MUTINY GROWING IN GERMAN ARMY

Officers Are Defied and 20,000 Deserters Are Said to Be in Berlin.

TROUBLE ALSO IN THE NAVY

Four Torpedo Boats Are Seized, and Attempt is Made to Escape, but Two Are Sunk by Pursuing Battleship.

London.—General demoralization of Germany's population and widespread and growing disaffection in the German army, accompanied by mutiny and desertions, are described in a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from its Rotterdam correspondent.

The correspondent says that information reaching him is so sensational as to inspire skepticism, but declares he has received undoubted corroboration from authoritative sources.

He asserts that the German army is filled with despondency and seething with mutinous spirit, and that alarming outbreaks have occurred in several units, principally Bavarian and Silesian.

One incident on the Arras front terminated in a whole Bavarian division being disarmed and transported to Bavaria, where it was placed in a prison camp, and the mutiny of one of the Silesian regiments resulted in nearly 100 of its men being executed.

Desertions Are Heavy.
A huge number of desertions are occurring, the correspondent says, and it is estimated that there are more than 20,000 deserters in Berlin alone.

Large numbers are scattered throughout the country and the authorities are having the greatest difficulty in trailing deserters owing to the concealment of the working classes. Nevertheless hundreds have been sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment. A great number of imprisoned deserters, broken by solitary confinement, have been released and sent back to the ranks.

Disobedience and defiance of officers is common at the front, according to the correspondent's information, and a similar spirit is shown in the munition factories, where the workers deliberately are slowing up, with the result that the output has been seriously decreased.

Heavy Cannonading Heard.
It was reported from various points on the Danish and Norwegian coasts three weeks ago that heavy cannonading was heard from the North sea, says a dispatch from Christiania to the Times. "A few days later the bodies of German marines were washed up, most of them on the coast of Jutland, but no fighting was reported on either the British or German side.

So there was much speculation about these floating corpses, which bore life belts with the figures and initials of two different German torpedo boats.

An explanation is now given by the Aftenposten's correspondent at Copenhagen, who says a report was received yesterday from across the German frontier of a recent mutiny. German navy crews refused to go aboard the U-boats to which they belong, and they were overtaken by a German warship, and a regular fight ensued, with the result that at least two torpedo boats were sunk and the crews drowned or killed.

HELPS MOTHER OF SOLDIERS
Yank Takes Woman's Flowers, Collects $40 for Her and Sends Her Home in Taxi.

New York.—A certain white-tiled rendezvous, famed for its butter-encrusted croissants, was filled to overflowing early the other morning with the motley jumble of night birds, sentry-standards and the curious. The place is all that is left of the pre-war night life of Gotham. A little white-faced woman eddied into the place with just a few bouquets, soiled by an evening of handling, which she shyly tried to sell. On her black blouse was a service pin with three stars. An officer of the National army alone at a corner table washing down a sandwich with a glass of milk saw her.

He did not hesitate. "Come," he said, taking her gently by the arm. "Selling flowers is no occupation for the mother of soldiers. Let me have them." She gave them over with a look of wonderment. He went among the crowds and collected $40 for her for the flowers, then he put her in a taxicab, paying the fare himself, and she rolled away, leaving the officer at the curb with his head bent.

WOMEN WORK ON HIGHWAYS
Take Place of Men Called to War Service in Oregon Highway Department.

Salem, Ore.—Women are replacing men called to war service in the state highway department of Oregon. They are driving water carts used in wetting down macadam roads before they are rolled, and are employed as checkers and weighers at the various gravel pits and rock bunkers. State Highway Engineer Nunn has issued orders that wherever practical they are to replace men, who will be discharged with orders to get into more essential forms of labor.

Strike Big Gas Flow.
Warren, Pa.—A gas well making 15,000,000 cubic feet a day was drilled in by the Pennsylvania Gas company at Bear Creek in Elk county. It is the biggest well drilled in northwestern Pennsylvania in the last three years. Its roar could be heard for two miles.

SOLDIERING BECOMES HABIT
Man Serves in Army for Thirty Years and Intends to Remain.

Camp Kearney, Cal.—Soldiering has become such a habit with Frank S. Trump, quartermaster sergeant, senior grade, at the remount station here that he intends to re-enlist as a mere matter of form when his thirtieth year of army service expires August 25.

"Retire? Not for even a minute—certainly not while there's a chance of getting into a real fight after waiting 30 years," he said when asked if he didn't feel like "doing a hitch" in civilian life. "No, I'm surely going to stay in until the war is over."

ARE JAILED FOR KINDNESS
Doughbors' Objection to Working Animals Gets Them Six Months' Sentence.

Grand Forks, B. C.—Because they do not believe in working animals, nine Doughbors are spending six months in jail here. The Doughbors were convicted of having entered a barn, turned loose the horses, stolen the harness and then set fire to the building.

At the trial the men refused to give their names, saying they are "sons of God." One of them recently burned his title deeds to his property, suggesting it was his intention to "give it to Jesus."

Recently the Doughbors held a big parade, sans clothing. The party was sent to jail and their fellows surrounded the building, chanting weird songs.

OFFICER OF DAY ARRESTED
Out After Hours According to Guard Doing Night Duty at Vancouver.

Vancouver Barracks, Wash.—That old favorite of military jokesmiths, "the officer of the night," is again busy at this cantonment. Recruits, accustomed to hearing of the "officer of the day" and not knowing that the "officer of the day" works regardless of sun light or darkness, continue, when on guard after sunset, to call for the other and equally noted character.

The officer of the day, making his rounds the other night, was challenged by a sentry. "Halt, who goes there?" "Officer of the day."
"Advance and be put under arrest," replied the sentry. "You are out after hours; the officer of the night is in charge now."

American Boat Sunk; 64 Missing.
Corunna, Spain, Sept. 23.—Three officers and 27 men of the crew of the American steamer Buena Ventura have arrived here. The vessel was torpedoed last Monday. Three boats with 64 of the crew are missing. The Buena Ventura was proceeding from Bordeaux, where she had unloaded a cargo of petroleum from Philadelphia.

WOMEN AS FORESTERS

English women foresters are taking the place of the men at the front. Here are two of the land workers engaged in putting a sharp edge on their ax for tomorrow's toil. These women are showing themselves to be worthy successors of Britain's lumbermen. The felled trees in the back are a proof of that.

D'ANNUNZIO GETS EVEN

Poet-Airman of Italy Raids Pola in Reprisal.

Austrians Having Attacked His Quarters, He Drops Bombs on Their Naval Arsenal.

By WARD PRICE.

Italian Headquarters at the Front.—Major Gabriele d'Annunzio, Italy's poet-airman, who led the raid on Viennese, has carried out an adventurous personal reprisal for an Austrian night air raid during which one of the enemy machines dropped a bomb literally within yards of his sleeping quarters. The bomb did not explode, but its impact knocked over and broke a glass from which d'Annunzio had drunk an hour before. The soldier-poet gaily started off in the afternoon with his pilot in a new type of a fast, weight-carrying land machine, flew about one hundred miles straight across the Adriatic sea to Pola, the Austrian naval base, dropped 14 bombs on the arsenal and returned safely to his aerodrome.

"I was waiting there when he arrived amid a round of cheers from his squadron.

"There was a heavy barrage fire," he told us, "and once I thought our trail had been struck. But not a single one of the Austrian chaser machines got up after us. The Austrians were very keen to get me, but they missed a good chance this afternoon."

D'Annunzio will wear henceforth in his flights an ivory-tipped dagger, signifying four torpedoes set a course for Norway, and I have a mark of the Italian storm troops, and all of the eight airmen who took part in the raid on Vienna have been named by their comrades "The Storm Troops of the Air."

OFFERS RECIPE FOR RAIN
Oklahoma Official Turns Down Good Chance to Become Public Benefactor.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Chester Westfall, assistant secretary of the Oklahoma state council of defense, passed up a perfectly good chance to become a public benefactor by securing a good soaking rain for the state. All on account of a small fee of $2,000 for the rainmaker.

An Oklahoma City woman walked into the office of the council of defense and announced to Mr. Westfall that she possessed the secret of making rain. She demanded a fee of $2,000 for the job. Mr. Westfall endeavored to get her to part with the secret, but she refused.

"The Bible says that he who won't provide for his own household is worse than an infidel, and I have a family to look after," was her parting shot as she left the office crestfallen at her failure.

INTERNED HUN SAILOR NOW FIGHTS FOR U. S.
Mansfield, O.—Although he was a member of a German ship tied up at an American dock when the war broke out and was interned with the rest of his fellows, Max Fromm is now not only a patriotic soldier of the United States but has already taken part in several battles against the country of his nativity.

AGAINST WIDOWS MARRYING

German Doctor Urges a New Law to Give Single Women a Chance.

Amsterdam, Holland.—Enactment of a law in Germany to prevent widows from remarrying so as to leave the few available men for single women is urged in a letter to the Tag by a Munich doctor, Hans von Hertig. He points out that the widows, through remarrying after the war, would have a detrimental effect on the birth rate, as most of them are mothers already.

"On December 1, 1919," he writes, "there were in Germany about 300,000 widows between the ages of eighteen and forty-five. At a very modest estimate there are now 800,000."

BACK WITH HER BOYS

Joyful Welcome Given Mrs. Haring at the Front.

"Godmother of the Polish Army" Greeted With Cheers by Officers and Men.

Paris.—A woman alighted from the train at what remains of a little railroad station very close to the front. Her hair was a trifle gray but her cheeks were pink, and she seemed to be very happy to be arriving in that place.

Very soon the reason became apparent. A military policeman was on duty in the station. He stared and gave a shout, "Mrs. Haring."

"I got here at last," she said as she shook hands—a handshake such as is exchanged between friends long separated.

"You're going to be with us?" "As long as they let me."

Mrs. Haring went out and up the street, searching for the daily shifting headquarters of the Y. M. C. A.—for the war was moving with great rapidity since the new offensive began.

An automobile containing a captain and three lieutenants stopped with a screaming of the brakes. Young men boiled out of the car to surround Mrs. Haring as if she were the belle of the season.

Another car stopped. More officers. Around the edge privates lined up waiting their chance. From that moment hers was a triumphal progress up the street. It seemed as if the whole American army wanted to follow her.

It was a happy party, a laughing, handshaking, congratulating party that surrounded the little Y. M. C. A. woman. She was back, back with the troops she had served and left for a time. They were doing their best to show her how glad they were to see her and were succeeding wonderfully.

The record of Mrs. Augusta Haring of New York city is enviable. She is a musician. It was she who, with Miss Myrtle Stinson of Greenfield, O., organized the Y. M. C. A. work in the new Polish army, most of which was recruited in the United States. For four months she worked among these men—this army which will be without a country until the war is over and victory comes to the allies.

Her proudest moment was when the commander of the Poles, in a public manner, bestowed on her the title of Godmother of the Polish Army.

The consumption of candy has been cut 50 per cent.

Picture shows and theaters have shrunk in number to a marked degree.

"Why should we buy luxuries and muck when our defenders need bread and the Red Cross is begging for mercy funds?" the Canadian reasons.

Travel is falling off. The summer tourist is becoming rare. One of the largest resorts in the Canadian Rockies has an average of only 30 guests, with more than twice as many servants and 500 rooms.

A street sweeper would be put in the zoo. He's nearly an extinct animal. You'll find him unloading ships and working in mines. And a water wagon—it's in the has-been class.

Canadians are chiefly concerned with getting enough to eat and wear.

War's influence is everywhere. Three of the buffalo kept by the government at Banff Springs broke off diplomatic relations and destroyed each other in a vicious battle of horns.

ADVISE EATING OF SPUDS
Washington Centenarian Declares Irish Potatoes Secret of Long Life.

Seattle, Wash.—Eat lots of Irish potatoes; that's the secret of long life, according to Mrs. Penelope Thomas of this city, who has just celebrated her one hundredth birthday anniversary. She continues to eat potatoes three times a day.

Mrs. Thomas was born in Nova Scotia in 1818 of Quaker parentage from Connecticut, and her family returned to Boston when she was young. She came to Seattle ten years ago.

Marion, O., Sept. 25.—A touring car with six passengers plunged a distance of 20 feet off a bridge abutment into the Little Scioto river here. All escaped serious injury. The party included V. J. Wagner of Kirby and Misses Mary Vermillion, Genevieve Durkin and Georgia Foss, all of Kenton.

Farmer Loses Life.
Findlay, O., Sept. 25.—Fred Crates, 35, was instantly killed on his farm, near Arlington, when his horses ran away. He was drilling in wheat, driving a spirited pair of horses. The drill stopped and, when he attempted to fix it, the horses ran off.
