

ENTHUSIASM IN VOTING CONTEST

YOUNG WOMEN IN ALL PARTS OF THE VALLEY ARE WORKING HARD FOR PRIZES.

Opening Day of This Week Was a Good One and Results Are Shown to Indicate Increase.

With renewed energy the workers in The Statesman's voting contest opened up their work this week and the prospects are for the best and biggest week's work they have yet done. All are enthused over the prospect of the trips to Seattle and more especially the four up the Alaska coast which are to be given entirely free to the winners in the four districts.

From Prescott to Pendleton and from Dayton to Kennewick, many young ladies are working hard and are getting results to show for their efforts. The vote getting is made easier by the fact that The Statesman is recognizedly the best evening paper in its field and stands head and shoulders above its rivals.

The count of votes, made this morning, stands as follows:

Real Estate Sales

Some of the sales made during the past thirty days by the leaders in Real Estate—Davies and Skinner:

Completed sale of 18 lots in Norman's Add.	$ 7,000
John Thonney's wheat farm; 528 acres	18,500
R Stiller's 66-acre tract	7,500
A. B. Good's residence in Green's Annex	3,000
Henry Mang's wheat farm, 480 acres	18,000
M. R. Hanger's residence on Merriam St.	10,000
Mrs. May Evans Reed's wheat farm; 200 A.	19,000
Mrs. Jane McInroe's wheat farm 237 acres	23,700
Mrs. Harn's fruit farm	1,000

Aggregating $107,700

The sales for this month are not up to the average as there is always a depression in the Real Estate business during March, but the figures here given are convincing proof of some activity, even in a dull month.

This Real Estate office was the first established in Walla Walla, and its known reliability and wide acquaintance with people, properties and values make it a desirable place to deal for those in quest of quick results. Its property lists cover the best values both in the city and country.

GREAT OPENING FOR NURSERIES

DEMAND FOR TREES AND PLANTS OF ALL KINDS GREATLY EXCEEDS SUPPLY.

Hawaiians Would Welcome Large Nursery Where They Could Purchase All Kinds of Shrubs.

HONOLULU, March 30.—(Special) —Constant application is made from all parts of the Islands for seed, suckers and plants of various economic crops and ornamentals. Neither the territorial board of agriculture, nor the federal experiment station is in a position to supply these demands; in fact, such work should not be a chief function of official institutions. The operation of a nursery is a commercial proposition. The supplying of a small quantity of material for starting various kinds of crops is done temporarily by the experiment station, but will be abandoned entirely as soon as the matter is taken up by some commercial nurseryman. The plans and seeds most in demand are alligator pear, papaya, citrus fruits, figs, bananas, Roselle, cotton, soy beans and other legumes, corn and an extended list of ornamental plants. In importing such things from the mainland, or elsewhere, there is always the danger of introducing some injurious insect or fungus disease; and the rigid quarantine which is necessarily and rightly carried out in the inspection of such importation, sometimes injures the material which is imported. In addition to this, there is a likelihood of the deterioration of the material in transit, by long delays or by improper handling; and finally, the seed and plants introduced from other countries require acclimatization here, and may, therefore, prove somewhat disappointing to the importer. For these reasons, it seems strange that some nurseryman has not engaged in the business of producing acclimatized strains of economic and ornamental plants, such as are desired by the citizens of the territory; and no hesitation is felt in recommending the establishment of a commercial nursery near Honolulu as a promising business for the man who understands this sort of work.

There is not only the mere matter of supplying the demand for economic and ornamental plants, but there is also a good opening for the practical plant breeder in charge of such a business undertaking, in establishing and improving the varieties of some of the plants which we already have, particularly, the alligator pear, papayas and some of the more hardy ornamental plants which, if properly worked up would undoubtedly find a place in some of the markets of California and the southwest.

"The tricks of the first of April may, however, be the remains of some Roman custom derived from the east, and spread over Europe, like so many other customs, by these conquerors. It is certain that the Hindus practice precisely similar artifices at the time of the Huli feast on March 31.

Wheat Farm Sold for $14,400.

EPHRAATA, March 30.—A land sale was completed today by which S. M. Wilson of Morrison, Wash., sold through G. L. Gordon, of the Empire Investment company, of Spokane, 480 acres of land to J. W. Billups, of Grangeville, Idaho, for the sum of $14,400. The land, which is situated eight miles southwest of Ephrata, is described as the southeast quarter of section 30, township 2, range 26, and the west half of section 29, township 2, range 26. A hundred acres of the land is under cultivation and has fall-sown wheat four inches high already. The land in question was formerly a part of the old Lindsay place, and was bought last fall by its present seller for $10,500.

The new owner has arranged to keep a man on the place, and his plans include substantial improvements and irrigation work.

PAVING PETITIONS UP BEFORE COUNCIL

Property Owners Would Have Birch Street From Second to Park Improved With Macadam.

Two petitions, asking for street improvements, were filed with City Clerk T. D. S. Hart this afternoon, and will be acted on by the city council at its meetings tonight. One of the communications, signed by five property owners, prays that Craig street from the east line of Park to the west line of Howard street, be improved with macadam. The signatures are C. S. Haynes, E. J. Klemme, C. S. Buffum, Harry Lasater and E. W. Oliver.

The second petition, signed by 17 property owners in the proposed district, asks the improvement of Birch street from Second to Park, and is as follows:

"We, the underground residents of Walla Walla and owners of property abutting on Birch street between Second and Park, hereby petition your honorable body to macadamize said Birch street between the streets hereinafore mentioned, upon the local improvement district plan. We believe in the narrow roadway for residence streets, similar to that on Palouse street, and desire a concrete curb, but are of the opinion that the expense of a storm sewer may be omitted with safety. We further wish to call the attention of your honorable body to the offsets in Birch street, which we think should be removed by narrowing the street sufficiently on the north side to reduce it to a width which it now has from Catherine to Park streets."

The communication is signed by the following: Amelia E. Ward estate, Augusta W. Rees, T. M. Hanger, H. R. Keylor, George Drumheller, L. Morris, Mrs. C. N. Suttner, F. C. Robinson, G. W. Whitehouse, Whitehouse & Drumheller, H. G. Thompson, Mrs. Alicia Durry, D. G. Ferguson, Mrs. William Sine, J. C. Scott, Cynthia A. Johnson and D. V. Wood.

NEVADA WANTS CHEAPER RATES

STATE COMMISSION SAYS PRESENT SCHEDULES ARE DISCRIMINATORY.

California Shippers Are on Hand to Protest, Saying the Rates Are Good Enough.

RENO, March 30.—The complaint of the Nevada railroad commission against the Southern Pacific, Nevada, California and Oregon railroads that their rates for Nevada plants are unjust and discriminatory, was aired today before the interstate commerce commission, represented by Examiner Lyon. Representatives of San Francisco and Los Angeles shippers were present to resist the petition of the Nevada shippers. California shippers say they encounter water competition and should be allowed to keep the rates they now enjoy.

Sell Opium.

SEATTLE, March 30.—Fifty pounds of opium, gathered by local custom officers, will be sold at auction by the government this afternoon. At the same time 75 pounds will be sold in Tacoma. The bidding will be spirited because of the law prohibiting the importation of opium is effective next Thursday.

Writ Denied.

SPOKANE, March. The state supreme court denied the writ asked for by Prosecutor Pugh, permitting him making a short-hand report of the testimony before the grand jury in the investigation of the Gordon scandal. Gordon wins in the controversy.

Another Strike.

WINNIPEG, March 30.—Alarming reports are current that another big strike of the machinists of the Canadian Pacific railroad is imminent. The company refuses to negotiate jointly with the men on the eastern and the western system. A deadlock has been reached in the negotiations. The present scale expires within a few days.

THIRD LUNCHEON BIG SUCCESS

LARGE NUMBER OF LEADING BUSINESS MEN OF CITY IN ATTENDANCE.

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry, Dr. J. W. Summers and Gilbert Hunt Among the Speakers Today.

With an attendance of more than 50 of the leading business men of the city, the third weekly luncheon of the Commercial club was given in the dining room of the Dacres hotel today, the grill room having been found too small to easily accommodate the large number of club members who are attending these functions. A short program of addresses was given, the first speaker being Rev. Lyman B. Sperry, the lecturer who is conducting a series of meetings in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium this week. Rev. Sperry dwelt at length upon the necessity for upbuilding the moral plane of the community, and in removed vice and evil temptations from the young manhood and young womanhood of the city.

Dr. J. W. Summers, who has been in Walla Walla but a comparatively short time, spoke on the subject, "Impressions of a Newcomer," and among other things that did not create a favorable impression upon him at the time of his arrival, he enumerated the following: West Main street, below the pavement; saloons; no tall buildings; inadequate eating houses; board walks; tumbled fences; church buildings.

"In the descriptive matter I secured of the Walla Walla valley," said Mr. Summers, "I was given the impression that the valley was a little depression about four miles in width, and I was not certain that I would desire to live here. I think our future literature should speak of the Walla Walla valley as being an undulating tract about the size of the state of New Jersey. I was favorably impressed upon arrival, to see practically the whole train unload here; but another load im-will further impress me. "Another thing that impressed me, though not favorably, was the fact that all business blocks are low, not more than four stories in height. I believe the time has come for a five-story building, and if I were to erect a block here I would wait until I had money enough to add an additional story. The restaurant facilities and the hotels, with a few exceptions, are more properly fitted for a town of 2,000 people, and the board sidewalks on practically every street are destined for a town of the same size. The church buildings, with a few exceptions, are not what they should be, and the panels of tumbled fences are anything but picturesque."

Dr. Summers disclaimed any intention of "knocking," saying he had been asked to give his impressions secured on arrival, even though they do not impress him now, after 15 months of residence here, as they did on his arrival. He struck a key-note when he said, "The time for that big hotel is ripe and we should go after it."

Gilbert Hunt Talks.

Ex-Mayor Gilbert Hunt, who recently returned from an extended visit in the Hawaiian islands, gave a brief story of his jaunt, saying in part:

"I came here with the expectation of being entertained and not as one of the entertainers. I have enjoyed the luncheon to a great extent, and will give a few of the impressions of my recent visit in Honolulu. I have often wondered why people in Walla Walla would leave this city to spend their vacations in California. I do not believe there will be as great an exodus next year as there has been the past season, for when we arrived in Los Angeles it was raining harder than I ever saw it rain in Walla Walla or anywhere else. The atmosphere was decidedly cold and uncomfortable. We have a finer climate and a better country, and along the route I saw no scenery that would compare to that in this section; their farms looked poor and unproductive; there were very few good horses in the state, and even the pigs were as poor and scrawny as anything I ever saw in the shape of a pig. After making the trip I returned even more impressed with the wonderful advantages and resources of the Walla Walla valley.

"We need not be ashamed of our valley, and in speaking to tourists, I have told them, that before they fin-visit Walla Walla and see some really lovely country. The people of Honolulu are an easy-going race; they do not fight much among themselves, I am told, and take things very much as they come. Walla Wallans may have a little too much of the spirit of letting things drift, but I was glad on my return to learn that they had awakened and that several miles of street improvements were being contemplated."

Police and Suffragettes.

LONDON, March 30.—A Clash between the suffragettes and the police occurred about the house of commons today in which several participants were badly bruised. The police gained the upper hand after a hard struggle. Nine women were arrested, charged with striking the "bobbies" with their umbrellas.

Big Business.

SEATTLE, March 30.—It is reported on good authority that the Guggenheim-Morgan syndicate contemplates the expenditure of $20,000,000 in new enterprises on Puget Sound. A copper wire and copper products plant at Tacoma, a line of lake vessels on the inside passage to Cordova and the virtual monopolization of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line are the projects on hand.

Kill a Sheriff.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 30.—An unconfirmed rumor says that Sheriff Patti, and a deputy were killed in an encounter with Chief Crazy Snake's band of full bloods and negroes today.

BUYING AN AUTOMOBILE MORE TO CONSIDER THAN "FIRST COST."

EXPERIENCE IS A COSTLY TEACHER

For this reason, it is best to put your money into an automobile that has been tried out and stood the test, for remember, an automobile is an investment, and to buy right at the start is the thing.

Many purchasers of cheap automobiles are no doubt buying them under a misapprehension. They assume that the owning and operating of the machine is in proportion to its "first cost" whereas, a man of experience knows that this cost is in proportion to the weight, quality, etc., rather than in proportion to the price.

The logical thing at a lower price is a good automobile of moderate power and size—not a big automobile at a small price. Mile for mile, a "cheap" automobile will cost as much to run and own as the higher priced standard makes. This means that many people are buying automobiles who will find they cannot afford to own them.

Every automobile owner (and his family) is safer with an automobile the makers of which are governed by the desire to produce the BEST rather than the CHEAPEST. Such makers know the cost of reliable goods and therefore they know that powerful automobiles of the "cheap" type are increasing instead of decreasing the element of danger in automobilism. The question is, do buyers realize it.

There are few automobile purchasers nowadays who do not give serious thought to the upkeep question.

"You get what you pay for" is as true today as it ever was. Automobile manufacturers are in the business to make money—not to present a $20.00 automobile to the public for $15.00.

When purchasers understand and when manufacturers make it clear that an automobile is as good and no better than it can be for what it costs to make, there will be less dissatisfaction. This trying to make the public believe that an automobile is worth twice its selling price may go for a time, but people soon get wise.
