AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Strike Artesian Water.

One of the best, if not the best, artesian wells in this part of the valley is the property of Gano & Son of North Yakima and came into existence Thursday night, when a flow of water was struck at a depth of 925 feet, which gives a five-inch stream of such volume as to raise free more than two feet above the casing, says the Yakima Republic.

Ira Gano, representing Gano & Sons began work 100 days ago on a well some 14 miles east of this city on an 80-acre strip of land owned by them and which has hitherto been used in producing wheat, there being no water for irrigating other crops thereon. It was decided to make a hunt for water and work in drilling a hole which would carry a five-inch pipe, was begun.

Drilling, at times was difficult, but the depths attained shows that little delay resulted. The water is similar in character and temperature to that procured from other wells in this vicinity and the flow is sufficient for the irrigation of at least 160 acres. Messrs. Gano are naturally elated over their success.

Gilliam County's Fine Outlook.

The majority of the fruit-growers along Rock creek have finished spraying and pruning, and are now ready for the coming season, says the Condon Globe. Early fruit has just commenced to bloom, and has suffered no damage as yet. Last season a few of the orchards along the creek did not produce more than half a crop on account of late spring frosts, but all are anticipating a favorable season for 1908.

The prospects for market gardening in this section were never better, as the prevailing weather conditions will serve to make a failure of the gardens on the high dry lands, thereby forcing the wheat-growers to depend upon the irrigated tracts along the creeks and rivers of their supply of vegetables. Market gardeners in this section usually make a profit of $300 per acre, and their earnings are expected to go much higher this season.

Secure Power From Snake River.

Much to the great satisfaction of the citizens of this city and vicinity the very pleasing announcement is made that not later than August 1 electric power will be supplied here from the big plant of the Idaho and Oregon Light & Power company at Horseshoe Bend on the Payette river, says a Weiser item.

At a special meeting of the city council held Wednesday evening it was decided to contract for 100 horses.

PLANS FOR WOOL WAREHOUSE.

Central Market for Wool to Be Established in Omaha.

Plans which, it is expected, will give the Wyoming woolgrower a more even chance with the woolbuyer, have been perfected by a company composed of prominent sheepmen of this state together with Omaha business men, the sheepmen, however, controlling the situation, says the Cheyenne Tribune.

The plans are for the construction of a warehouse in Omaha in which 20,000,000 pounds of wool can be stored by the Wyoming woolgrowers until such time as they see fit to sell it. This warehouse will be erected by the company above mentioned at a cost of $15,000.

The Great Northern railroad will also erect a warehouse for the storage of western wool of a capacity of 30,000,000 pounds.

This will give the sheepmen of the state who do not receive satisfactory prices for their product a safe repository until such time as they may choose to sell. The great advantage of the plan is that the Omaha banks have agreed to carry the sheepmen indefinitely on warehouse certificates, thus eliminating one factor which made it compulsory for the woolgrower to sell during the spring season in order to meet the indebtedness incurred in the wintering of his flocks.

Ground will be broken immediately for the warehouse to be erected by the Wyoming men, and will be ready for occupancy some time during the summer.

SOLD SHORT CORDS.

Manager of Lumber Company at Pullman Arrested for Violating Ordinance.

J. O. Brownson, manager of the Foltz Lumber company's yard at this place, was arrested this morning on a warrant issued by Police Judge Wenham, on complaint of J. W. Mathews, who charges Brownson with selling short measure on a cord of wood, says a Pullman, Wash., news item.

Much complaint has been made recently about short measure, in wood and short weight in coal, and when Mr. Mathews, who is an ex-city and ex-county attorney, ordered a cord of wood he piled it up carefully, and claims there was but three-quarters of a cord.

Several of Mr. Mathews' neighbors made the same complaint. J. Page, a neighbor, paid the same firm for a cord which he and Mathews piled carefully and measured, and found it to contain but three-quarters of a cord, so they claim. A committee was appointed to investigate the wood business and many complaints were registered.

There is an ordinance providing a minimum fine of $25 for charging for more wood or coal than is actually delivered. The city council will be asked at its next meeting to take steps to secure full measure of wood power to begin with and increase the supply as occasion demands. On account of the greatly reduced rates the consumers will have to pay the number of patrons will no doubt be rapidly increased.

The company presented two propositions to the council. One was to purchase the city plant and the other was to sell any amount of power to the city at a fixed price. The latter was accepted. The large majority of the business men and citizens generally objected to disposing of the city plant.

Seeking Coal in Polk County.

Hon. W. C. Brown is contemplating boring for coal on his land north of Dallas, just south of the Chapman prune orchard, says the Polk County Observer. Mr. Brown says he discovered strong indications of a coal deposit there many years ago, and he thinks the prospect is well worth developing.

It is a matter of general knowledge that tracts of coal are to be found in the hills around Dallas, and even under the town itself, but no steps have ever been taken to investigate these prospects in a scientific and businesslike manner. When the excavation was made for the piers of the Southern Pacific bridge over the La Creole river in the north end of town, the workmen uncovered a light vein of coal. The vein was not more than half an inch in thickness where found, but the coal was of good quality and burned well when tested.

"Noddy" Doin'." Says Fishermen.

There is nothing doing in the way of fishing, W. A. Bell and party left yesterday for the Naches valley with high hopes, says a Yakima paper. Last night they returned, a crestfallen lot. After having waded creek all day long and being compelled to eat a cold, lonesome lunch of sardines and bread and black coffee, the wanderers clambered into their rigs and drove slowly back to town and business. Their baskets were empty when they reached home. Instead of a fine mess of speckled beauties, as was anticipated, the spacious baskets hung limp and empty at the close of a very weary day.

Mr. Bell says he will try it again when the water goes down. He says the river is still high and full of mud and everything but trout. Farmers circulated the report around town the other day to the effect that most of the valley streams were in splendid condition and that the creeks were overflowing their sides with the elusive game fish.

The open evidence of jealousy is a tacit admission of inferiority.

and coal, and a city scale may be put in with a city officer to do the weighing. Brownson had the case continued until tomorrow, and was released on his own recognizance. He has been here a year.

WANTS TRAIN TO STOP.

Kennewick Asks Northern Pacific to Stop Flyers There.

Trains running through Kennewick will have to come to time or else they will be subjected to all kinds of inconveniences, according to J. J. Schiffer, who returned today from Kennewick, says the Walla Walla Bulletin.

Kennewick wants N. P. train No. 2 to stop in Kennewick instead of simply going faster when it nears this rapidly growing town. Courteously has it made the request and still No. 2 goes by without more than a whistle of derision.

The good citizens of Kennewick are getting madder every day and unless the N. P. decides to grant the request and that mighty quick, the city council will pass an ordinance requiring every train that goes through Kennewick to go as slow as the law provides, and furthermore, this law will be enforced.

Kennewick objects to being a whistle station on the N. P. or any other old road and the citizens are thoroughly in earnest about getting their demands.

ELECTRIC ROAD HELPS

O. R. & N. Says Railroad Is Benefited by New Line in Territory.

When in Dayton the first of the week, O. R. & N. passenger agent, C. F. Vandewater, of Walla Walla, was asked what effect the electric line between Walla Walla and Milton had on his company's business. Mr. Vandewater replied that the first week the electric line operated the O. R. & N. did not carry a passenger or a load of freight between Walla Walla and Milton, and that the local business is done by the electric line but by the end of the fourth week their business had increased from $0 to 125 per cent, says a Dayton dispatch.

They carried as high as 16 carloads of produce in a day that was grown on the small tracts that were cultivated along the electric line to fruit, vegetables and all kinds of garden truck. Mr. Vandewater said that anything that tended to develop the country and increase business helped them and that nothing else would populate a district so quickly and get the maximum yield from the soil as an electric railroad.

This section of Washington has been producing, on an average, about a ton per acre, when it is capable of yielding many tons under proper cultivation. The large farms, concluded Mr. Vandewater, are a detriment to the country. No man can properly cultivate 160 acres of land and when it comes to monopolizing thousands of acres, the country at large is the loser.

The people who do not live in this city and yet who "do some of their shopping here," are important to those of our merchants who seek wider markets. These people read Pendleton newspapers, for they are "interested in this city,"--in its news, in its stores.

Store advertising is no longer optional--it is as necessary as are clerks, stock, equipment; it is the only thing that makes these worth while.
