

What Is Billed For Early Dates On Local Stage.

There is a certain amount of satisfaction in seeing the other fellow receive the same sort of treatment which you did. Under blood boiling conditions, and were unable to resent for business reasons. There is a scene in "The Lion and the Mouse" which aptly illustrates this. John Burckett Ryder, the money king, is awaiting the advent of "Sarah Green," in his private library. The great and the near great have appointments with the financier. The private secretary enters the presence to announce the governor. Ryder looks up growling, "Can't see him." "But Mr. Ryder—" "Tell the fool to go home; I'll send for him when I want him," snaps the money king. The desk phone rings. Ryder grabs the receiver savagely.

and the melodious reminiscent note of the church organ and village choir. Mrs. Mann is a make-up artist too, a veritable raggedy girl from the county poor farm and her childish lip adds the proper touch of harmony to a very clever portrayal of a character and situation not without a touch of pathos in the telling.

Marie Alma is acceptable in her comedy and charming in her rendition of songs. The comedy act of Cooper and Reed is graced by the crotchet and saxophone notes, both worth a good hand.

The motion pictures give a splendid insight into the life of Abraham Lincoln and are not the least attractive of the acts by any manner of means. The illustrated song hits is especially interesting to the younger set.

Shirley Rossmore (Edith Barker) Who Wins the Game of Love and Honor Against Dollars in "The Lion and the Mouse" at the Grand Tonight.

There comes a monologue like this: "Had an appointment with you? It's broken. Came a thousand miles to keep. Mr. Ryder is out." We have all cooled our heels in the ante room of the mighty. That's why the scene is enjoyable and contemptible.

"Mandy Hawkins," the feature act at the Family theater is quite the best bit of rustic realism imaginable from the principals (Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann) to the scenery, at special and placed with a view to transport the audience into the sure enough environment of the simple life. In the hectic flanking the scene, lightning bolts disport themselves in points of flame, and through the windows of the village church streams the light of the Wednesday evening prayer meetings.

Mrs. Barnhart Offers City Quarters at Reduced Prices

FAVOR CHEAPER RENTAL

City Dads Anxious to Cut Down Expenses

Said That Third Floor of Former European Hotel is Very Desirable

The inducements offered to the city council by Mrs. Martha Barnhart, the new owner of the European hotel block, will in all probability result in a change in the location of the city offices.

Mrs. Barnhart has offered to lease the third story to the city for the sum of $50 a month which is about $10 less than the rents demanded by the lessee of the Huber building. In the course of a five year lease the difference in rent would amount to a considerable sum of money. At any rate the inducement looks good to the city dads and it is a pretty well assessed thing that the change will be made, it is said.

The rooms of the Barnhart block are more spacious and will afford cozy quarters for the city offices. It is quite probable that the state building inspector will compel the mayor and police department to move out of the old sickly city hall building and in this case there would be sufficient room in the Barnhart block to accommodate them.

FEAR BURNS MAY RESULT FATALLY

Man Burned in Boiler in Serious Condition.

In Making Way Out He Sustained Bruises in a Fall—At Sanatorium.

Thomas O'Connell, who was quite seriously burned in one of the boilers at the Erie gas plant Wednesday, lies in a very critical condition at the Sawyer Sanatorium, where he was removed from his home Thursday. Early this morning it was thought that the patient was dying and the attending physicians think that his condition is extremely precarious. O'Connell is in a comatose state and is unable to state the particulars of the accident in which he was burned.

The victim of the accident was busy in cleaning out the flues at the plant and while in the upper part of the boiler his clothing caught fire from his candle causing him to be quite badly burned. It develops that he fell a distance of about fourteen feet to the bottom of the boiler and suffered some difficulty in making his way out. His head was bruised in his attempts to get out of the boiler. The attending physicians state that the burns were not so serious as the other injuries which he received.

O'Connell figured in an accident at the Erie ice plant some six years ago when the platform fell at that place. His injuries received at that time caused him to be weak and he has not yet wholly recovered.

TONE UP THE STOMACH

Get Rid of the Gas, Headaches and Dizziness.

The symptoms of stomach trouble vary. Some victims have a ravenous appetite, some loathe the sight of food. Often there is a feeling as of weight on the chest, a full feeling in the throat. Sometimes the gas presses on the heart and leads the sufferer to think he has heart disease. Sick headache is a frequent and distressing symptom.

A very delicate stomach requires easily digested food but nature never intended that the food should be digested before it is eaten. The stomach must be strengthened to perform its own work and what it needs is not food already digested but a tonic. The processes of digestion are controlled by the blood and nerves, and medical science has produced no better digestive tonic than

Recipe for Men

This recipe can be filed at home, so that no one need know of another's condition, except the doctor, and the doctor is not to be trusted with the secret of his patient's condition. It is a secret, and it is a secret that is not to be revealed.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, sleepless, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, nervous, rest without sleep, trouble in breathing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be provided secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary strong ammonia compound and one ounce compound fluid balsam; mix, and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardui, and one ounce tincture caduener; mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one before retiring.
