

THE CONWAY LOG CABIN.

VOL. XXII.

CONWAY, ARKANSAS, TUESDAY, JANUARY 1, 1901.

NO. 31

Better get pardoned now. Gov. Jones' time as governor will soon be out.

Taylor, the outlawed ex-governor of Kentucky, has entered a law firm in Indianapolis.

One of the Younger boys has been arrested for defrauding a board bill. "How changed, how fallen!"

There is one consolation about being poor. You will never have any of your children kidnapped and held for ransom.

Mr. Cudahy will have to sell several more hams to get back the $25,000 he paid for the return of his son who was kidnapped.

With Alger, Miles and Mrs. Fitzsimmons breaking into print again the beginning of the century doesn't seem so propitious after all.

Christmas comes but once a year, and from the crime and disturbance at that time, most of us would be pleased to see the time extended to two years.

Thirty persons were killed in old Kentucky on Christmas day. Let the blessed light of American civilization and religion be extended to the heathen Filipino.

Six more men, this time in West Virginia, with about half sense, were killed last Friday by an explosion while thawing out some dynamite before the fire.

Grover Cleveland, who, it will be remembered, was president of these United States a few years ago, states that he did not vote for McKinley at the last election. Democracy now breathes easier.

The Hawaiian delegate in Congress drew over a thousand dollars for mileage from the government a few days ago. If we had very many of these long-distance representatives, our boasted surplus would soon be looking like a post-Christmas pocket-book.

This is the year in which we will give the new road law a trial in Faulkner county. We feel sure that the law is all right. If it is not a success, the fault is ours. Let us see that it is not a failure, as in that case many years would roll by before we could get the people to try it again.

Grover Cleveland, in a recent interview, stated that, in his opinion, the most needful thing for the Democratic party is to give the rank and file of the party some voice in its council. This is certainly good advice, but it is to be doubted if this would produce the effect Mr. Cleveland desires.

Mr. Bryan intends to begin the publication of a newspaper at Lincoln, Neb., in a short time. The paper will be published weekly and will be called "The Commoner." In this paper Mr. Bryan intends to discuss all the political issues of the day, and it is safe to say that it will be a high-class publication of its kind.

Women are strangely contradictory. A few days ago a St. Louis man abandoned his wife and drove off in a coal wagon. His better half jumped into another wagon, overtook him, leaped out of her wagon and stopped his team and held them. She then called a policeman and asked to have her husband locked up on the ground that she was afraid of him.

A CLEAR HEAD; good digestion; sound sleep; a fine appetite and a ripe old age, are some of the results of the use of Tut's Liver Pills. A single dose will convince you of their wonderful effects and virtue.

A Known Fact. An absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, malaria, sour stomach, dizziness, constipation, bilious fever, piles, torpid liver and all kindred diseases.

Millionaires should get together and offer a big reward for the capture of persons who kidnap their children. Very large rewards will lead to the capture of this class of criminals. But there is another drawback; very few states have any laws to speak of for the punishment of this class of criminals.

The Memphis Commercial-Appeal expresses the whole thing in a nut-shell when it says: "The United States ought not to care a tinker's dam whether the Hay-Pauncefote treaty is accepted or rejected by England or whether that country falls back on the Clayton-Bulwer treaty or not. England's permission to build the Nicaragua canal is not needed and ought not to be asked."

The last days of 1900 mark the closing of a century that has been more replete with world-important events than perhaps all the centuries from the time of Christ. To enumerate the blessings which the 19th century has bequeathed to future years is a task too exhaustive to be attempted, but we need not go to the pages of history to find them. They are written in the every-day life of all of us.

The Supreme Court of the United States will soon decide the constitutionality of the Porto Rican tariff law, and it is believed by many that that august body will kill this infamous law. Imperialism is very plausible when garnished with rhetorical flowers and punctuated by frequent references to the "old flag," "sublime destiny," and other catchy phrases, but when it is expressed in the cold, bare language of a brief, it is pitifully absurd.

The Helena World is waging a war against newspapers that use "wooden" editorials, stolen, in most instances, from other papers. This is a righteous cause and we hope he'll have all such editors feeling so mean that they will quit their evil ways. A paper filled with stolen editorials is always contemptible and sometimes amusing, especially when a country editor "swipes" a "funny" editorial, the point of which is only appreciated by city people, and runs it in his own 2x4 weekly. These journalistic misfits deserve all the abuse and disgrace that can be heaped upon them.

Every time Grover Cleveland makes a public utterance of any kind it seems to be a signal for a large number of Democratic newspapers to begin to abuse him. We are not self-constituted apologists for Mr. Cleveland, for we cannot endorse his policy of refusing to obey the will of the majority of his party, but it is well to remember a few things that he has done. He was the first and only Democrat since the war who has brought enough strength to the party to carry the national election. He had the courage to place Southern Democrats in his Cabinet and keep them there, despite the protest of carping northern critics. He had the backbone to compel Great Britain to cease her aggression on Venezuela, and by his Secretary of State, promulgated a new "Monroe Doctrine" which was designed to ever hold the aegis of our protection over the weaker republics of this continent. Compare this great victory for Americanism with the weak-kneed policy of McKinley with regard to Great Britain's seizure of our territory in Alaska and Cleveland towers above the man from Ohio like a giant above a pigmy. And whatever bad qualities he possessed Mr. Cleveland certainly had the courage of his own convictions. Very few men could have stood the storm of abuse which he drew down on himself without weakening.

Don't use Cough Syrups that Contain Opium.

They are both injurious and dangerous. Three to five drops of Gregory's Antiseptic Healing Oil will relieve your cough in from one to five minutes and do you no harm. It contains no opium in any form.

So far Gov. Jones and other officials of the State and State University have failed to answer the sensational charges made against them by Prof. Bynum. There can be but two causes for the failure of these gentlemen to answer these charges. Either they consider them of so little importance as to demand no contradiction or they are unable to deny the accusations the charges contain. If the former reason accounts for the silence of these gentlemen, are they not presuming too much upon the faith of the people in them? If the charges were directed only against Mr. Jones himself and concerned him alone in a personal way, then it would be his right to ignore them or deal with them as his own pleasure might dictate. But it is not a personal matter. Mr. Bynum asserts that most flagrant abuses have been committed in the management of our University; that there are certain ones in the faculty who are especially favored by the management, that contracts have been violated for petty and personal reasons and that exalted degrees have been conferred upon certain persons, not as testimonials of their eminent scholarship, nor yet as acknowledgments of their profound learning, but as direct rewards for political service rendered to Mr. Jones in his campaign for the U. S. Senatorship. These are matters that vitally concern the people of Arkansas, and if Mr. Bynum has slandered Arkansas' governor and Arkansas' university, our citizens should have the facts in the case. State pride demands that our officials should be cleared of this charge and Gov. Jones should see to it that this is done. If, on the other hand, these charges are true, then, in the language of Jeff Davis, we need Red river turned through a few of our state institutions, and possibly some strong disinfectant added in with it. We learn that Mr. Bynum will lay his charges before the legislature and we may hope to get the truth of the matter. About the only thing we can be certain of now is that Prof. Bynum seems to be courting an investigation and the other side is not.

Beryl Items.

Christmas has come and gone with all its joys.

P. H. White and family of Frost, Texas, are here spending the holidays with old friends.

M. F. Cox, of Otto, is here visiting relatives and friends.

Prof. C. H. Nelson, our teacher, is visiting his wife in Perry county.

Married—December 23, at the residence of the bride's mother near Vilonia, Lilburn Cagle, of Little Rock, to Miss Minnie Hill, of Vilonia, by R. K. Wilkerson.

Married—At the residence of the bride's father J. F. Hartly Dec. 25, Joe Graddy, jr., to Miss Naomi Hartly by R. K. Wilkerson.

A dining was given Christmas day by L. C. Dallas. It is said there were ninety young people present.

Wm. Martin formerly of this place now of Center Point, was married last Sunday to Miss Jessie Wallace, of Ward, and is here with his new wife visiting relatives.

Esq. J. F. Hartly, J. L. Vaughn, Wootson and Jones Hartly have gone to Texas to look at the country.

Mrs. Sarah Price, of Beebe, is spending the holidays here with relatives.

Mrs. Sallie Wilkerson is quite sick.

James York, of Texas, is here visiting old haunts.

There is considerable discussion going on over the State about the adoption of a state flower. The Federation of Women's Clubs has endorsed the passion flower, while the State Floral Emblem Society is in favor of adopting the apple blossom. We heartily endorse the choice of the Floral Emblem Society and hope that they will be successful in their efforts to have the apple blossom adopted. It is a beautiful flower, and more typical of Arkansas' products than the passion flower.

The success of the Omaha kidnapers has resulted in numerous other crimes of the same character.

The 9-year-old son of Louis Tonz is missing from his home at Judd, Ia., and the father has been notified that a ransom will insure his safe return.

The associated press gives an account of a terrible massacre of reform forces in Central China. The reformers are said to have been induced to visit Chung Tuang, governor of the district, under pretense that he was in sympathy with them, when the leaders were seized and 12,000 imperial troops surrounded them and began the work of slaughter. Twenty-seven reform leaders were beheaded and 1,500 men killed.

Chief of Police Devery of New York will retire as a result of the general crusade against vice in that city. He will draw a pension the remainder of his life of $3,000 per annum.

A squadron of British yeomanry in pursuit of the Boers near Bristown were entrapped and made prisoners by the Burghers. After disarming the prisoners and taking possession of their horses the Boers released them.

The heavy exportation of Mexican silver to China and other oriental countries has caused a money panic in Mexico. The government threatens to place an export duty on silver.

In Grant county, Oklahoma, a young man named Clyde Hunt, while under the influence of liquor, attempted to force his way into the house of Wm. Hendricks, when Mrs. Hendricks, who was alone with her two little children, shot him dead.

Too much whiskey led to a difficulty at Vergennes, Ill., in which Henry Fox was shot to death by Joe and Jack Davidson, brothers.

Thomas H. Bennet was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by a jury at Warrensburg, Mo., for bigamy. He was confronted in court by four living wives.

Frank H. Morris, of Ohio, auditor of the war department, was murdered in his office at Washington by Samuel MacDonald, also of Ohio, a clerk in the treasury department. MacDonald afterwards shot himself and slashed his throat with a knife. MacDonald imagined that his victim was the cause of him being reduced in rank in the service, and was drinking at the time of the tragedy.

Robert H. Wilcox, delegate in the house of representatives from the Hawaiian Islands, has just been paid $1,000 for mileage. It was the largest claim of the kind ever made. Every congressman is entitled to mileage at the rate of 20c per mile, by the most direct and practicable route from his home to Washington and return. The distance between Honolulu and Washington is figured at 5,000 miles. Mr. Wilcox will draw $1,000 more for his return trip.

A remarkable record of Christmas tragedies is reported from Nashville, Tenn. Dave Ferrell was killed by a saloon keeper. The men had been firing at the feet of some negroes to make them dance, when the saloon keeper's wrist was knocked up by one of the darkies, the bullet entering Ferrell's abdomen. The next fatality was the cutting to death of Mary Thurman, colored, by Steve Lyons, her lover. Jack Burk, a fireman, while drunk, fell down a high embankment and was killed. Lizzie Jones, a colored domestic, was burned to death by her clothing catching fire, and many other serious accidents were reported to the police.

An appended report to Gen. MacArthur's review of the civil affairs of the Philippines for the past year, gives some rather startling facts regarding the introduction and prevalence of leprosy in the islands. According to the estimates of the French physician, some 100,000 cases of the disease are now in the islands.

Edie, the writer of the report, there are no fewer than 30,000 lepers in the Visayas. Leprosy was introduced in 1633, when the emperor of Japan sent a ship with 150 lepers on board to the Philippines as a present to be cared for by the Catholic priests. Thus the seed was planted, and as no practical methods were ever adopted to eradicate the disease or prevent its spread, it has taken firm root.

The statistician of the department of agriculture estimates the United States wheat crop of 1900 at 522,229,505 bushels, the area actually harvested being 42,495,385 acres, and the average yield per acre 12.29 bushels. The production of winter wheat is estimated at 350,025,409 bushels, and that of spring wheat is estimated at 172,204,096 bushels, the area actually harvested being 26,235,897 acres in the former case and 17,258,488 acres in the latter. The production of corn in 1900 is estimated at 2,105,102,516 bushels; oats, 809,125,989 bushels; barley, 58,925,833; rye, 23,995,927 bushels; buckwheat, 9,566,966 bushels; potatoes, 210,926,897 bushels, and hay 50,110,906 tons. The area from which the crops were gathered was as follows in acres: Corn, 83,320,872; oats, 27,364,795; barley, 2,894,282; rye, 1,591,326; buckwheat, 637,930; potatoes, 2,611,054, and hay, 39,132,890.
