong, nor is it sinful in the opinion of the Catholic church. A man who can regulate his appetite has a right to indulge in whatever drink suits his taste. The law has no right to say what I shall eat or drink."

Archbishop Chapelle of New Mexico says:

"The Catholic church does not condemn beer drinking in moderation Sunday or any other day as wrong or sinful."

Archbishop Janssens of New Orleans gives this opinion:

"If beer drinking on any other day is not in itself sinful it is not so on Sunday. The only manner in which it can be sinful is by attaching scandal to it, by violating the law to indulge it. Sunday is the only day on which most poor men can get recreation, and many of these people find a great pleasure in drinking a glass of beer."

Archbishop Elder of Cincinnati tells us:

"It is not wise to impose by law restrictions that cannot be enforced. It destroys respect for law. Very often a vitiated public sentiment makes even wise laws nugatory."

Chancellor Muldoon of Chicago, declares the Catholic church does not see how it could be wrong to drink, or eat anything of God's creation. The only harm in drinking beer is that people do not always drink it moderately. If they do not drink it to excess there is no more harm in drinking it on Sunday than on any other day.—Morning Star.

Mr. Edward Reynaud, a young gentleman of this place, attempted to commit suicide on Wednesday evening last by cutting the arteries of his arm and stabbing himself in the breast. His groans attracted the attention of his sister Mrs. Guth in time to save his life, though he was very weak from the loss of blood. He was to have been married to Miss Maggie Angers on that day, and assigns as a reason for attempting to take his life that he discovered that he had been robbed of money which he had accumulated for a number of years. His betrothed was summoned to his bedside on Wednesday night and they were married. He is gradually recovering from his wounds.—N. I. Enterprise.
