LAND SALE.

Dan Galloway vs. J. D. Walker et als. in Chancery Court at Union City, Tennessee.

In obedience to a decree of the Chancery Court at Union City, made at the April term, 1919, in the above styled case, I will, on Saturday, the 24th day of May, 1919, at about 2 o'clock p. m., in front of the East door of the courthouse in Union City, Tenn., sell to the highest and best bidder the property in said decree described, being a tract of land lying and being in Fifth Civil District of Obion County, Tenn., and described as follows:

"Beginning at a stake in the center of the Hornbeak and Troy road; thence West 1 1/2 degrees South 36 poles to the center of the steel bridge; thence up to the center of the Creek 19 poles; thence North 15 1/2 degrees East 177 1/2 poles to an oak with dogwood pointers in Toomb's South Boundary line; thence East 43 poles to a stake; thence South 72 degrees East 57 poles and 17 links to a stake; thence South 7 1/2 degrees West 104 poles and 8 links to a stake with beech or dogwood pointers; thence South 27 poles and 15 links; thence South 76 degrees West 31 poles and links to an iron stake; thence South 1 degree East 41 poles to the beginning, containing 83 acres more or less."

TERMS OF SALE.

Sale will be made on a credit, the purchase money to be divided into two equal payments, the first to become due seven months after date of sale and the second in 12 months from the date of sale, and notes for such payments bearing interest from date with good personal security will be executed by the purchaser. The sale will be made subject to a mortgage or deed of trust heretofore executed to secure a debt due S. D. Cochran, which deed of trust is registered in Book 7-L, page 258 of the Register's office of Obion County, Tennessee.

This the 23rd day of April, 1919.

ARMY AIR SERVICE TO OPEN NEW SCHOOLS.

To care for the establishment of the Air Service as a permanent combat unit of the Army, as planned under the proposed new Army bill, the War Department has authorized the enlistment of 15,000 men for this service and the inauguration of additional schools is contemplated.

Men with previous service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps are accepted for enlistment of one year, but this particular branch offers better opportunity to men enlisting for the three year period. To be of real value the men must learn some trade and it is with this idea in view that the establishment of three additional schools is contemplated. At present there is one school of mechanical instruction, and one or two more will be established in the near future, as well as various schools needed to teach the many lines of work connected with flying service. Naturally a man cannot be taught a trade in one year and for that reason those enlisting for the three year period will be looked to fill the non-commissioned officer grades and become the skilled workers. Some of the lines of work covered by the Air Service are: Radio mechanics, wireless telegraph and telephone, radio electricians, airplane mechanics, aero motor mechanics, propeller makers, fabric workers, magneto and tool makers, metal workers, welders, coppermiths, vulcanizers, photographers, draftsmen, bench mechanics and chauffeurs. This is only a partial list, as experts in almost every line of work will be required to complete the personnel.

Therefore the chances of advancement in the Air Service are excellent. A good bright, energetic and active young man with initiative and force should not remain a private long. The following table shows the chance of promotion in a squadron of 150 men, or rather it shows the number of non-commissioned grades that are available and to which men enlisting in the Air Service can be promoted:

4 Master signal electricians.
29 Sergeants first class.
33 Sergeants.
48 Corporals.
12 Privates first class.
24 Privates.

Of 150 men there are 114 non-commissioned officers. The rates of pay range from $30.00 per month as private up as high as $121.50 per month for a master signal electrician, aviation mechanic. In connection with this pay it must be borne in mind that the man receives in addition to the money paid him, free clothing, free medical attention, free room and board, no loss of pay while sick, life insurance at moderate rates, etc.

Under the proposed enlisted men are to be taught to fly. In fact instructions have already gone out to the various flying fields covering conditions under which enlisted men may learn to fly. The main qualification to determine whether or not an enlisted man will be taught to fly are physical qualifications, combined with the necessary mechanical knowledge that he must have before he will be allowed to participate in flights or allowed to be given instruction in a machine. These learning to fly if properly qualified from an educational point of view, will be given good opportunity to receive a commission in the Air Service.

The local recruiting station at the Postoffice building, has already enlisted a number of men for this service and will gladly furnish further information to those interested.

Death of R. H. Joyner.

One of the oldest and best known citizens of the county, R. H. Joyner, passed away at his home in Union City on Friday afternoon, April 25, 1919, at the hour of five. Mr. Joyner had been very feeble with decline for a number of years and the immediate cause of death was colic.

Robert Hatten Joyner, farmer, was a son of John and Margaret (Dunnigan) Joyner, and of Scotch-Irish origin. He was born in Sumner County, Tenn., February 16, 1838, his mother being born in the same place. Robert Hatten Joyner is the sixth of eight children and was raised on a farm, attending the country schools. He began farming for himself in 1860, but in 1861 joined the Obion Avalanche Company, Ninth Tennessee Infantry, and was wounded at Perryville, Ky. At the close of the war he returned home and resumed farming, which he followed until the fall of 1884, when he came to Union City. In 1866 he married Ellen Bell, who was born in Montgomery County, Tenn., in 1838.

For many years the family lived in the country, where Mr. Joyner conducted his fine Houser Valley farm. In 1884 they moved to town, since which time Mr. Joyner had retired from active life. Mrs. Joyner's death took place in 1917.

There were eight children, five of whom survive as follows: Mrs. J. D. Hubbs, Mrs. Maggie Scott, Dan, Miss Rhine, and Ned Joyner; also eight grandchildren.

Mr. Joyner was a man of fine character and a citizen of great influence and usefulness. He was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. He lived an exemplary life. He loved his family and his people, his church. He was interested in all that made life worth living, the churches, schools, good government, and he was active in every good cause which affected his people.

Mr. Joyner was generous and broad, whole souled, and universally esteemed. His passing, not unexpected, leaves a family and community in mourning, his name a monument to his friends.

Services were conducted at the residence on Fifth street Saturday afternoon, led by Rev. W. B. Cunningham, and assisted by Rev. J. Randall Farris.

Interment took place at East View, with the following pall bearers:

Honorary: D. N. Walker, Dr. F. M. McRee, G. W. Tomerlin, Jno. T. Walker, Fulton Howard, A. J. Harpole, Geo. W. Phobus, Sr., and J. F. Gregory.

Active: Josh Adams, Wade Wiley, Zack Corum, Frank Carter, J. A. Prieto and T. R. Reynolds.

Contributions.

"I suppose you get fruits and vegetables in profusion?"
"Oh, yes," said the country editor, "but I get more chestnuts than anything else."

GROOMS FOUND DEAD.

Fisherman Found at Green Island. Back of Head Blown Off.

The body of George Grooms, Reelfoot Lake fisherman, was found at Green Island Cut-Off early Monday morning with the back of his head and part of the neck blown completely off.

Grooms left home early Saturday morning to visit his lines and run tackle, and failed to return. Rendered uneasy by his continued absence, his wife aroused the neighborhood and searching parties were organized and sent out immediately. After about 30 hours of futile search, the body was found early Monday morning. Deceased was about 45 years old and is survived by his widow and four children. A coroner's inquest was held.
