Mr. Stovall is one of the best Berkshire breeders in the state. Any one having a prejudice against the Berkshires, should call and see the above. They will be shipped here next Tuesday.

H. G. Parcell, of the firm of Tull & Parcell, photographers, has purchased the R. M. Ringo residence. He paid $1,300.

There is a constant demand for dwelling houses. We do not recollect a summer for years when the town was as full as now.

We are requested to say that Mrs. Fox will lecture again at the Liberal Hall, on Sunday at the usual hours, morning and evening.

THE GRAPHIC has been asked as to the years of drouth. The following are the dates as near as we can get at them. They were in; 1843, 1854, 1862, 1871.

In its estimate of job work finished up last week the GRAPHIC was a little out. At the time of writing the returns were not all in; the amount was nearly SEVENTY instead of fifty dollars. The GRAPHIC aims always to be correct.

For most of its State Items, published on our first page, the GRAPHIC is indebted to that newsy and sparkling little evening daily the St. Louis Chronicle.

The Chronicle is newsy, enterprising and aggressive, and we are glad to note its success.

Henry Felker goes to Ackley, Iowa, this week to open out in business. Mr. Felker is a live business man and a good citizen whom we regret much to lose. We wish him success in his new home among the Hawk-eyes.

We would advise those having property to insure to secure a policy in the agency of J. W. Hall as he has as good companies as there are doing business in the state and he is an old reliable and experienced agent. Give him a call.

Charley Mercer has a span of mares of the Clydesdale breed which were two years old last May. They weigh 2,200 pounds without the harness. He says if any one can beat this he would like to hear from them through the GRAPHIC.

A Call.

For a representation by committees from all the townships of Adair county to attend a preliminary meeting to make arrangements for an old settlers' reunion, on Saturday August 20th, 1881. O. H. BEEMAN, and others.

The first issue of the REAL ESTATE INDEX is out. It is a neatly printed, four page, six column paper, devoted exclusively to real estate interests. It aims at a national rather than a local circulation. Published by Griggs & Gill, and printed at the GRAPHIC news and job rooms.

The tourist and sportsman, published at Minneapolis, Minnesota, contains the following in its issue of June 30th: "A party of six, including Dr. Mitchell and wife, Mrs. J. W. Wiggins, of Minneapolis, Mrs. J. W. Shryock, of Kirksville, Mo., were at Lake View a couple of days last week."

Considering the fact that the editor of the Quincy Commercial Review came to Kirksville, after supper and left shortly after breakfast, and was otherwise engaged during his very short visit, so much so in fact that any courtesies from outsiders would have been an intrusion, we do not think he feels very badly because he was not interrupted by the tender of officious services on our part. The Democrat, as usual ignorantly puts in without knowing about the matter, and affords another illustration that fools will presume to speak where wise men would keep silence. Any advice, however, to the Democrat, would be superfluous. It would resemble to reason with an insane asylum.

A Needle in the Lung.

About two weeks ago Miss Ella Baker of Novinger Station was taken with a severe hemorrhage from the lungs, as much as a pint or more of bright red blood being discharged in a few minutes. She was put upon the next train and brought to this place for medical treatment, and notwithstanding perfect rest and the applications of the best remedies known, there continued almost all the time a passive hemorrhage which at times became active and severe.

There had never been anything the matter with her lungs before, and the case taken altogether was a puzzle to her physicians. But on Saturday last there was a slight effort to cough and something sharp flew from the throat and stuck into the roof of the mouth, when Miss Baker reached in with her fingers and withdrew a needle more than an inch in length. This had been the cause of the hemorrhage. But when or how the needle had got in there neither she nor any of the family knew. But it had been there so long that more than half the needle had rusted away.

Miss Baker at this writing is much better, and there are prospects of a rapid recovery.

FROM ILLINOIS.

The following letter from Elder J. C. Shipp, formerly of this place, will be read with interest by his many friends in this community:

MISSOURI, ILLS. Aug. 8, 1881.

EDITOR GRAPHIC.—The weather has been exceedingly warm here; it has been hot. Crops are splendid. The army worm, so called, but not the regular army worm, injured oats very much. Hay is bountiful, vegetables plenty.

I am quite well pleased with my new field, am getting somewhat acquainted with the people and feel at home. The congregations are fine for the heated term, and the word preached seems not without power. I had the pleasure of baptizing my first Illinois convert, last Sabbath night. To me it has ever been a blessed service to baptize those who on the dear redeemer have believed.

Am delighted each week with the news the GRAPHIC brings of Kirksville affairs. Please bear my best wishes to all my old friends.

Very truly yours,

J. C. SHIPP.

DIED.

We regret to note the death of Ned Jones, one of the old citizens of this county. He owned the old Snyder farm six miles north of Kirksville and was in good circumstances. He was at one time a slave although almost white, and even then commanded the respect and friendship of all who knew him by his strict integrity and industrious habits. Since the war he had succeeded in accumulating considerable property which we presume will go to distant relatives, as he had no family of his own.

Fruit Farm Sales.

Charley Mercer informs us that he sold this year from his raspberry patch between five and six hundred dollar's worth of berries. He will also have $50 dollars worth of grapes. He will have in addition about fifty bushels of apples, besides the potatoes etc., for family use. Altogether he has about five acres in fruit. The raspberry patch occupies about two acres.

Good Corn.

Lan. Wheeler, of Wilson township was offered twenty-five dollars per acre for his corn crop this year, and refused it. We presume the land could have been bought for less than that amount this spring. Some of the corn will yield, it is estimated, over one hundred bushels to the acre.

Notes From Illinois.

J. A. Richter writes us from Dewitt, Ill., that the farmers in that section are blue on account of the drouth. Corn looks badly. Late corn is already a failure, and if rain does not come very soon early corn will be short. Mr. Richter's aged father is lying quite ill.

Prof. R. C. Norton

President of the Cape Girardeau Normal has been tendered the position made vacant by the resignation of Prof. Baldwin, as president of the Normal school at this place. Prof. Norton has signified his willingness to accept in case the regents of the Cape Girardeau school will release him.

The rain and the very limited notice given resulted in but a small attendance at the musical rehearsal at the M. E. church Friday night, given by Prof. Suffren's class.

Those who did attend were amply repaid. The class did excellently and afforded an evening of more than ordinary interest to all lovers of good vocal music.
