Suggestions Given By Health Dept.

can build one very easily for home use in your own back yard, from directions that you will be able to get in the nearest library.

"If you like to cook your food on stick try a piece of American cheese wrapped around with a strip or two of bacon and toast over the fire. Let the bacon fat drip on to a toasted whole wheat roll during the cooking process. Take along some sound, ripe tomatoes and slice them on your toasted cheese sandwiches.

"Potato salad carries easily, but for a change try an appetizing combination vegetable salad. Any of your favorite combinations of cucumbers, onions, green peppers, cabbage, carrots of whatever else is growing in your garden can be assembled at home and carried in a glass jar. The dressing can be placed in another jar and added just before serving.

"Vegetables sticks made from carrots, cucumbers and celery can be kept crisp and fresh by wrapping them in waxed paper. They will supply some extra vitamins and minerals. Hard-boiled eggs, left in the shell, are easy to carry and have a very special place as fillers.

"Be sure your drinking water comes from a tested spring or well. Thermos jugs are very useful for carrying milk, or mixed fruit juices, or lemonade that is sweetened, of course, with syrup or honey.

"You will find some interesting suggestions as to appetizing fillers for sandwiches and other ideas for picnic lunches, in a folder entitled "The School Lunch" that is published by the Maryland State Health Department and that you can get by writing to your County Health Department."

Look at the label on your paper and if you are in arrears, we would appreciate it very much if you will pay your subscription up to date.
