The Cheaters

ROYAL THEATER

When it comes to war pictures of the European conflict the Hearst-Selig Weekly has them all beaten, and again today the Royal will show real war scenes from the European war zone. The pride of the French army going to the front; Czar Nicholas blessing his troops; the flight of Serbian peasants to Nish, in the face of the Austrian bombardment, and many other big scenes are shown in this section of the weekly.

"Slippery Slim and the Claim Agent," Essanay comedy is a corker and no mistake.

"A Surprising Encounter," a Melies comedy drama is a story with many a good laugh.

Maurice Costello and Naomi Childers are featured in Vitagraph's special comedy, "Woes of a Waitress."

Watch for announcement of "The Human Shield," a big Hot Springs production in three parts, to be shown at the Royal soon. The dates will be announced in a few days.

NEW CENTRAL THEATER

The admirers of Francis X. Bushman—and that means pretty near every one in Hot Springs, for all Hot Springs visits the New Central theater—will have an opportunity of seeing their favorite in a unique two-reel feature, "The Masked Wrestler," which is the big attraction on the New Central curtain today. Bushman is handsome not only in face but in figure, and in the stellar part of the masked athlete today he has an opportunity to display his magnificently trained physique to great advantage, while the part enables him to do some very good acting that will be appreciated by all. Barry O'Moore, Edison's star, is featured in a human interest and detective story, "The Adventures of a Pickpocket," and Lubin offers a character romance in "Latin Blood."

The program today, with Bushman and O'Moore as features, is an exceptionally good one, and the big feature, "From Fire to Fortune; or, The Sunken Village," comes Thursday in five thrilling reels.

AUDITORIUM

Building the Panama Canal.

"The faith that can remove mountains" has been demonstrated in the most heroic way since the dawn of time at the Panama canal, and it should be a matter of pride to every American that it is Uncle Sam who gave the demonstration and that, too, for the benefit of the whole world. Of course, Uncle Sam had to exercise something more than mere faith. Just what was this "something more" will be shown by Lyman H. Howe at the Auditorium theater on Monday and Tuesday, August 31 and September 1. But it is not alone because we as Americans successfully took this "liberty with nature" that Mr. Howe's reproduction should be witnessed by everyone, nor even because it opens a new corridor from east to west—a new highway of immense international importance. It is rather because it impresses on every mind an invaluable object lesson in the most vivid way imaginable of what tenacity of purpose, determination and patience can accomplish when combined with American ingenuity, skill, inventions, systematic work, sanitation and executive ability. No era in ancient, mediaeval, or modern history has witnessed the consummation of a task so gigantic. None will see another like it for centuries to come, and when it is remembered that the reproduction Mr. Howe presents is the only one that portrays the prodigious work adequately in all its phases and that it is the only time he will present it here, the importance of this engagement cannot be overstated.

Gay Morning Glories Burlesque at the Auditorium.

The big first burlesque of the season will be seen at the Auditorium on next Friday night, September 4, when the "Gay Morning Glories" will be the first play of this kind to be seen in Hot Springs this or any other season.

These companies are the ones that play what is professionally known as the Burlesque Wheel, or the Columbia Amusement Company of New York. They have this season inaugurated a southern annex or wheel taking in Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and many of the large cities that can play these shows the full week, and in doing so, they lose a week's time between Kansas City and Memphis, and it is the idea of the towns interspersed to play these attractions a night in each week. The towns that will not doubt get the entire output of these shows are Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, Fort Smith and Springfield, Mo. Some of the best comedians in the profession are to be seen in the burlesque line. The plays are finely equipped as to scenery and costumes, and the prices are to be most reasonable in each instance.

THE AIRDOME

The Ferguson Stock Company, now playing at the Airdome, are meeting with splendid success, weather permitting. Each night that the weather is fine they are greeted by a large audience who seem to enjoy these gentlemen with their most excellent company.

The Ferguson first made their Hot Springs debut here several years ago with the Sport North Company, at that time playing both leading and comedy business. Miss Van Esse, the present leading lady, was at that time a member of the North Company. Last summer this was the banner attraction at the Airdome and played continuously for six weeks, and until the great fire of September 5.

They are now in their third week and will no doubt be with us for several weeks as they have many of their best plays in their huge repertoire that have not as yet been played. The plays this week will include "Kentucky Feud" tonight, which is a winner; "The Black Flag," a great play which will be given on Thursday night; "The Ku Klux Klan," which is the intense bill for Friday night, and on Saturday night, something to go home and sleep late on Sunday morning, that greatest of Richard Mansfield's successes, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and from what the writer saw in Mr. Eddie Ferguson's portrayal of the character of Svengali in "Trilby," he will be some Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Prices the same as usual.

LYRIC THEATER

Eddie Lyons and Victoria Ford never fail to attract a discriminating audience at the Lyric and in their offering today they ought to pack the house. "A Lucky Deception," two-reel Nestor, is the title of the film in which they appear today and those who admire this popular pair of stars will more than like them today.

"The Divorcee," from Powers, a film of the comedy drama order, is a marvel of its kind. It possesses the Powers dash and vim and the beautiful scenic settings and photography which Pat Powers always insists upon.

"A Matter of Business" is a good laugh.

"The Trey O' Hearts," the next big serial picture and story will be shown at the Lyric next week. The first installment of the story will appear in The Sentinel-Record next Sunday morning.

How Would You Break a Man's Nerve With a Playing Card?

Alaric Trine sought his revenge armed with a single playing card.

He broke Alan Law's nerve and nearly wrecked the happiness of his own daughter.

His other child—but you'd better see the pictures.

EARTHQUAKE FILM THRILLS THOUSANDS

GREAT FEATURE COMING TO NEW CENTRAL THEATRE THURSDAY.

The great earthquake film is thrilling thousands.

It comes for the first time to the New Central Thursday. It is in five reels and how the producers managed to get the startling effects in the same are beyond the comprehension of any one seated in the audience, for the equal in this respect has never before been seen.

The title of this picture is "From Fire to Fortune; or, The Sunken Village," and in the same there is seen an earthquake effect that is simply startling, for it costs something to make the earth open up and houses, cottages and places of business disappear, and that is what is seen in this feature.

Sidney M. Nutt, proprietor of the New Central, has promised some very startling effects in the picture, and Tex Griffin and Carl Hansen, at the piano and drums, respectively, have gone in for a light course of training in order to make the picture even more realistic. It is a feature that should duplicate the great success it has achieved in other cities, where, when shown, it has packed the theaters from the first to the last show.

OFFICERS ACTING AS PHOTOGRAPHERS

AERO SCOUTS TAKING PICTURES FOR FRENCH AND GERMAN FORCES AT FRONT.

The banishment of war correspondents from the armies now fighting each other in Europe has added another burden to the newspapers, for man of the trained war reporters were expected to send in whenever opportunity offers as many pictures as they could get past the censor, and now, since the correspondents have been relegated to the rear, it develops on those in charge of the aeroplanes to do this feature.

To take a picture from an aeroplane or dirigible requires the very best of cameras, those that are "sure fire," with the very latest and approved lenses, and in work of this nature the Anseo leads. That is why many of the cameras now engaged in "shorting up" fortifications over there are the Anseo. The reason that Anseo has the call in warfare as well as in peace is because it is the very best camera made, and the reason why you see so many Anseo cameras in use in Hot Springs is because the R. G. Morris Drug Company has secured the agency for this camera and the work that their developing room turns out is the kind that is giving the best satisfaction. Stop in the store and note the pictures that this camera has taken and see the high grade work that the Morris store is turning out in this respect.

FEDERAL SHIPPING BILL.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Arrangements were made today for hearings on the administration bill to authorize organization of the government controlled shipping company to engage in foreign trade. Chairman Alexander of the house merchant marine committee announced that the committee would meet Thursday and a general invitation had been extended to all interested to appear and discuss the bill.

Senator Clarke, chairman of the senate commerce committee, is preparing to introduce the measure in the senate without waiting for action in the house.

SUIT AGAINST PAPER.

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—Information looking to the prosecution of the San Francisco Chronicle was presented to the United States district attorney's office here today by the United States army, department of California, and will be laid before the federal grand jury.

In connection with an article on the coast artillery corps, national guard of California, the Chronicle printed last Sunday two photographs of the mortar batteries and disappearing rifles of Fort Winfield Scott. Under the federal statutes, it is asserted, this constitutes an act punishable by fine or imprisonment.

MUTUAL WEEKLY HAS NEW WAR PICTURES

FRENCH AND ENGLISH FLEETS AND EUROPEAN MONARCHS AT STAR THEATER TODAY.

The Mutual Weekly, judging by the announcement contained on the advance sheet, which comes to the Star theater today, has several new pictures bearing on the great European war that have not as yet been shown in any other weekly and it looks as if the Mutual has scored a beat in this respect. Among the pictures shown there is a big scene showing the English and French fleet, the president and cabinet of France reviewing the French troops and scene of mobilization in foreign capitals. These views are to be seen here for the first time at the Star today.

There is also a great feature in two reels, "For the Last Edition," an interesting newspaper story, of which the following is a synopsis:

Bess Landers, special writer on The Modern Cry, falls in love with Robert Barry, a young reporter. Barry is ordered to dig up a story on a local strike situation, the true details of which are being withheld by the big firm of grain men responsible. He is unable to get a shred of news and greatly fears to lose his job.

Bess happens to hear a word of an important meeting of the mill owners dropped by an office boy. She gives Barry the tip. They go to the mill together, and by a clever ruse, Bess manages to slip past the guard and hide in a closet where she learns that the capitalists intend to have two hired detectives blow up a carload of grain and then put the blame on the strikers as a just cause for calling out the militia.

The girl makes her escape from the mill by sliding down a fire hose. She gets the police to catch the detectives red-handed. Barry reaps the final evidence, putting over a big story. His salary is raised and he and Bess are married.

There is also a new Keystone comedy here today at the Star.
