"Pittsburgh Perfect" FENCES

No fence can do more than give satisfaction. The "Pittsburgh" is the strongest, simplest, most perfect fence made.

We have just received a carload of this fencing and can sell it at the right price. There is no better fencing made for hogs, cattle or horses.

General and usually accomplishes what he undertakes. Jim Egan and Sid Stredwick are able lieutenants.

Sawyer picnic is announced by a comprehensive bill which suggests that the Hon. J. M. has at last become Divine. From e to i—but what a transformation, if true. But it's from Sawyer!!

Logan, though not yet numerically the most important town along the Soo, continues to grow both in importance and numbers. We have a live, hustling body of business men who recognize that community development means rapid local growth. We have emerged from the chrysalis stage when events which aroused comment and criticism were of no greater importance than Timpkin's beer party, or Tompkins religious belief or lack of it. Each now cultivates and displays a civic pride, the pettiness, priggishness and prudishness of narrow minds has given place to a desire to be helpful rather than hurtful, honest rather than hoggish and become convinced that charity of thought, speech and action is preferable to concerning one's self with a multitude of minor matters, which when analyzed, merely illustrated that we did not know enough to mind our own d— business. We've grown bigger and broader, so develop the faculty of observation by noting the good points of your town and each of its inhabitants, and don't be disappointed if you cannot discover a band of angels, for Logan is just the Garden of Eden.

Logan High School is an institution both useful and ornamental. It can be made more comfortable during the winter season, by slight alterations of the heating system. The directors should and probably will, give this matter attention before school commences.

H. C. Kuchenbecker has a fine field of the celebrated Marquis wheat on his home farm for which Manager Oliver Saugstad is deserving of credit.

Mrs. Jim Shaw was the guest of Mrs. Marie Stredwick on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Miss Evelyn Kuchenbecker is gladdening the hearts of the fond grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C., and the young cherub surely is a bundle of entertainment and enterprise.

Ed Mostad journeyed to Fargo, viewed the Fair and enjoyed generally a varied vacation.

Curtice Cross, who is ranching out South was among the distinguished visitors registered at Oard's hostelry.

Ralph Oard, H. C. Kuchenbecker and Jim Shaw are not this week baching it. A square meal is essential occasionally.

Mr. Bean has, we understand, leased the Beebe block and will take possession shortly. Friend Pean will soon have to be numbered among the Businessmen of our town, and a popular schoolma'am may elect to serve Uncle Sam.

Will Humphrey, of "Timber Edge Farm," has cut and shocked one of the finest fields of winter rye we have yet viewed.

Chris Saugstad, the friend who lacks an helpmeet, was a visitor at Woodside Poultry Farm last week end. Chris has quite an acreage of beans, and Van Camps are interested in Logan's superior product. This fall Chris will be doing a wholesale pork and bean business.

Beebe, his better half and all the little Beebes are, we regret to say, leaving for eastern parts very shortly. Bert is advertising many useful articles this week and an opportunity presents itself to obtain these for but a part of their real value.
