BROKE

Jaw When He Collided With A Clothes Line

Wooster, Ohio, February 11—Arthur Lower, 27 years old, a schoolteacher, has a jawbone broken in two places because he had his mouth open at a time when it should have been closed.

Lower, while visiting at the home of a neighbor, started to run around the house and collided with a wire clothesline. The wire struck him in the mouth, lodging between two teeth with force enough to break the jawbone in two places.

Removing the wire from his mouth was a very painful task, but Lower is expected to recover.

STRICKEN

Down At A Funeral And Dies
Suddenly

Philadelphia, Penn., February 11—While attending the funeral of Mother Gertrude, late superior of the Catholic convent at Oaklane, this morning, Mother Mary Eulalia, head of the Sisters of the Holy Child Convent at Sharon Hill, was stricken with a fainting spell and was removed to the Jewish hospital, where she died this afternoon.

Her illness caused no commotion, as it was supposed that she had merely fainted. None of those who remained until the close of the service suspected that Mother Eulalia had been fatally stricken.

Mother Eulalia, who was about 55 years old, was a sister of James M. Wilcox, President of the Philadelphia Saving Fund; of Mrs. D. Webster Dougherty and Mrs. Robert Y. Lesley of Haverford. Mrs. Lesley was attending the funeral, also having been an old schoolmate of Mother Gertrude.

PETTICOAT

Soldiers Start For The Front
At New YorkWill Go To Washington For Inauguration Day

New York, Feb. 11—Feverish activity prevailed today at the headquarters of the New York Woman's Suffrage Association. Hundreds of visitors had to be received and the telephone wires were kept hot answering questions of those who desired information concerning the details of tomorrow's great event, the start of the petticoat brigade under the command of "General" Rosalie Gardiner Jones, for the front, meaning Washington, D. C., where the national struggle for suffrage will be inaugurated with a monster demonstration on the day before inauguration day.

For many weeks the "hike" of the New York and New England contingent of the suffrage army from this city to Washington, D. C., formed the all-absorbing subject of conversation in suffrage circles. It was believed that in view of the success of the pilgrimage to Albany a short time ago, a large number of suffrage enthusiasts would feel encouraged to take part in the march to the national capital, but the enthusiasm of the suffragettes had evidently been overestimated. Although the start of the New York contingent tomorrow is expected to draw a large crowd of sympathetic or merely curious spectators to the Hudson Terminal Station, on Fulton Street, from whence the hikers will start upon their march at nine o'clock tomorrow morning, it is not probable that the actual marching party will number more than a score of members. The marchers will probably be escorted to Jersey City by a large crowd of sympathizers, but the latter are not likely to venture beyond that point and are expected to return to New York, allowing the "hikers" to continue their way southward unattended after that. Reports received at the headquarters indicate, however, that the marchers will be met and received by friends of their cause at different points along their route and at several intermediate points small parties of other marchers will join so that the petticoat army may be of quite imposing proportion by the time it reaches Washington.

General Rosalie Gardiner Jones, who also commanded the "army" which invaded Albany a short time ago, had gathered valuable experience during that march, which enabled her to arrange all details of the present trip with the judgment of an experienced campaigner. Her general orders in reference to the "hike" were brief, business-like and to the point. She made it clear to those wishing to take part in the trip that ball dresses, evening clothes, etc., would be decidedly de trop and that no marcher would be permitted to take along more baggage than could be easily stowed away in an ordinary suitcase. For the sake of uniformity it was ordered that every one of the soldiers would have to wear a pilgrim cloak and hood and carry a knapsack and staff. The knapsack will be large enough to hold one or two pair of extra woolen stockings, adhesive plaster, vaseline, absorbent cotton and a few other things which may be desirable and useful in cases of emergency. Each marcher will be permitted one medium size bag or suitcase, which will be carried on a baggage wagon forming the packtrain of the "army."

The "hikers" expect to reach Elizabeth, N. J., by tomorrow evening; New Brunswick, N. J., on the evening of Feb. 13; Trenton on the 14th; Burlington, N. J., on the 15th; Philadelphia, Pa., on the 16th; Philadelphia on the evening of Feb. 17; Chester, Pa., on the 18th and Wilmington, Del., on the evening of Feb. 19. The marchers will rest the following day at Wilmington and will start again on the morning of the 21st, making their next stop at Newark, Del., the same evening. They are to reach North East, Md., on the 22nd; Havre de Grace, Md., on the 23d; Abingdon, Md., on the 24th; Case, Md., on the 25th, and Baltimore on the 26th. There they will rest until the morning of February 28, when they expect to continue their journey, reaching Laurel, Md., that same evening and Washington on the evening of March 1st.

It is expected that there will be great doings in Washington on March 3, the day before the inauguration. According to reports there will be several thousand suffrage enthusiasts from all parts of the country gathered in the national capital, and it is expected that the marchers will be met and received by friends of their cause at different points along their route and at several intermediate points small parties of other marchers will join so that the petticoat army may be of quite imposing proportion by the time it reaches Washington.

principal event of a spectacular nature will be the big parade on March 3, in which ten thousand suffragettes and suffragists are expected to take part. One of the special features will be a large body of petticoat cavalry under the leadership of Miss Inez Milholland. Miss Gladys Hinckley will impersonate Joan of Arc and will be mounted, in full armor, upon a snow-white charger.

Rheumatic Blood is Whole Story

Wonderful Specific for Sciatica, Lumbago, and a Cure for Dreaded Arterial Rheumatism.

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being with other acids. But these merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is but one standard rheumatic remedy, and it reflects the best thought of the day. It is prepared in the great Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., and sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S. at $1.00 a bottle.

Starvation has been advocated by many as a cure for rheumatism, and yet S. S. S. accomplishes in fact what faddists proclaim in theory and without the punishment of starvation. Hot springs and sweating are often recommended, but S. S. S. does all that is expected of these expensive and weakening methods. It is caused by the closest students of the subject that rheumatism is caused in most cases by an acid condition of the blood and aggravated by the remedies commonly used for relief. In other cases rheumatism is the result of nerve depression; in still others it is the effect of some scrofulous blood condition, having been treated with mercury, iodides, arsenic and other poisonous mineral drugs. The recovery of all these types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a wonderful tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as speedily, and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable and most easily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. today. You will be astonished at the results. If you are uncertain in such a nature that you wish to consult a great specialist, send a check to The Swift Specific Co., 121 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
