The walls of Smith, Frank Moore, H. I. Crow and J. W. Brown (Clerk), present. The following bills were allowed by the Board: quite a number of buildings are reported considerably cracked, and plastering in many places was broken, and in some instances, plate places was broken, and in some instances, plate glass windows were shivered. At the southeast corner of Dupont and Washington sts., a plate glass window in a store front was shivered, and a part of the glass fell out upon the sidewalk. Many persons, ladies more especially, were made sick even to vomiting by the motion, and the number of people who took to the street on the double-quick $ 177,00 by the motion, and the homoer to people who took to the street on the double-quick was something astonishing. At the Occidental Hotel, not a single individual tarried in the dining-hall beyond the shortest space of time required to carry them out of the building. In one of the upper chambers were two newly-arrived Fnglishmen, who had never before felt the exhilarating effects of a wholesome earthquake, and as the building swayed to and fro like a tall poplar in the breeze, one of them, rushing frantically to the door, called aloud for a ladder to enable him "to get out of this blarsted, bloody trap on to the roof." In the barber-shop connected with the hotel, a gentleman who was being shaved, rushed with telegraphic rapidity into the street, with the lather still covering 175 00 his face; and another, who was taking a bath, joined in the rush, as far as the outer door, in the classic costume ussually effected by bathers, but then and there changed his mind and went back, determined not to act as fool-226 00 ishly as his fellow-citizens had done before The petition of the citizens of Centerville, him,
