In Liberia, the price of a wife has been fixed by treaty at only five pounds sterling. At the present rate of exchange, $1.00 will buy 25% of them.

We are sorry to admit that whenever a Lynden man dresses up a little, he is mistaken for a stranger from out of town.

IN THE MEANTIME

Lynden needs a new city hall, but owing to the general scarcity of hundred dollar bills just now, it will probably be many a month before a start can be made on a building fund.

But in the meantime—
Why not invest twenty or thirty dollars in a little pain and necessary repairing?

The state requires applicants for a license to drive a motor car to state the color of their eyes, when the important thing is whether they are pleased.

KEEP THE SAME RATES

The showing made by the Farmers Mutual Telephone Company in its annual report this week is excellent. Directors are to be complimented on the way that they are rebuilding the system, and putting it on a business basis. Present rates, considerably lower than those charged by private companies, should be maintained by all means until the company is strong enough to meet a silver thaw or other setback without facing bankruptcy.

"No farmer who knows machinery will hesitate to order the Papec." —Mr. J. Edwin Hachien, Marion, Ia.

THE greatest selling force back of Papec Ensilage Cutters is their reputation among farmers who know machinery. Here is a letter written a few weeks ago by Mr. J. Edwin Hachien of Marion, Ia. It explains why more Papecs are sold than any other make of ensilage cutter.

"Continued—Just a line to let you know that we are well pleased with our 19-inch Papec Cutter, bought in 1916. Our company owned and operated three other makes of cutters in ten years' time, so this time we made a thorough investigation of all makes before we bought. Six other cutters have been sold here after our inspection watched our cutter work. Perhaps you would like to know why we decided on the Papec.

"1. It is built strong enough to stand the strain and hard work that a cutter is called upon to do. No other machine on the farm gets the abuse an ensilage cutter gets.

"2. Simplicity. Not a lot of cog wheels or short chains to bother with.

"3. Low up-keep and repair cost. We knew a man who owned a Papec cutter for ten years, filled eight to ten silos every year and had not spent a cent for repairs.

"4. It takes less power to operate it than any other cutter around here, and as this is an old sio county we have about every kind there is made.

"We feel that no farmer who knows machinery and who will compare the Papec with other ensilage cutters will hesitate to order the Papec, and the longer he uses it the better he will be pleased with his choice. That has been our experience with the Papec.

"Yours truly, J. Edwin Hachien"

"Own Your Own" PAPEC

When you realize that the Papec reputation, as reflected in this letter, has been growing continuously for twenty years, you will appreciate the fact that you can buy a Papec Ensilage Cutter with the greatest possible assurance that it will do your work as satisfactorily as it is doing the work of thousands of other farmers. If you have a silo, you should "own your own" Papec. It will soon save enough to pay for itself.
