THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Everett fittingly celebrated the nation's natal day.

There was a grand procession, patriotic oratory in the City park, plenty of noise by young Americans and a general good time enjoyed by everybody.

This was a patriotic war celebration. Let us hope the next Fourth will be a celebration of victory over the enemies of civilization.

ORGANIZED LABOR IS BACK OF THE TELEGRAPHERS

Last Wednesday, by a unanimous vote the Washington State Federation of Labor adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, In order to conserve the best interests of the nation during this most anxious period of its history, President Wilson by proclamation on April 8, 1918, appointed a war labor board, commissioned to, as far as possible, preserve harmonious relations between employers and employees, and laying down as one of the cardinal principles to be observed by said board, "that the right of workers to organize in trade unions, and to bargain collectively through chosen representatives is recognized and affirmed, and this right shall not be denied, abridged or interfered with by the employers in any manner whatsoever;" and

Whereas, Some 250 employees of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies in the city of Seattle, Wash., and some at other points who undertook to exercise their recognized American right to organize, or at least attend a meeting upon their own time, Sunday afternoon, April 28, 1918, for the purpose of discussing the advisability of organization, were forthwith summarily discharged by the said corporation, in defiance of the War Labor Board, and in violation of the principles laid down by our President; and

Whereas, The Central Labor Council of Seattle and vicinity and unions affiliated thereto have sprung nobly to the aid of their locked out fellow unionists, rendering moral and financial assistance sufficient to sustain them throughout the six weeks' period during which the War Labor Board has endeavored in vain to bring about an adjustment; and

Whereas, The unionists of Seattle, realizing that the principal at stake in this controversy is as vital as that for which our brothers have gone in their hundreds of thousands to Europe to fight and to die if need be to maintain, have sworn to uphold this principle at all hazards, even going to the point of ceasing work if need be to force a showdown with these arrogant, unpatriotic and un-American corporations; now therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Washington State Federation of Labor, in its 17th annual convention assembled, pledge its utmost support to the locked out telegraphers and heartily commend the unionists of Seattle for their unswerving loyalty to the principles of unionism and democracy; and further be it

Resolved, That while a cessation of work in war essential industries at this critical time could only be justified as a last resort, insists that should such a contingency arise, the responsibility for such action must be placed upon and borne by these unscrupulous and un-American corporations; and further be it

Resolved, That the federation, in order to prevent further complications, and to conserve the best interests of the nation, respectfully and earnestly petition the President and Congress of the United States to make whatever arrangements may be necessary to immediately take over and operate the telegraph systems of the nation.

EXPRESS MERGER ACCOMPLISHED

The "American Railway Express Company" is the title of the merger made by the consolidation of the seven express companies doing business in the United States under the following titles:

American Express Co., Adams Express Co., Wells-Fargo Express Co., Southern Express Co., Northern Express Co., Western Express Co., and Great Northern Express Co.

C. E. Kellogg, local manager of the express office in Everett has received notice of the merger from G. C. Taylor of New York, President of the American Railway Express Company.

J. A. Sanborn, former general agent of the American Express Co., in Portland will probably take charge as manager of the consolidated companies in this city.

President G. C. Taylor made the following announcement:

"Effective July 1, 1918, the domestic express business of the Adams Express company, American Express company, Southern Express company, Wells-Fargo & Co. Express, Northern Express company, Great Northern Express company and Western Express company will be taken over and conducted in the name of American Railway Express company. Pending the issuance of new stationery and supplies, receipts issued on the forms of the old companies will be binding upon the new company.

"The financial paper of the Adams, American, Southern and Wells-Fargo Express companies will be sold and paid by the new company, and any and all outstanding loss and damage claims of these four companies will be handled and adjusted as promptly as possible by the new company. The Great Northern, Northern and Western Express companies will adjust their own claims.

"It will be the object and aim of the new company to render the most efficient service and merit the good will and patronage of the shipping public."

This consolidation is to continue in force for the period measured by the Government's operation of the railroad lines.

JOHN GODFREY IS ON THE TOP

The veteran letter carrier, John Godfrey, is the premier war stamp merchant in this city. During the War Stamp drive last week he sold, at June value, $1,227.80 worth in one day. Of this amount he sold to C. S. Burnell, bicycle repair man at 2923 Oakes Ave., $1,000 worth, the limit allowed an individual holding, and the next day he sold the same amount to Mrs. C. S. Burnell. Mr. Godfrey has sold, up to June 28th, $3,237 worth of War Savings and Thrift Stamps. He has sold altogether 750 War Savings Stamps and 441 Thrift Stamps in one week.

REHABILITATION OF MAINED FIGHTERS

Federal Board for Vocational Education, Office of the Board, Washington, D. C.:

June 19, 1918.

Editor Labor Journal:

Dear Sir—Congress, without dissenting vote, has delegated to the Federal Board for Vocational Education the great task of re-educating and rehabilitating for civil life and usefulness, such of our wounded soldiers and sailors as may be proper subjects.

Available statistics show the number to average about 10,000 per million men per annum. In other words, on the present army and navy strength together with auxiliaries, we are certain of almost 30,000 men to be subjects for re-education this year. As the strength grows the number of men grows. With the more sanguinary nature of the fighting in open warfare instead of trench stalemate, the average may run to higher figures.

Experience of our allies shows that over 80 per cent of permanently disabled men can be re-educated for useful, self-sustaining, wage earning employment. Many of them will be made into expert artisans, mechanics and semi-professionals, and will be a most valuable asset to the country in carrying on the work back of the lines, releasing able-bodied men for the front; and also of great use to the country in the civil readjustments after the war when the depleted ranks of skilled men will not be able to supply the demand.

The work is of intense interest to every man in the ranks: every man subject to draft and the families and relatives of these men, and to Americans generally. To know that even though broken and shattered in the fighting, there does not exist a future of inadequately pensioned, idle days, or an occupation that is semi-mendicancy, but that the disabled man may be fitted for useful, respectable wage earning occupation, and in many instances will make more than he ever made before he was hurt, should add strength to their arms and resolution to their course. It should comfort them and their families, and make those who are not privileged to bear arms feel that our country is acting with high justice toward the men who are bearing the brunt.

We are not preparing any "hand-outs" nor conducting propaganda, but we do want the people to know what is going to be done for the wounded, so as to educate public sentiment toward requiring these men to take the training for their own sake. It is entirely voluntary on the part of the wounded man whether he takes it or not. It is here for him, to take or leave, just as he wishes. But a public sentiment understanding the opportunity, will help reduce the number of crippled and shattered incompetents after the war. The training does not affect his allotment under the War Risk Insurance.

Yours very truly,

C. A. PROSSER,
Director.

The above letter announcing the institution of the Federal Vocational Educational Board for injured soldiers and sailors has been sent to all newspapers and magazines in the United States.

It is now up to the states to do a like work for those men and women who have been incapacitated in the industries.

It is just, humane and economical.

NOT SO BAD FOR NEW MEN ON JOB

Uncle Sam's report of his stewardship in railroad management for the first five months in the business is not "half bad," as the following statement will show:

Reduction of $108,196,836 in the operating income of 123 of the largest railroads during the first five months under government control, compared with the same period a year ago, was announced today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In May the roads were beginning to recover from the paralyzing effects of blizzards and embargoes, and the operating income rose to a point nearer last year's figures. For the five months the total was $186,987,144 compared with $295,183,970 during that period last year, and for May it was $64,276,805 against $76,290,630 last May.

In spite of the reduced operating income, revenues of the roads actually were larger for the five months this year than last. They were $1,390,282,620 compared with $1,274,970,498, giving a margin which was more than eaten up by increased expenses.

SICKNESS SURVEY DISCLOSES NEED FOR BETTER PAID LABOR

Excessive Expense and Lack of Medical Care Found Even Among Favored Employees

DETROIT, Mich.—That health insurance is a pressing need not only for the lesser paid workers and their families but even for the more prosperous wage earners, under present conditions, is disclosed by a recent survey of sickness in Highland Park, a suburb of Detroit.

In this town of 35,000, where industrial life centers in the Ford Motor Company plant, the average wage is unusually high. The majority of its citizens own their homes. Yet in this "model town" a house-to-house canvass by the Detroit Home Nursing Association shows that during 1917 one family out of every four had to face "the problem of acute illness." About one-fifth of the illnesses were those of wage-earning men, usually the main support of their families. These breadwinners lost on the average 55 days from work and $221.50 in wages through their ill health, in addition to their extra expenses for doctor, medicines and the like.

Fully 30% of the sick persons failed to receive adequate care. Hospital facilities and proper nursing care, it was found, were conspicuous by their absence. Only about 10% of the sick people went to a hospital. Perhaps 10% had trained nursing and another 10% a "practical" nurse. Less than half of the maternity cases visited received "adequate" care.

While other investigations have revealed the severity of avoidable suffering and destitution caused by sickness among wage earners receiving less than $100 a month, the Highland Park survey finds that the excessive drain upon the family earnings and the lack of proper medical treatment in sickness indicates the need of health insurance among comparatively well-to-do workers as well. Universal workmen's health insurance as proposed in America will provide at small cost to the insured not only cash benefits to tide over loss of earnings, but also adequate medical, hospital and nursing care, maternity benefits, and a financial incentive to disease prevention.

PEACE ON EARTH

(Mabel Florence Ricard)
O night agleam with angel forms!
O Judean hills of light!
O wondrous song that long ago
Rang in the stilly night!

Deep in the hearts of men it burns,
Adown the ages hurled;
And yet today it rings upon
A weary, war-torn world.

O Father could the blind eyes see,
And could the deaf ears hear,
And could the hearts be opened wide
So torn with pain and fear.

O could they know the Christ within,
The light of every life,
Ah, weary world, that knowledge
then

Would end thy pain and strife.
Then from the lips of men would ring,
To swell the angels' song,
That glorious anthem that proclaimed
The end of sin and wrong.

O wondrous song, so long ago,
From Judean hills proclaimed!
O that transcendent melody
By angel voices framed!

Ah none could then destroy or hurt,
For all would know of Thee;
And radiant love would fill the earth
As waters fill the sea.
