

POULTRYMEN ARE WELL PLEASED

MANY BIRDS SELL FOR $25 AND $30 AT WHITMAN COUNTY SHOW.

Exhibitors at the third annual Whitman County Poultry show were more than pleased with the treatment which they received in Colfax. A large number of sales were made, many being for as much as $25 and $30 for a single bird.

The banquet given at Hotel Colfax Friday noon to the visiting exhibitors by the citizens of Colfax and local exhibitors was a pleasing event. About 60 people sat down to the banquet.

Secretary E. H. Rosenkranz, who has made such a success of the Whitman county show, is working for a big show for the entire northwest to be held in one of the large cities of the state in January, 1913.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT SCHOOL.

Pupils Have Good Time and Get Certificates for Good Attendance.

A pretty Christmas tree was the cause of much enjoyment at the Lee school, in District No. 12, last Friday. There are twenty-one pupils in attendance, and the per cent of attendance for the first three months was 95.6. The following pupils received large certificates for perfect attendance for three months: Amelia Daubert, Lena Daubert, Earnest Kleweno, Josie Kleweno, Edward Kleweno, Lulu Swift, Alvin Swift.

A comfortable barn has been built to house the horses driven to school, and a woodshed added to the school house. Nearly ten dollars worth of text and supplementary books have just been purchased and pictures and more books will be supplied soon.

PLANTING UNTESTED SEED.

Howard Elliott Tells How to Make Farming Profitable.

To make agriculture more profitable, in view of the fact that it does not generally pay as much on the investment as other lines of commerce, President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific, in a recent address, advocated the application of railroad methods to farming. Railroad managers buy cautiously and test their purchases for quality before paying for them. He urged farmers to do the same, instead of planting untested seed, buying cheap dairy cattle and clinging to antiquated ideas of farming. President Elliott said that the agricultural college of the Pacific Northwest were taking the lead in calling attention to the needs of better business methods in farming.

MAGGOTS DESTROY VEGETABLES

State College Bulletin Tells Treatment for Insects.

There has been no more trouble some insects affecting garden crops than the root maggot this past year. Unfortunately there is no treatment that will insure complete success. It is suggested that the ground where the plants were affected be thoroughly cultivated during the fall to destroy the grubs of this maggot in the ground where they stay to pass the winter. The insect that occasions this trouble resembles closely the common house fly, but is somewhat smaller. In some districts it is the commonest fly to be found in houses. Treatment of the soil with wood ashes, lime, etc., are usually not very successful and hardly pay for the trouble to apply them. Some success has been had by treating the soil with tobacco or kerosene emulsions early in the spring. The object of this is to deter the flies from laying their eggs in the protected places. Growing plants under muslin cover early in the season will, of course, keep the flies away, and in some districts is extensively practiced. Cabbages can be protected by placing a three-inch disc of tar paper as a collar around their stems at the time of setting out. Spraying the soil about the plants several times during the early summer with carbolic lime is perhaps the best remedy. This spray can be made by adding an ounce of crude carbolic acid to ten gallons of milk of lime.

A Good Position.

Can be had by ambitious young men and women in the fields of "Wireless" or railway Telegraph. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers.

Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chances of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute of Portland, Oregon, operates under the supervision R. R. and Wireless officials, and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details.

McCroskey, to stop falling hair, eradicate dandruff and stop itching scalp, or money back. Sold in every town in America by leading druggists for 50 cents a bottle. Read Miss Kruger's letter.

"PARISIAN SAGE is the best hair grower and beautifier and dandruff cure. I lost all my hair through typhoid fever; I was almost baldheaded and my scalp was as sore as could be. I tried everything, but in vain. Finally I tried PARISIAN SAGE, and after using one bottle my hair started to grow, and has grown three or four inches inside of two months. I advise every woman who wants beautiful hair to use PARISIAN SAGE." Miss Meta M. Kruger, Brownstown, Minn.

Kept His Head.
An ambassador of the great Charlemagne while visiting a court in the east, ignorant of a law of the king that condemned to death any one who moved a dish at table before the tyrant was served, committed this offense. "Great king," said the ambassador, "I die without a murmur; but, in the name of the great emperor whose servant I am, I beg of your majesty one favor before I die." The request was granted. "Give me the eyes of every man who saw me commit the crime." "It is well," said the king. "Their eyes shall be plucked out for thee." But no one admitted he had seen the ambassador move the dish, not even the king. "Then why should I die, great king?" asked the ambassador. "The deed cannot be proved against me." The king was pleased and forthwith pardoned the ambassador.

Might Is Right.
"Effie," said the timid highland lover, "I wad kiss ye, but I'm feart ye wadna let me."
She blushed as red as the sunset, but did not answer.

"Effie," he repeated timidly, a little later, "I said I wad kiss ye, but I'm feart ye wadna let me."

At the third repetition she asked: "Dae ye min', David, yesterday I couldna lift a bag of potatoes intae the cart an' ye lifted them for me?"

"Oh, aye!" he replied.
"Weel, that shows, David," she murmured, "that ye're far stronger than me!"—London Answers.

On the Right Road.
"Our daughter puts on too many airs," observed Mr. Spillikins.

"She does, does she?" sneered Mrs. S. "What's the trouble?"

"She seems to be too aristocratic and haughty."

"What do you want her to be?"

"I'd rather have her to be a good cook."

"And did you ever know anybody as haughty as a cook?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Usual Preference.
"What kind of meat have you this morning, Larry?" asked the board of trade operator.

"Well, sir," said the butcher, "I've got some fine bear steak and some beef that's just bully."

"H'mph! Give me some lamb!"—Chicago Tribune.

Unnecessary.
"Does your course of home reading include the profane authors?"

"No, I don't need 'em. I belong to a golf club."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
