Strange to relate, the first convict paroled by the new Pardon Board, composed of three Democrats, was an election crook from St. Louis.

Old politicians are now wondering about the possibility of the President finding enough college presidents and professors to fill all the big offices.

The St. Louis election indicated that Republicans and Progressives can get together, when the cause for friction is removed. Set aside the big bosses and protectionists would work together harmoniously.

The election last week was very satisfactory to Republicans. At St. Louis they elected Henry W. Kiel as mayor, and at many other points the tendency seemed to be to "bury the hatchet," and get together.

No more loyal or heroic act could be imagined than that of the two hundred Montenegrin bomb throwers, who went to certain death for their country last week. Not one escaped. Great Garabosch fort was so located and fortified that it was deemed advisable to send a picked body of men with bombs ahead to clear the track for the army to follow. They did their work well and the Turks were defeated.

The Citizen last week referred to this paper as "a composition of a Democratic horse, a Progressive driver and willing to pull hand wagon." That's not bad—our readers in this way must get all the facts. We have read the Citizen for years and must say we have never been able to discover its politics, so far as we know, it may be socialist or a society organ. We have never been able to find a single editorial expression by the editor. Come on brother, tell us something.

The bank statements published last week showed no lack of confidence of the people in business, as the deposits were above normal. The markets are also favorable. In the face of the proposed tariff tinkering this is remarkable a few weeks will tell whether this confidence is warranted.

During the past ten years wages and prices have gone up all over the world, so that if the entire tariff were removed it would not be as bad as formerly yet the effect of a slight reduction may prove bad on some lines, in which the margin of profit is now very small.

The country is so prosperous that it has a wonderful reserve and will be able to give employment and a living to hundreds of thousands, who may be thrown out of their present jobs, but it will reduce the prosperity of most of our laboring people to a point of extreme economy if nothing worse.

Many a person goes through this beautiful world without any of its real pleasures. A pretty face makes them feel that they were defrauded by nature, a nice dress makes them envious and feel their poverty. A nice home makes them feel like becoming anarchists and so they go through life. The person with a pretty face can't see herself as well as those with whom she comes in contact and those about her can derive as much pleasure in admiring her as the owner herself, if they can lay aside envy. In the same manner, those who have no fine clothes can rejoice in the good fortune of their neighbors. And the man with a pretty house—well he can't more than admire its good looks, and he has the extra burden of caring for the place. Enjoy the view with him and pass through this life an optimist enjoying much even though you have little.

The Armstrong Herald a strong Democrat paper, makes use of the following statement concerning the action of the legislature in the creation of so many boards.

"The Herald don't take any stock whatever in any of the new commissions that are being created in this state. They carry salaries for the commissioners ranging up to $7500 per year and some of these jobs will be held by men who could not go out in the world and command a salary of $1000 a year, but who will get in with their political pull and secure the fat salaries and the people must foot the bills. As we see it, it does not sound right for Democrats to

French economy and then when in power create an endless number of new jobs for the politicians at the expense of the taxpayers of the state. Too many new commissioners for the good of the Democratic party in Missouri.

TARIFF WAR IS ON.

New Orleans, La., April 5.—The Louisiana Cane Growers' Association will fight the determination of President Woodrow Wilson to effect the passage of a bill providing for a 1-cent duty on sugar and the complete removal of this tariff in three years, as a result of a meeting here today, presided over by Charles A. Farwell, president of the association. Congressmen and senators will be urged to assist them and the fight will be taken right up to the Senate where hope is entertained of defeating the bill.

The complexion of the Senate is given as protectionists (Republican), 45, and free trade (Democrats), 51. Louisiana sugarmen believe they can change this to a small majority in favor of protection. Louisiana senators will vote with the Republicans, and they hope to influence Democratic senators from the best sugar states to vote with them, thus giving the protectionists a bare majority. It is the declaration of sugar planters that the passage of the free sugar bill means ruin to the industry in the United States, and that it will result in United States refiners and European sugar barons gaining a complete monopoly of the sugar business of the world.

"It does not mean cheaper sugar. It means a monopoly and prices ultimately which will be fixed by the men who control it," was the declaration of important sugarmen.

FLIES.

The fly by nature feeds on all kinds of animal and vegetable matter. It feeds on infected excreta, and in this way the feet, the legs, and the intestinal tract of the fly become heavily infected with typhoid fever germs. The fly then enters the kitchen, dining room, store house for food, and dairy to deposit typhoid germs on the foodstuff upon which or in which it may light or fall. In this manner the fly serves to transmit typhoid germs from infected material to the food stuffs.

To prevent the fly from spreading disease, it should be exterminated. The extermination of the fly requires a little energy and a small expense. The common house fly deposits eggs on dead animals and vegetable matter, old newspapers, and trash of any kind about the yard. Manure in and about the stable is especially favorable for a hatching place. The egg forms a maggot, which in turn develops the fly. From the laying of the eggs to the development of the fly about ten days is necessary. These breeding places should be destroyed; all decaying matter, both animal and vegetable, rags, etc., should be destroyed at least once per week. The stable should be screened, and the manure pile should be screened and disinfected with lime or crude petroleum. In the stable, or in any other room where flies may congregate, a weak solution of bichlorate of potash in water, in a shallow dish serves to kill the flies. This solution is not poisonous and is safe to have about the house.

Jefferson City, April 3.—A telegram from C. H. He asked for tents and food. The governor's private secretary at once wired to Adjutant General O'Meara, who is in the flood district, advising him to make requisition, through Governor Major, on the Red Cross society for immediate relief and to render such other aid as he can.

Maj. J. A. Logan of the United States army from Louisville wired to the governor that Captain McMaster has left there for Carthage, Mo., with instructions to aid the state and municipal authorities in taking care of the flood sufferers.

TO LEAVE MISSOURI

Jefferson City, April 2.—Threat on the part of fire insurance companies to withdraw from Missouri because of unsettled rate conditions has caused considerable comment here. Attorney General John M. Barker, whose statement some days ago that he would institute criminal prosecutions immediately if rates were not reduced, is out of the city. When he returns tomorrow or next day it is expected he will take decisive steps in the matter.

The repeal of the Oliver rating law, enacted two years ago, has stirred up the trouble. The companies made a desperate fight to prevent the repeal of the Oliver law, under which they have been able to advance fire rates all over the state. They also made a desperate fight to induce the governor to veto the Orr bills carrying the repeal and again placing the fire companies under the provisions of the anti-trust laws, where they were before the enactment of the Oliver law.

Just what could be done in the event that the companies carry out their threats to leave Missouri is not apparent. Undoubtedly the repeal of the Oliver law and the attitude of the attorney general in his announced determination to bring about a reduction of rates has "stirred up" the companies, as resolutions adopted yesterday at the meeting of the Missouri committee of fire company managers in Chicago, indicate. A suspension of business in Missouri even for a short time would bring a vast amount of confusion.

State superintendent of Insurance C. G. Revelle is out of the city today, but at the department it was stated that nothing is known there officially of the action taken in Chicago. There is no emergency clause on the bill replacing the companies under the provisions of the anti-trust laws, consequently it will not be effective until June. The feature of this bill objectionable to the fire insurance companies is in the following section:

"In any proceeding against or prosecution of any insurance company under this article, it shall be prima facie evidence that such company is a member of a pool, trust, agreement, confederation or understanding to control, affect or fix the price or premium to be paid for insuring property against loss or damage by fire, lightning or storm, if it be shown that such company or any agent representative thereof, in writing in insurance has used any insurance rate or made use of, or consulted any insurance rate, prepared, published, kept or furnished by any person, as association of persons or bureau employed by, representing or acting on behalf of any other insurance company or association in and about the making and publishing of insurance rates for use in any portion of this state."

This is far more drastic than were the provisions of the anti-trust law they went under the provisions of applicable to fire companies before the Oliver law and it is believed has caused the threatened withdrawal of the companies from the state.

The total amount of fire risks in Missouri at this time is $171,000,000.

There are thirty-four foreign insurance companies, 114 American companies, 5 Missouri companies, 18 mutual companies and 6 Missouri town mutual companies writing fire insurance in the state at this time.

Coughs and Consumption

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by P. H. Franklin, Druggist. adv.

Accident at Clark

The Slater News says, what might have been a serious and fatal accident occurred Monday, when engine tender 258 on train No. 22, jumped the track at Perchle bridge near Clark. It is said that all trainmen and engineers remember this fall about 70 feet deep which would mean instant death should a train turn off. Engineer Allison, however, brought the train to a stop near the center of the bridge with no harm done excepting to the bridge. This was the train that Mr. Hart and Mr. McDonald were on.

It is said in a New York college that more city boys are studying farming than country boys. This, however, may be only the natural reaction of wanting something different.
