The buffalo in the season were troubled with mosquitoes, as were all other animals, except the Indian, and cound hollows are found as if dug out, made by buffalo, and called buffalo wallows, and on the edges of a stream where the growth was willows, you could find them twisted flat to the ground by the animals in their mad endeavors to get rid of the pests.

The paths (for they are wothing more than paths) made by the buffalo while on the march, are yet to be seen all over the prairies where the land has not been cultiyated, as they always went in single file, and for centuries have traveled in the same tracks, cutting, according to the nature of the ground

The hunters having finished feast black mass of buffalo to be seen, John Staples, ing, fiddling and dancing brought only here and there a small patch Geo. Brown. in their pennaican and dried meat of prairie exposed. All the half and trade commenced. The breeds there had built log cabins; prices at that time were five cents the roofs covered with mud, the for penmican and four cents for cracks chinked with yellow clay, dried meat, they taking merchan I spent two weeks at the Mcuse dise for the present wants, leaving with J.
