Money Power and Money Users. Which?

That the great insurance companies of the land largely control the currency of the country, says an exchange, is beginning to be realized by the people, and with Wall street and English brokers they are in a position to dictate the financial pol- Palmer. icy of this country to suit themselves. Hence people may understand how it is that many banks all over this country which are supposed to be in the combine are driven to the wall. The leaders of this great scheme to enslave the masses have no conscience, and when they have oppressed the outside world they naturally turn on fare no better than merchants or mine." farmers.

This disposition upon the part of the money centers being recognized, will force ordinary banking institutions and business men generally to take their positions with the masses, and the number of men who propose to reduce the toiling masses to serfdom will be very small, and to us the out-look is not hopeless. When once the business men all over the country come to understand that their interests are identical with laboring men, and these mighty forces are thrown against the money sharks the struggle will be over. Then the people can read just things to suit themselves. As it is, a few men have dominated all legislation and practically own the courts of the country. The people have not been in it for thirty years, but they are coming now and Johnny Bull had better get out of the way. Moreover Democratic party shall abandon its we suggest that the special advocates of the tariff had better drop that subject for the time being as they might be misunderstood as attempting to divert attention from the main issue in the interest of the money power, and be swept away with Johnny. In any event, the people, country bankers, merchants, laboring men and all have been fooled in the name of tariff, party, etc., about long enough. As it stands, all are alike at the mercy of the money broker, and all suffer together, and if we can understand it and work together all will be easily adjusted. Heretofore country bankers and business men have been hanging on to Wall street's coat tail thinking they would be among the favored, of silver in the interests of the Rebut now begin to see their fate is no better than the common people, and to the people they will look and with the people gain our freedom once more.

HUNTER TO PALMER.

Some Questions Respecting Democracy Propounded to the Senator.

Andrew J. Hunter of Paris, ex-congressman-at-large from Illinois, has addressed an open letter to United States Senator John M.

Ot thesenatorchallenging his statement that the calling of the convention for June 5 was perfectly proper Judge Hunter says:

"This is something of a surprise to me. I conclude from the subject, matter and the arguments in your letter that you entirely misapprehend the intent and meaning of my letter to Mr. Hinrichsen, that is, if the less favored within, and bankers your letter is intended as a reply to After referring at length to the duty of public servants to the people, to the Cleveland policy and to the history of silver since 1873, Judge Hunter asks the following questions: "Are you in favor of mantaining the law of 1873, demonetizing silver? Are you in favor of the gold standard alone? By what authority and from what source does Mr. Cleveland and the self-styled honest money Democrate derive the right to make a change in the creed of the Democrat ic party without consulting it?

By what authority does Mr. Cleveland use the great office of president to compel his secretary to pay gold to the creditors of the government when the law provides for the payment of coin, forcing gold loans, when there is silver in the treasury?

What new emergency has arisen in this country, that demands that the policy and principles of more than 100 years standing on the question of money and accept and adopt the Hamilton and Sherman doctrine in finance?

Shall the Democratic party be governed in its party and legislative action by the platform made by the Democracy of the United States or by the president?

I ask you if silver was not an honest dollar under Democratic laws and under Democratic legislation, worth 3 per cent. more than gold at the time it was demonetized by the Republican party?

And I further ask you if you have not joined Mr. Cleveland and John Sherman in continuing this dishonor publican party? And are you not also asking Democrate to follow you in perpetuating this dishonor and resisting every effort of the Democratic party Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away to make the silver dollar an honest

THE OLD SONGS.

Come, sing to me again to-night The songs you used to sing, The old home songs that sweet delight

And tender reveries bring. There's "Hard Times" and the "Auld Lang Syne,"

"The Cows are in the Corn," They warm the heart like mellow wine,

Those songs of home love born.

Come sing the old songs soft and low.

I'll sit and listen here. And day dreams of the long ago My weary heart shall cheer. There's "Bonny Doon" and

"Robin Gray"-They are all dear to me, All, all are sweet, tho' sad, tho'

Their harmonies may be.

There's "Nellie Gray" and "Baby Roy"

And "Comin' Thro' the Rye"-Their sweet strains swell with tender joy,

Their pathos dims the eye; They take me back to childhood bright,

Those songs so sweet and low, O, sing to me again, to-night Those songs of long ago.

Sing once again; I'll sit and dream

Of hallowed places where We wandered by life's shady stream

When love was young and fair; Thy voice o'er me shall weave a spell

Of love's enchanting themes-Let once again it's music tell Of hope's anshattered dreams.

Ah, sacred melodies that thrill With your unstudied art. That soothe the woes of life and still

With peace the throbbing heart, Your soft strains o'er my spirit fall

With gentle ripling flow-Tho' sad, tho' gay, I love you

Ye songs of long ago.

THE OLD BRUSSELS CARPET.

Oh, dear to our hearts are the sad days of spring-time, When the annual house-cleaning recurs to our view, When we sleep on the sofa and eat off the mantel

In an atmosphere strongly suggestive of glue.

We think of the stove-pipe, the soot that came with it, Likewise the profanity, fluent and fine; But the saddest and most bitter of all recollections

Is the rusty old carpet that hung on the line. Oh, that dusty old carpet,

That rusty old carpet, That musty old carpet, That hung on the line.

. We remember, how, armed with a little flagelator, In the morning we blithely advanced to the fray; In the muscular pride of our heart little dreaming That cleaning that carpet would take the whole day;

We sweat and we swore, and our hands badly blistered, While the sun lent his countenance warmly benign, But the harder we pounded, themore it was needed

By the dusty old carpet that hung on the line. Oh, that dusty old carpet,

That musty old carpet, That rusty old carpet, That hung on the line.
