TWO HUNDRED PUPILS SUSPENDED FROM THE EL PASO HIGH SCHOOL

Demonstration Following Expulsion of Carl Schwartz Causes Many Dismissals; Principal Requires Students to Sign Agreement to Support School Authorities and All Refusing Are Suspended.

BETWEEN 200 and 300 high school boys and girls were suspended from school Monday by principal R. W. Fowler, according to statements made by sophomores, juniors and seniors who claim they are among those suspended. According to statements made by the students, they are suspended until Wednesday or until they sign a pledge promising to obey all of Fowler's rules.

The alleged wholesale suspension came after Carl Schwartz, a senior, was dismissed from school. Schwartz, a cripple, was suspended for making a noise with his withered leg. The principal told him to stop. Schwartz says he told the principal he would do as he pleased, and then came the suspension.

According to the students, things happened fast after this. One by one 200 were called into the principal's office, the students say, and were asked to sign a pledge. The freshmen, most of them signed, said one of the seniors, who was not named. "Most of the sophomores, juniors and seniors refused to sign it," they said, and were dismissed from school.

These students, together with others, declare that the principal expelled Harry McInnis. They say that McInnis was asked a question by the principal, which he answered, and for which he was expelled. They say that every student in school knew that the boy was expelled, and that the old man who expelled him, Schwartz, first suspended.

These same students say that it was difficult for teachers to maintain order after the demonstration. They say that clearing the halls was almost impossible, and that cries of "Down with the principal," "Bolshavism" and other rebellious utterances were heard through the building.

your own institution. The newspapers are publishing live subjects out of which "human interest" advertisements can be written. The experience of others are great guide posts, showing what is right or what is wrong. The fact that you are the oldest or the largest institution in your city, county or state is no longer an argument why any person should patronize your bank.

"I got an inspiration from that story to run an advertisement in behalf of our trust department. The headline was 'Make Us a Will' and went on and on. The circumstances about the will that was made happened in the morning. A few days afterward an old gentleman came into the trust department and declared today in my hand. He said, 'This strikes me very forcibly. I am guilty. The reputation of the trust department of our institution was named as executor of the estate, which involved about $100,000.'

Normal industrial conditions can exist only when definite peace terms have been agreed to by the leading nations of the world. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared today at the convention Mr. Gompers' address was read to the convention, as he could not be present.

Urging prompt ratification of the treaty as an absolute necessity, Mr. Gompers said: "It is not perfect, but it is our only constructive suggestion for settling with some of the things which are in the way of peace."

Mr. Gompers' address was read in connection with a triangular discussion of the peace treaty and the things which are in the way of peace. Mr. Gompers' address was read in connection with a triangular discussion of the peace treaty and the things which are in the way of peace.

Cooperation for production depends fundamentally, Mr. Gompers' paper said, "upon good will." "Good will must be earned. The only way in which workers may expect to defend their rights and interests is through organizations and responsible representation."

Two fallacies have been so frequently repeated as to be accepted by casual readers and hearers. It is said that the cost of living is increasing because of the increase in prices. It is also said that the cost of living is increasing because of the increase in prices.

Later the convention adopted a resolution urging speedy ratification of the peace treaty and the signing of nations covenant, "without amendment or reservation."
