State Will Respect Law.

Annapolis.

The Eighteenth Amendment, in the opinion of Governor Ritchie, must be given the same respect accorded any other part of the Constitution, without any questioning of the amendment's necessity or expediency. The Governor thus expressed himself to Geo. W. Crabbe, superintendent of the Antisaloon League. This, his first public declaration favoring enforcement of the amendment, is sure to cause consternation among his "wet" supporters. The Governor's expression was con-ained in a letter declining, because of a previous engagement to attend the recent league rally of the Lyric. "Good citizens cannot fail," said the Governor, "to view with concern any evidence of unrest and disorder, as spect for law and constituted authorty. Shell Needed In Oyster Beds.

Establishment of large areas of shell octions through buying oyster shells and dumping them in localities where the local conditions will aid in assur ng increase in natural production is & ecommendation which the Conserva tion Commission makes in its annua report, just issued.

The report estimates that $100,000 bs expended. The commission will ask an appro priation of $100,000 a year for a period of two years for purchase and plant ing oyster shells. To provide this sum an increased oyster tax will be recom mended. The report also asks the repeal of local fish laws and the enact ment of a state-wide fish law and fed eral migratory fish law. The protection of crabs also forms a part of the ecommendations. Protection in its spawning season and prevention of winter dredging in Virginia, to be ac complished by co-operation between the State of Virginia and the federal regulations, is also recommended. The report states that the commis sion has selected areas opposite Crisfield, off Deals Island, Piney Point, St Mary's county, and off Chesapeake Beach, which are to be planted with shells, in order to give the oyster spot something to catch on.

It is also proposed that license on of the next legislature.

Opposition To Breeding Bureau.

Strong opposition to the proposed breeding bureau, to be established by the Racing Commission, has developed in the State Board of Agriculture. Hostility to the proposed bureau is said to have been reflected in a meeting at the Governor's office between Governor Ritchie. State Treasurer Diamond, Jr., Gaithersburg; directors, John M. Dennis, who is a member of the Board of Agriculture, and Joseph P. Kennedy, of the Racing Commission. Mr. Kennedy had announced that he was going to present to the Governor and Mr. Dennis his plans for a breeding bureau commission of five members, one to be a member of the Racing State College and three to be named by

For example, one will hear the question: "Where did you buy that steak?" The answer comes: "I smarta guy. got it off of the butcher around the corner." To get a steak "off of" the butcher might suit a cannibal very well, but the very idea would shock anyone else. In proper usage, omit the "off:" say: "I got it of (or from) the

There are cases of the misuse of the phrase "off of" that are not ludicrous, as in the instance already cited, but in which the "of" is not needed and instead of saying, "He jumped off of the car," say, "He jumped off the car." A man who expects to open a store says: "Will you buy something off of me?" He should

The Sin That Includes All Other Sins

By REV. H. OSTROM, D. D. Extension Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT.—He shall convict the world of sin because they believe not on Me.—John

That is inclusive—"the world." That s specific-"sin." That is assertive-humanity has sin. claim is because men believe not on Jesus Christ. This fact is not only a truth, or an arousing truth, or an undeniable truth; it is a convicting truth. Bold claims these may seem to be, but there they are. And their right to be accepted is guaranteed by the authority of God

Almighty. The Ten Commandments are no mentioned here. Neither are the good deeds men do given here. A thousand dead apple trees are not worth as much for fruit raising as one live tree. So a thousand commandments would not count for so much as the deeds (dead at best) could not equal the living Jesus. Place all commandments and all good deeds in one side of your scales and weigh them against Jesus, they will kick the beam. He was born under the law, He fulfilled the law, He was put to death under he law; His deeds are not only many, they are without one exception good even to perfection. We must deal with Him. Refusal to accept what He has done, that is, the sin. That sin holds in its grasp all others. It is His Cross that stands at the forks n the road where we must make the sternal choice. Sinning against that ncludes all the rest. With one, it is Jesus or work, Have oot I done all these good things, or am I not willing to do these right acts? What I did and what I am about to do, that is the consideration. But over against it all is Jesus. There s what He did and what He offers to io. What could a dead violin do towards making music? Absolutely othing. But is there a skilled violinst into whose hands it has beer given? He will produce the music. What can a man "dead in trespasses and sins" do to make himself right? Ah, he cannot practice the real right until he has the righteousness to practice with; and that is in Jesus. With another it is Jesus or harmessness. "Why, what harm have I lone?" Well, if there had been no other harm done than that done by neglect, then that is startling. Like fields neglected, like bridges neglected, like debts neglected so is the soul's neglect; it always carries with it disaster. But here is something to which you may have been blinder, you have neglected Him. All other neglects even if they extended into ages upon ages instead of only for a few years cannot weigh as much as this. What He represents to us is duty so great that if we neglect Him we are lost by it. With another it is Jesus or how much can I pay? But we cannot pay for the rejection of Him. He is not to be marketed. How could one pay for such when the very substance or money he might bring would be, not the smallest fraction of it, originally produced by man? "Who hath made all these things?" "What hast thou that thou didst not receive?" If it were a matter of barter then we are utterly defeated. Our price would be so dis-valued by the rate of exchange that it would equal simply nothing. But "believe on ME," that is the

"Redeemed not with silver and gold but with the precious blood Christ." Believe on Him, that is to put the whole weight of all the past, all the future and all of now upon Him. He saves. He is the elevator that takes us up. It is dangerous even to put forth the hand as if to increase its condition. The paying, He has done that. "Ye are bought with a price."

power to lift us. Not believing on Him, sin follows. Believing on Him, sin is defeated. Search the whole field from end to end, and through every part, and it is defiled unless we believe on Him. Likewise, search it most thoroughly, and the defilement is gone if we believe on Him. It is a wonderful word of life this, that "the gift of God is eternal life." When the little girl was asked to explain how sweet the honey was in the jar she carried, she tried several times to find an answer and then reached the climax by lifting the jar up in her hands and saying, "Here, put your finger in, taste and see." The proof was in the taking. And drunkards and moral men, scholars and uneducated men, prosperous and poor men, stand forth to declare that to believe on Jesus Christ is to be saved. Why not be one among them?
