DOUBLE YIELD FOR ARKANSAS

STATE DEMONSTRATION AGENT WATSON MAKES REPORT SHOWING INCREASE.

Average Corn Production in 1911 Was 20 Bushels Per Acre, Now 30 to 40 Bushels.

Little Rock Aug. 21.—According to a report filed today by State Demonstration Agent Watson, government demonstration adds from 50 to 75 per cent increase in yield per acre.

In 1911 there were 2,200,000 acres of corn in cultivation, with an average yield of twenty bushels per acre. During the last three years those plants under government demonstration supervision show corn yield per acre has varied from 20 to 40 bushels per acre. Corn is only taken as an example, the same thing holding in the case of everything raised on the farm to a more or less extent. During the three years of the existence of this department of agricultural demonstration the work has doubled, both in yield in toto and in yield per acre, as well as in the size of the plot. In part the report says:

"Demonstration work in Arkansas has been advancing year by year, both in acreage under cultivation and in increase of yields obtained under demonstrated methods over those obtained under ordinary methods."

"In 1910 there were 1,182 demonstrators reporting on 8,065 acres, an average yield of 915.3-10 pounds of seed cotton per acre."

"In 1911 there were 1,588 demonstrators reporting on 4,912 acres an average yield of 1,049.9-10 pounds per acre."

"In 1912 there are 2,716 cotton demonstrators reporting on 19,126 acres. With corn in 1910 there were 1-144 demonstrators reporting on 9,561 acres, an average yield of 36.8-10 bushels per acre."

"In 1911 there were 1,241 demonstrators reporting under very unfavorable conditions on 9,733 acres, an average yield of 32.9-10 bushels per acre."

"In 1912 there are 2,716 demonstrators reporting on 19,417 acres."

"This report clearly shows that there is an increased acreage in both cotton and corn worked under demonstration methods, and showing that each farmer is increasing his demonstration plot, and that the total number of acres in corn and cotton directed under the supervision of the fifty-six local agents now amounts to 38,552 acres, and showing the average size of plot to be 14.2-10 acres. Each agent supervising 341 acres of cotton and 346 acres of corn, making a total of 687 acres under demonstration methods."

"In addition to this report we have in this state 11,351 farmers co-operating with the department in which they are working practically all their farms under government methods, in which our agents are keeping no record of acreage nor yields. The fifty-six agents reporting have held a total of 782 field meetings with a total attendance of 28,125, or an average attendance at each meeting of twenty-six."

CONFESSION OF PENROSE

vania, and to me, $1,000,000 or even $2,000,000 to favor his ambition and the offer was known to others at the time. The offer was declined and we refused to support his candidacy."

"The governor of Pennsylvania, Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, desiring to uphold the honor and dignity of the state, appointed the Hon. P. C. Knox to succeed Mr. Quay. Mr. Knox was subsequently elected by the legislature for the full term."

"His appointment and election occurred with the full knowledge and acquiescence of Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Flinn still desires to go to the United States senate. His friends openly avow his ambition and his activity for Mr. Roosevelt and the reforms to which he has recently become a convert are prompted by this desire."

"The effrontery, hypocrisy and mendacity of the Van Valkenburg-Flinn combination was disclosed by the following correspondence between John D. Archbold and Wm. Flinn. I call attention to the following telegram sent to John D. Archbold by Wm. Flinn:

"Pittsburg, Pa., June 7, 1904.

"I tried to talk to you over the telephone last night, but could not hear you. I am making an effort to go to the United States senate as M. S. Quay's successor. As it now stands the appointment will go to Allegheny county and I expect to get it. The republican organization of Allegheny county are desirous of my appointment and are working me in. Also the republican organization of the surrounding counties. The efforts of a few of my influential friends put forth at once with Penrose and Durham will settle the question. If you will use your influence with them in my behalf I will greatly appreciate it. The decision will probably be reached Wednesday. Can you help me?"

(Signed) "WM. FLINN."

"Under the same date the following reply was sent in cipher to Wm. Flinn from John D. Archbold:

"New York, June 7, 1904.

"Telegram received. Sorry that the phone did not work better. I expect to have talk with Senator Penrose, and until after that it is impossible for me to have any definite view."

"JOHN D. ARCHBOLD."

"Thus it is discovered that Kiln's yellow journals in Pennsylvania are expressing their abhorrence of what they denounce as a malodorous transaction on my part, within a few months of the date of the alleged letter from John D. Archbold to me, Mr. Wm. Flinn was asking the aid of the same John D. Archbold to secure his appointment and election to the United States senate."

Flinn Makes Reply.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 21.—William Flinn, recognized Roosevelt leader in this state, gave out a statement tonight in answer to the speech of Senator Penrose in the senate today in which Flinn came in for bitter denunciation.

The statement in part was as follows:

"When the senatorial vacancy occurred in 1904, a practically solid republican delegation in the assembly from Allegheny county, and a large majority from Western Pennsylvania favored my selection to succeed Quay. The fact that selection was made and not allowed to name his man, for the appointment of Knox was decided upon at a conference held in the offices of the Pennsylvania railroad company by President A. J. Cappitt, Henry Clay Frick and ex-Senator Don Cameron, the latter two representing the corporations in this state, and the big interests in New York."

"Under the old system in Pennsylvania no senator has been chosen from this state without the O.K. of Standard Oil and the Pennsylvania railroad. The fact that selection was made and forced on Penrose demonstrates that he was then, as now, the domination of Archbold and the interests which turned down my appointment."

"Penrose alleges that I offered $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 to him and to Israel W. Durham—the latter now being dead and unable to testify—to favor my appointment to the senate. Taken in connection with my purported telegram to Archbold, Penrose's allegation disproves itself from several angles."

"First—if Penrose could have sold the senatorship for such a sum, his record as a corruptor is sufficient evidence that he would have taken the money and delivered the goods. Second, the appointment of Knox at the dictation of Archbold, Frick, Cameron and Cassatt proves that Penrose did not have the senatorship in his hands to dispose of. Third, the very allegation that I solicited Archbold's support, and requested the Standard Oil chief to give orders to his man Penrose, in my behalf, indicates that I was wise enough to know how Penrose could be controlled without the necessity of buying him."

"As a matter of fact, I never asked either Penrose or Durham to support me for senator. These men were my personal and political enemies."

"Senator Penrose, caught red-handed with Standard Oil money, evidently made his statement in reference to me for the combined purpose of inking the waters, like a little fish, that he might withdraw himself from the public gaze, and to provoke the only possible retort which can characterize a man making such a statement. I do not propose to lend myself to his plans."

"But there may be a way in which he can be withdrawn from his shield of personal privilege in the United States senate. If so, he will have an opportunity to add a perjured soul to the other chief characteristics which disclose Penrose to the American people—a black heart and corrupt hand."
