

STICK TOGETHER.

The men who wrote the following deserve the crown of a hero, for his heart is of the stuff from which heroes are made:

When midst the wreck of fire and smoke,
When canons roared the skies asunder,
And fierce dragons with quickening stroke
Upon the reeling regiment thunder.
The ranks close up to sharp command,
Till helmet's feather touches feather;
Compact the furious shock they stand,
And conquer! for they stick together!

When now 'mid clouds of war and want,
Our comrades' walls rise fast and faster,
And charging madly on our front
Come the black legions of disaster,
Shall we present a wavering band
And fly like leaves before wild weather?
No! side by side and hand in hand,
We'll stand our ground and stick together!

God gave us hands—one left, one right;
The first to help ourselves, the other
To stretch abroad in kindly might,
And help along our faithful brother.
Then if you see a brother fall,
And bow his head before the weather,
If you be not a dastard all,
You'll help him up and stick together.

No Time for Swapping.—An Indiana man was traveling down the Ohio, in a steamer, with a mate and a two-year-old colt, when by a sudden career of the boat, all three were tilted into the river. The Hoosier, as he rose, puffing and blowing, above the water, caught hold of the tail of the colt, not having a doubt that the natural instinct of the animal would carry him safe ashore; the old mare took a "line" for the shore, but the frightened colt swam lustily down the current, with its owner still hanging fast. Let go of the colt and hang on to the old mare, shouted some of his friends. "Three, ho!" exclaimed the Hoosier, spouting the water from his mouth, and shaking his head like a Newfoundland dog, "it's mighty fine your telling me to let go the colt; but to a man that can't swim, this ain't exactly the time for swapping horses."

Home Papers.—Stick them, ye sturdy yeomanry and tillers of the soil to your home newspapers. No matter if you are poor; remember that none are so poor as the ignorant, except it be the depraved, and too often go together. Stick to your own local paper, though it may not be so large or imposing as some city weekly; but remember it is the advertiser of your neighborhood and daily business, and tells you what is going on around you, instead of a thousand miles away. If it is not on nice paper and as good as you wish to have it, pay your subscriptions well and get your neighbors to do the same—rely upon it, the natural pride of the publisher will prompt him to improve it as fast as possible.—[Wisconsin Farmer.]

THE WAY TO SAVE YOUR MONEY!
THE time having expired for which the undersigned agreed to do business as partners, and being desirous to close up our present matters, we will sell goods at TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. ON Cost For Cash!

Our Fine, Fancy Goods we will sell for TEN PER CENT. ADVANCE ON COST. This is no humbug. We will give you our cost mark, and you can see for yourselves. We have a first rate stock of and we are determined to close them out at some price. Money we must and will have to meet our dues East. We cannot collect, consequently we will sell from this date onward for cash. Now is your time to buy goods at a sacrifice. We also say to you who are due on account or note of 1887: Unless you make arrangements within ten days from date of this, we will be bound to sue you; we don't want to do it, but unless we make arrangements to meet our dues we will have to go by the law.

Fall and Winter Goods,

We will have our cost mark posted at the door, so that when you come to buy a bill of goods you will be able to wait on yourselves. Whenever you come to Des Arc be sure to call at "The Place for Cheap Bargains," you will then get valuable consideration for your money and go home satisfied. Our assortment of Lady's Dress Goods cannot be surpassed in quality, variety, or richness of style in any line in Arkansas.
