Get Scared Out of Your "Scare"

A MERCHANT should not only be afraid to be thought afraid, in these times of rapidly-returning business confidence; but he should really be afraid to BE afraid!

He owes it to himself not to undo all the hard work of the past through getting frightened at the fake cry of "scarce money." For people LIKE a "good fighter," a "game man" who "stays." They do NOT like rabbits. And the "rabbits" are going to fare badly now that conditions of easy prosperity are restored.

The merchants who concluded that advertising "cost too much" when it was most needed-with the same kind of reasoning used by the man who found that coal was too costly in the winter time--is soon to "wake up" to the perhaps unpleasant fact that his business has been taken away from him by the
