GARFORD NAMED FOR GOVERNOR

Bull Moosers Make Selection By Acclamation

Nominating Committee Names The Issue In Its Speech Of Acceptance, Declaring The Republican Party Is Passing Into Oblivion And That The Democratic Party's End Is In Sight—Pronounces Roosevelt The Greatest Citizen Of His Generation

Memorial Hall, Columbia, Sept. 3—Arthur J. Garfield, manufacturer, of Aurora, Ill. was endorsed as the standard-bearer of the new Progressive party of Ohio. The nomination was given to the veteran by a separate convention of delegates who met in Columbus to found the new organization. The long-expected formation followed the second thousand delegates to enter the hall who were making the big balloting with cheerfulness and enthusiasm.

The Nominating Committee, which was composed of some of the most influential members of the party, adopted its resolution of acceptance with a view to the nomination of Governor Roosevelt. In the nomination of the party's candidate for governor, it was stated that the choice of the Democratic party would be made in the interest of the people.

The resolution of acceptance was read by the chairman of the committee, Dr. A. W. Beecher, a member of the General Assembly, and was adopted unanimously. The convention then adjourned, leaving the nomination of the candidate for governor to be made at a later date.

GOOD ROADS CLAUSE IS MUCH IN DOUBT

Result Will Depend on Official Guest Next Week

Constitutional Convention, Sept. 5—With en- dorsements of the convention from the speakers and from the state and national parties, the constitutional convention reached a deadlock in the adoption of the good roads clause.

The clause, which is one of the most important features of the convention, provides for the construction of a system of highways throughout the state, and for the establishment of a highway department, to be funded for the purpose of the construction of roads and bridges.

The convention is expected to vote on the clause next week, and it is anticipated that the result will depend on the outcome of the convention.

BUD MARS INJURED

Glen, N. Y., Sept. 5—Bud Mars, an industrial worker, was badly injured while working on a farm near the town of Glen. He was rushed to the hospital, where he is reported to be improving.

Mars, who is a laborer, was injured while working on a farm in the town of Glen. He was taken to the hospital, where he is reported to be in a critical condition.

2 CHARGED WITH MURDER

Dearborn, Mich., Sept. 5—A man and woman were arrested today and charged with the murder of a local grocer.

The man and woman were charged with the murder of a local grocer. They were arrested today and will be tried for the murder.

LIFE CAN BE PRODUCED

BY ARTIFICIAL MEANS

Dover, Sept. 5—Life can be produced artificially. This statement was made by Dr. A. W. Beecher, the president of the Convention for the Advancement of Science, at a meeting of the Convention for the Advancement of Science.

The Convention is composed of scientists from all parts of the world, and its purpose is to promote the advancement of science. The Convention is composed of scientists from all parts of the world, and its purpose is to promote the advancement of science.