

Tri-Weekly Capitolian

LEON JASTREMSKI,
Editor and Business Manager.

BATON ROUGE, MAY 11, 1880.

FOR PRESIDENT,
W. S. HANCOCK,
Of Pennsylvania.

NOTICE TO OUR PATRONS.

Owing to our inability to communicate with our subscribers and patrons, we will send the tri-weekly edition to those residing within striking distance, considering their silence as expressive of a desire to have the same continued. Upon notification to the contrary, we will, as in the past, furnish merely the weekly edition. This issue will be double the present size of the tri-weekly, and though it will contain the more useful and interesting matter appearing in the latter, it will discard all items that are calculated to interest only our home readers and those directly interested in the doings of this city. Thus the advantage of the tri-weekly will be apparent. Whenever there are any occurrences of importance throughout the country, we will post our readers by special telegrams. If properly encouraged in this advance step, we will, as soon as the mails justify us, issue daily.

The subscription price of the tri-weekly (including the weekly) is five dollars per annum; that of the weekly alone, two dollars.

With those advertisers who desire insertions in the tri-weekly, we will, as soon as possible, make the necessary contracts.

THE OAT OUT OF THE BAG.

Decidedly lengthy, was the explanation of Brother Annis, in last Saturday's Advocate in relation to his operations as a Ring Tail Squealer, and his participation in that "fourth of July social equality supper at the Harney House in 1873," where black and white "broke bread" in brotherly communion. It seems that the beneficent effects of that supper came within one vote of causing the removal of the capital to Baton Rouge, at the subsequent session of the Republican Legislature. No doubt that if brother Annis could have gotten up another lunch on the same basis, the last button on "Gabe's coat" would have given way.

The enterprising little man goes on to show how he was the pioneer in conciliating the colored man and brother, to that extent that in 1876, barbecues were given at which all hands ate of the same roast beef. The redemption of the city and State was due to his self-sacrificing efforts as a grand sachem of the Ring Tail Squealers, who turned Radical votes into Democratic majorities. He was only three years "ahead of the bounds," that's all; and but a few only, behind Longstreet.

Just to think that the Radical Congress set up a howl against the bulldozers of the Florida parishes, accusing them of carrying elections by intimidation, whereas the true inwardness of the revolution which took place in the mind of the colored people, causing them to vote the Democratic ticket, was but the effects of brother Annis' convivial policy in treating three or four colored Republican politicians to "that social equality supper," on independence day, in the year of our Lord 1873.

Yet brother Annis, allowed the howl to proceed, and congressional committees to make sundry costly investigations, without divulging the real facts in the case. 'Tis only at this late day, that he discloses a secret, the knowledge of which, would have caused Northern public opinion to run in an entirely different channel, than the one which carried Rutherford B. Hayes, right smack into the Presidential chair.

It was a cow, that upset the coal oil lamp, which set fire to the stable from whence started the terrible conflagration which well nigh destroyed the city of Chicago.

And now the country will be startled by learning that "Bill Annis," the little editor of the Baton Rouge Advocate, organized the supper that converted the colored people of the bulldozing parishes of Louisiana, which gave the vote of the State to Tilden.

What will "the boys" say all over this broad land, when they find out that Uncle Sam Tilden would have gotten his seat and they the nice Federal appointments, if that "ass-tute" Bill Annis, as he spells the word, had only "peached" and told the congressional committees, how it was, that his Ring Tail Squealers were the ones who did the real work, by filling the paunch of the colored politicians at "that social equality supper."

After this overwhelming disclosure, all we can say is: "Bill Annis," Grand Sachem of the illustrious order of the Ring Tail Squealers, thou art entitled to the everlasting gratitude of the people of thy beloved State, be thrice blessed for thy valiant services,

In baiting the hook,
With which were caught,
The Radical fish;
Who voted for Tilden and Nichols,
In Eighteen Seventy-Six.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE IS OUR ONLY MASTER.

In presenting the first number of the Tri-Weekly Capitolian, we have been compelled to alter the form in which, since the birth of the paper in February, 1879, it has steadily gained favor and patronage at the hands of a generous public. The compliments which have been addressed us by its patrons and the press generally, concerning its typographical appearance, have excited our pride to such a degree that we part almost sorrowfully from the handsome seven column four page form and the plain letter of its heading.

We feel compensated for the alteration, however, by the thought and the knowledge that in reducing the size of the pages, we will have doubled their number, enabling us to present to our readers an eight page Weekly containing forty-eight columns, in which the amount of reading matter will be correspondingly increased.

As CAPITOLIANS we take a just pride in the community in which we live and receive a generous support and encouragement. We know that a handsome, interesting and vigorous journal tends in giving the outside world a good opinion of the city or parish where such a journal is published. The benefits accruing are therefore mutual: In proportion to the patronage we receive, will we be enabled to increase the popularity of Baton Rouge and attract notice to the exceptional advantages it offers to the enterprising, as well as to those afforded by the picturesque, lovely and fertile lands which surround the Capital City.

While of course, we will gratefully appreciate the liberal patronage, which the public may see fit to extend us, we can, in all sincerity tell them that in aiding us in our efforts to establish a journal worthy of our community, they will but sow seeds from which to reap a harvest in return.

The title of this article is the motto which appears under the heading of the CAPITOLIAN. It is full of meaning, indicating as it does, that we intend to publish an outspoken paper, one controlled by no coterie, whether political, religious or otherwise. In other words we expect to represent the spirit of the free American citizen, who glories in the greatness of his State and country, with its truly Democratic institutions.

We are for the maintenance of the Republic, in accordance with the spirit and letter of the Constitution, as created by its immortal framers. For a Union of co-equal States, possessing the right of local self-government, one which ought not and cannot be obliterated by the mailed hand of a centralizing power.

We are opposed to those cowardly theories, which call for what is termed "a strong government" with a concentration of power in the hands of one or more men.

We recognize but one master: the voice of the people, which is, we verily believe, the voice of the Almighty.

It is true that there are moments when the masses are moved by evil passions, and in their madness are guilty of committing the most cruel wrongs, the very excess of which, never fail, in time, to bring about a healthful reaction.

We have just traversed a period such as would cause men to despair of the government of the people by the people themselves.

But the refutation of the idea that the masses must be governed by the force of bayonets has been strikingly shown, in our own Louisiana, since the day when Federal interference ceased to be applied in our internal affairs.

Turn towards California, and we find there that the dangers which had been brought about by the communistic ideas which had been inculcated in the minds of the people by the Kalliochs and other demagogues, have been completely averted, by the returning sober sense of these very masses, who but yesterday were moved by their worst passions. To-day law is being inflexibly administered, backed by the irresistible power of public opinion, a power greater than the bayonet or the gatling gun. That's the reason why we are for "the government of the people, by the people themselves," and in consequence opposed to the death, to any innovations in the government of the Constitution.

We are down on Grantism, third termism and everything that savors of personal rule and centralization of power.

CONTEST BETWEEN THE NEW ORLEANS AND NATCHEZ GUN CLUBS.

Through the kindness of our esteemed friend, Major W. T. Claverius, we are enabled to furnish the score made by the above named clubs at the exciting contest which took place at Natchez on last Saturday. It will be seen that the crack New Orleans Gun Club found foemen worthy of their steel, having scored but two balls more than their Mississippi competitors; a result as creditable to the vanquished as it is to the victors, to whom we had the pleasure of being introduced on Sunday, on their down trip on board the steamer Lee, through the courtesy of that gallant gentleman Col. W. T. Vandry, who had come as far as our city to meet the very clever members who compose the club. The score is as follows:

A severe storm, says the Monroe Bulletin, visited Ouachita parish lately, blowing down houses, fencing and trees, in every direction. For some days the roads were blocked up by fallen timber. No lives were reported lost.

The municipal election at Monroe, held on the 3rd inst., resulted in electing, E. Endom, Mayor; S. Meyer, D. M. Sholars, J. G. Sanders, Franklin Garnett, W. P. Renwick, C. C. Lewis and E. W. Barrington, Councilmen. All Democrats.

The first Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, of the State of Louisiana, was to be inaugurated on the 6th at Monroe. Delegates from other States were to be in attendance. A supper and grand ball was to close the ceremonies on the 7th.

By the careless handling of a rifle, Mr. Gus Anderson was killed on May 1st at Kirk's Ferry, Catahoula parish, by Mr. George Kennedy.

Frank Forrest, colored, whilst firing upon the officers pursuing him, for the wounding of Frank Kemp, also colored, was shot and wounded by the officers, in Tensas parish, last week.
