COMPETITIVE EXHIBITS ARE HELPFUL IN CREATING ADDED INTEREST IN GARDENING

Exhibits of Fruit and Vegetables Stimulate Interest in Gardening and Foster Community Spirit.

An organized competition among neighbors helps create added interest in vegetable, fruit, and flower growing in a community. To aid those who desire to have a horticultural show or a garden competition, but who do not know exactly how to conduct one, is the purpose of a circular recently issued by the department of agriculture. The methods given in it are those which experience has proved to be easiest and best. Among the subjects treated are classification of entries, the arrangement of the hall and of the exhibits, the points observed in judging various horticultural exhibits, and the prizes offered.

Scope of the Exhibits.

An organization already in existence, such as a county or state fair, a farmers' club, a grange, a garden or horticultural club, or a boys' and girls' club, may father a horticultural exhibit or a group may be brought together especially for the purpose. Once organized, this circular suggests, the first step is to outline the scope of the exhibit. Competitions to be interesting must be fair and equitable. In order to make them so, competitors with similar opportunities should be matched against one another. The exhibits should be divided into as small units as possible, so that the person with only a few square feet of ground may show such products as he may grow, in even competition with like products produced by larger gardens. A large number of small exhibits instead of a few large ones favor a successful show. An important point is to have the premium list made up early, preferably before seeds are ordered. Exhibits should be attractively staged, the entries for a class being kept together. Both classes and individual entries should be plainly and appropriately labeled.

Helpful Competition.

Vegetable, fruit, and flower gardens or the home grounds of a community may be fairly classed and judged. These make most helpful community competitions.

Taken prizes instead of those of intrinsic value are all that is necessary for successful competitions. When the time of the show approaches the exact date must be fixed, and this should not be changed. If it is done it may provoke a feeling of unfairness.

Where competitions of any of the types discussed in the department's Circular 62 have been held, they have been found not only to stimulate interest in gardening and home adornment, but even more to get neighbors acquainted with one another and develop community spirit.

An exhibition requires considerable effort, but it is usually felt to be well worth while, even by those upon whom the heaviest burden falls.

Burt Township Farmer's Rye Averaged 31 1/2 Bushels
Bernt Larson, of Burt township holds the record for growing rye this year. A large field of rye just threshed averaged 31 1/2 bushels per acre.
