PEMBINA Loan and Savings Association.

PEMBINA, N. D.
Loans money on good Pembina County real estate. Every borrower is a shareholder and participate in the profits the same as the investor. Every dollar paid in pays part of the debt and is also placed in interest for the benefit of the shareholders. From experience it is found that from 10% to 11% monthly payments pays the principal and interest on any sum borrowed. Monthly payments are 50 cents per share and $1 per hundred of sum borrowed. No bonus. In form of borrowing money is special convenient and profitable to wage earners and married men who want to own their own homes. The monthly payments are less than rent, and this for most "rent" buys the home.

CITATION FOR HEARING.

State of North Dakota, County of Pembina. In County Court before Hon. H. G. Vick Judge. The matter of the estate of James D. McCauley, Deceased; Elizabeth J. McCauley, petitioner, vs. James McCauley, David Irwin McCauley, Annetta E. McCauley and Henry Wilbur McCauley, respondents.

On reading and filing the petition of Elizabeth J. McCauley, administratrix of the said estate, setting forth the amount of personal estate that has come to her hands, and the disposition thereof, the amount of debts outstanding against said deceased, and the expenses of administration, a description of all the real estate of which said deceased died seized, and the condition and value of the respective portions thereof; and praying that license be to her granted to sell the following described land belonging to the estate of said James D. McCauley, deceased, to-wit:

The north-east quarter of section thirty-four, the south-east quarter of section twenty-seven, the north-east quarter of section twenty-seven, and the north-west quarter of section twenty-six, all in township one hundred sixty-two north of range fifty-one west, in Pembina County, North Dakota.

And it appearing by said petition, that there is no sufficient money or personal estate in the hands of said administratrix to pay said debts and that it is necessary, in order to pay the same, to sell said real estate, and that it would be for the best interests of the said estate:

It is therefore ordered, that the said petition be heard and considered by the judge of the county court of the said county of Pembina, at the court rooms of said county, in the city of Cavalier in said county, on the 31st day of December, A. D. 1912, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the said day.

It is further ordered, that all persons interested in said estate, appear before the judge of this court at said time and place, and then and there show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

By the court. H. G. VICK, Judge of the county court (Seal)
Dated the 24th day of October, A. D. 1912

Let the service of the above order be made by personal service on all respondents residents of this state and on all others by publication for four successive weeks in the Pembina Pioneer Express, according to law.
H. G. VICK, Judge. (Court Seal)

Notice to Creditors.
In the matter of the estate of James Wright, deceased.
Notice is hereby given by the undersigned Dorothy Wright, administratrix of the estate of James Wright, late of the city of Pembina, County of Pembina and State of North Dakota, deceased, to the creditors of and all persons having claims against said deceased, to exhibit them with the necessary vouchers, within four months, after the first publication of this notice, to said administratrix, at her residence in the City of Pembina, in Pembina County.

DOROTHY WRIGHT, Administratrix.

By Jests.
Banaras of Persia bore the enviable title of the Jew. The righteousness of his decisions were seldom called in question. This title has been conferred on several monarchs, among them being Casimir II. of Poland, Ferdinand I. and James II. of Aragon, Haroun-al-Raschid of "Arabian Nights" fame, Khosroo of Persia, Louis XIII. of France and Pedro I. of Portugal.

WAIN'S NEW DISCOVERY
Wm Surely Stop That Cough.

A King's Logic.

George IV. of England prided himself on lifting his hat to every one who saluted him in public, but once it was observed that he bowed to every one on the street till he came to a man who swept a crossing, whom he passed without notice. He explained the matter afterward, when points of etiquette were under discussion, by saying, "To salute a beggar without giving him something would be a mockery, and to stop for the purpose of bestowing sixpence would wear the semblance of ostentation in a prince."

Mosquito Eggs.
The eggs of the mosquito are fastened together by a viscid secretion from the insect's body. From 250 to 300 eggs are laid at a time, and the little boat shaped mass is so constructed that it will not overset. It cannot be sunk nor in any way injured by wind, rain or water. It is abandoned by the insect, and the eggs are hatched by the heat of the sun or atmosphere. A temperature below freezing is said not to destroy the vitality of the mosquito's eggs.

Byron and His Title.
Professor Masson in the first published records of the ancient grammar school of Aberdeen recounts this school legend about the poet Byron: "It was said that on his coming to school the first morning after his accession to the peerage was known and on the calling out of his name in the catalogue no longer as 'Georgi Gordon Byron,' but as 'Georgi Baro de Byron,' he did not reply with the usual and expected 'ad-um,' but, feeling the gaze of all his schoolfellows, burst into tears and ran out."

England's First Canal.
The first canal was made in England when Henry I. joined the Trent to the Witham, in 1134.

European Oysters.
Europeans prefer oysters with the soppery flavor to which they are accustomed rather than American oysters.

County of London.
Twenty-four parishes and twenty-eight boroughs are comprised in the county of London.

White Paint.
To remove match marks from white paint rub them with a cut lemon. To prevent a repetition of the marking and cure the offender from attempting it again smear the spot with a thin coat of vaseline.

Pens.
Quill pens came into use in 553; the first steel ones in 1820, when the first gross of them sold for $36.

Leather Goods.
Leather goods, if their appearance is to be preserved, should not be kept in places that are too dry, as the heat will cause the leather to crack, nor in damp places that will make it moldy. To freshen leather chair seats, traveling bags, book covers, etc., that have become shabby or spotted rub them with the well beaten white of an egg.

Bacon.
When buying bacon choose that with a thin rind and with firm fat of a pinkish white.

Net of Big Caliber.
Howell—Rowell is pretty small. Powell—I should say so; he could drown in a finger bowl.—Exchange.

Bright Boy.
"Can you stand on your head?" asked a visitor of little Dudley.
"No," he replied. "It's too high up."
Hungary's Potatoes.

What He Would Do.
They were motoring idly through the Bronx. Twilight had sat down upon the land. The sudden roaring of wild beasts from the distant zoo caused the fair one to start.
"Oh, Jack," she cried, nestling closer and closer, "where would you go if you saw a dozen lions bounding along after us?"
"If I saw a dozen lions bounding along after me," grunted the heartless wretch, "I'd go to a sanitarium."
Judge.

Preventing a Collision.
When warships are steaming in fleet formation through fog it becomes necessary to provide some marking by means of which the vessels may maintain their places in line and at the desired distance from each other. The usual method adopted by British fleets when caught in a fog is the trailing of a buoy in the water behind each vessel. This buoy makes a flapping noise, which is easily heard by the lookout on the ship following as well as leaving a wake discernible to the eye.—Popular Mechanics.

Dolls Stuffed With Fortunes.
The Bank of France destroys old notes by placing them in a vat and subjecting them to the action of certain corrosive acids. In a few moments the banknotes are reduced to pulp. This pulp is sold to toymakers, who use it for stuffing their less expensive dolls, so that the plaything of a child may be stuffed with what was once a fortune.

Queen Bee's Giant.
Queen Elizabeth had a Flemish porter who was over eight feet high and of great strength, and he was an extremely good natured man. Whenever he met any one who was abnormally tall he used to patronize him in a friendly sort of way, and on one occasion when he met at an inn two soldiers who were over six feet in height he said, "Come under my arms, my little fellows." And, taking them up, he walked down the room with them under his arms as if they had been children, much to their disgust.

A LOFTY MIND.
A lofty mind always thinks pobbly. It easily creates vivid, agreeable and natural fancies and places them in their best light, clothes them with all appropriate adornments, studies others' tastes and clears away from its own thoughts all that is useless and disagreeable.—Rochester Herald.

Finances.

Many words of most august sound prove to be of quite commonplace acoustery when traced to their origins. "Finance" is really only "settling up." Literally, it is just "ending" and was formerly used in that very simple sense in the English language. Then it came to signify settling up with a creditor and acquired the special sense of ransom.

A Suitable Book.
Customer (hesitatingly)—I suppose—or you have some—suitable books for a man—about to be married? Bookseller—Certainly, sir. Here, John, show this gentleman some of our account books, largest size.

But They Are Scarce.
Hewitt—There is a big difference between women. Jewett—Right you are. I have known those who could bug a man without breaking his cigar or rumpling his shirt bosom.—New York Press.

He Laid.
"Don't waste your time in clipping off the branches," said the woodman to his son, "but lay your ax at the root of the tree." And the young man went out and laid his ax at the foot of the tree, like a good and dutiful boy, and then he went fishing. Truly there is nothing so beautiful as filial obedience.—Strand Magazine.

Two Famous Horses.
Flying Childers, bred in 1715, by the Duke of Devonshire, was considered by sportsmen to be the fastest horse that was ever bred in the world. He ran four miles in 6 minutes and 48 seconds, or at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour. Eclipse was the fleetest horse that ran in England since the time of Childers. He was never beaten and died in February, 1789, aged twenty-five years. His heart weighed fourteen pounds, which was said to account for his wonderful spirit and courage.—New York American.

Kind Hearted.
Hewitt—Why did you marry? Jewett—Just to give a friend of mine, a clergyman, a job.—New York Press.

Suspicion.
Suspicion is a heavy armor, and with its own weight impedes more than it protects.

So Shy!
"Wasn't the bride delightfully timid?"
"Very. She was even shy ten years when it came to giving her age."

Bigamy.
Effe—Papa, a man who has a wife too much is a bigamist, is he not?
Papa (thoughtfully)—Not always, dear.

Striking Clocks.
According to historians, the first striking clock was imported into Europe by the Persians about 800 A. D. It was brought as a present to Charlemagne from Abdella, king of Persia, by two monks of Jerusalem.

The Home.
The home is the cornerstone and bulwark of the state, and everything which tends to keep alive and renew its influence and associations should be cherished and encouraged.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Followed the Prescription.
Lady of House—What caused you to become a tramp? Ragged Rogers—The family physician, mum. He advised me to take long walks after me meals, an' I've been walking after 'em ever since.—Boston Transcript.

Pathetic Yearning.
"I wish I were an orphan," said little five-year-old Bessie to her mother, who passed much of her time visiting charitable institutions.
"Why, dear?" queried the mother.
"Cause I'd see you oftener," replied Bessie, "for you are all the time going to orphan asylums."—Chicago News.

On and Off.
Mrs. Hightone—You are having trouble with your cooks? Mrs. Flashy—The first one carried on so. Mrs. Hightone—And how about the last? Mrs. Flashy—She carried off so. I lost two dresses and a hat.

Mecca's Lodging House.
The record lodging house is one for pilgrims at Mecca, which accommodates 6,900 persons.

Persuasive.
"Jenkins is a man of remarkable perseverance."
"Is he?"
"Yes, indeed. He has tried six different kinds of hair restorer, and he hasn't given up the fight yet."

Foolish.
By six causes a fool may be known: Anger without cause; speech without profit; change without motive; inquiry without an object; putting trust in a stranger, and wanting capacity to distinguish between friend and foe.

Unfair.
Another unfair thing in life—the bride, with a wealth of hair, wears a veil, but the groom, who has a bald spot and really needs a veil to cover it, is denied the privilege.—Acheson Globe.

The Tides.
The tides are nothing but very long waves, and the manner in which they run around the earth without the water being obliged to move very far may be illustrated by laying a piece of rope on the floor and making waves run along it from end to end. The waves go all the way, but the rope lies in the same place all the time.

SOWING GOOD.
Each one of us is bound to make the little circle in which he lives better and happier. Each of us is bound to see that out of that small circle the widest good may flow. Each of us may have fixed in his mind the thought that out of a single household may flow influences that shall stimulate the whole civilized world.

Old Time Floggings.

An act of the time of Queen Elizabeth ordained that vagrants were to be "stripped from the middle upward and whipped till the body is bloody." Fourpence each was the recognized charge made by the "whipman" for every male and female vagrant who passed through his hands, but on special occasions this sum was exceeded. Says the constable's account of Great Staughton, Huntingdonshire: "May, 1691.—Paid in charges taking up a distracted woman, watching her and whipping her next day, 8s. 6d." After whipping people according to the statute the authorities sometimes gave them a letter recommending constables and others "to be as charitable as the law permits."

The Catlike Fox.
The fox is an excellent mouser. He will lie and watch for a field mouse in the long grass like a cat, pounce upon it, kill it with a bite and lay it on one side until he has caught another and another, when, picking them all up, as many as he can carry in his mouth, he will enter away with them to serve them out to the cubs.

Itching Palm Oil.
"Palm oil," a synonym for "graft," is not at all a novelty in this sense. In 1627 Middleton wrote that "palm oil will make a pursuivant relent." The sixteenth and seventeenth centuries reveled in varieties of the metaphor. Greene speaks of rubbing palms with "the oils of angels," a humorous allusion to the coin named after the angelic figure stamped upon it, and "oil of angels" seems to have been quite a common joke in England. Another writer has a reference to "anoilting" an ecclesiastic in the fist "with Indian oyle." Both "anoilting" and "greasing" were frequently used to mean bribing, even without special mention of the hand as the part greased.

A Good Wife.
"Thank you, doctor, for prescribing a trip to the Spa for me. Now, will you please ask my husband to give up smoking and drinking beer, and then my trip will be easily paid for?"—Mengenendorfer Blatter.

End of the Honeymoon.
As a general thing a bride can always tell when the honeymoon is over by the way her husband begins to take an interest in what is going on downtown in the evening after supper.—Galveston News.

THE BEAUTIFUL.
Beauty is God's handwriting, a wayside sacrament. Welcome it, then, in every fair face, every fair sky, every fair flower, and be sure that yet gayer meadows and yet bluer skies await thee in the world to come.—Charles Kingsley.

He Met Him.
"When you go to New Zealand I wish you would inquire after my great-grandfather, Jeremiah Thompson."
"Certainly," said the traveler. And wherever he went he asked for news of the ancestor, but without avail, according to the Dundee Advertiser. One day he was introduced to a fine old Maori of advanced age. "Did you ever meet with an Englishman named Jeremiah Thompson?" he asked. A smile passed over the Maori's face. "Meet him?" he repeated. "Why, I ate him!"

Not That Strap.
"Why don't you get up and give that bent to your father, Bobby?" reprimanded the woman. "Doesn't it pain you to see him reaching for a strap?"
"Not on a train," chuckled Bobby.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Cautious Damsel.
"Dearest, with you by my side I would willingly give up all I possess—wealth, position, parents—everything."
"I know, George, but in that case what would there be left for me?"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Extravagant.
Nell—Chollie Saphedde was in a brown study today, and I offered him a penny for his thoughts.
Belle—You spendthrift! You never did know the value of money.—Philadelphia Record.

The Flatterer.
Alf (selecting very gaudy tie)—I rather fancy this one—or do you think it kills the face?
Shopman—Not yours, sir. Your face has so much character you'd be perfectly safe.—London Punch.

Pens.
Quill pens came into use in 553; the first steel ones in 1820, when the first gross of them sold for $36.

Substitute For Handcuffs.
The French police do not make use of handcuffs, but a chain with a cross-bar on each end.

Insects.
The list of insects is increased annually by the addition of about 8,000 specimens.

Not Exhausted.
She—Henry, I'm going to give you a piece of my mind. He—I thought I'd had it all.—Exchange.

Caesar's Mother.
Caesar's mother will be a strict and stately lady of the old school, unaffected by the cosmopolitan laxity of her day. Consequently, though the Caesars were wealthy, their household was "simple and severe." Its greatest son "was always passionately devoted to his mother, who shared his hours up to the time of her death," when he was forty-six years old.

Utilization of College Yells.

Farmer (whose son has been at college)—What was that howlin' you was doin' out in th' grove? Son—I was merely showing Miss Brighteyes what a college yell is like. Farmer—Was, I swan! Colleges is some good after all. I'm gwon' into town to sell some truck tomorrow. You kin go along an' do th' callin'.—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE BEAUTIFUL.
Keep your faith in all beautiful things—in the sun when it is hidden, in the spring when it is gone—and then you will find that duty and service and sacrifice, all the old ogres and bugbears of life, have joys imprisoned in their deepest dungeons.

The Battle of Life.
No man lives without jostling and being jostled. In all ways he has to elbow himself through the world, giving and taking offense. His life is a battle in so far as it is an entity at all.—Caryle.

A Good Wife.
"Thank you, doctor, for prescribing a trip to the Spa for me. Now, will you please ask my husband to give up smoking and drinking beer, and then my trip will be easily paid for?"—Mengenendorfer Blatter.
