

SUMMER COURSE FOR EVERYONE

Special Features Offered in Forestry—Other Departments Open.

The announcements of the Summer Session of the University now being sent out show a number of new features for the coming summer.

During this session special courses in the economical and sociological aspects of the country church and school will be given. These courses will be non-sectarian. They will be presented from the viewpoint of the country pastor and the county superintendent.

A special feature of the work this summer will be the forestry camp on the University forest in the Ozark Mountains. Students will be provided with tents and cots but will be required to furnish their own bedding and personal outfits. The rural teacher will find instruction offered in all important courses required for a certificate to teach in any grade of any county or for a state certificate. Three elementary courses in journalism will be offered this summer for the first time. The University Missourian will be published once a week by the students in these courses. A psychological clinic for the study of backward and "bad" children will be conducted this summer. Physical and mental examinations will be made. Courses in engineering will be offered for the first time. In addition to these special features of the summer session, regular courses in other departments will be offered.

Preventive Medicine Exam Tomorrow

The preventive medicine examination will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the auditorium of the Agricultural Building.

SO HE PRINTED HIS BOOK WHILE AT SEA

Former Student Publishes Articles That Newspaper Wouldn't Accept.

AMERICA NOT AHEAD

Charles Grandpierre Lauds South America in a "Limited Edition."

Comparing the United States in very unfavorable terms with South America, and aiming to point out the delusion which the people of this country have that their nation is superior of all other nations is the reason which the author of a book, "The Other Americans" gives for its publication. The author of this unusual book is Chas Grandpierre, world traveler, writer and former student of the University.

Some months ago Grandpierre was sent to South America by a paper of this country to write articles about that country, but the reports which he sent back here were so radical and more a criticism of this country than anything else that the paper refused to print them. As a consequence of the papers' refusal to accept the articles, Grandpierre, once a printer employed on the Columbia Herald, published them in the form of a book, while on his return to this country. This book is probably the first book ever printed on board ship while at sea. Only two hundred copies were printed. They were given away but are not allowed to be sold. Prof. M. F. Miller has received a copy.

The book describes practically every form of human endeavor in South America and compares them with those of this country, mostly unfavorably to this country. There are discussions on cities, racial characteristics, architecture, education, amusements, government and the last chapter is on the Monroe Doctrine as South Americans think we try to use it.

Here is what he says about Buenos Aires:

"Buenos Aires has more and larger dailies than New York, the finest newspaper building and the most luxurious club house in the world; the most expensive dock system on this hemisphere; four banks with more paid in capital and greater reserves than any four in the United States, and its people wear more diamonds than are in any other city in the world."

The book states that chewing gum is an unknown article to South Americans.

"A Yankee, the people of this country are spoken of as Yankees, who chews it there is regarded as crazy or afflicted with a nervous ailment," he says. "Motion picture theatres some times have this sign: 'No North American Films Are Shown Here.' Films from this country are not regarded as of high enough standard. A Yankee who started a store in one of the cities advertised articles with prices similar to 59 1/2 cents and the people refused to trade with him because they thought he was a liar. Hobble skirts are worn considerably by the women there as these costumes are more suited to the graceful walk of the South American woman than to the walk of the northern woman."

Women of Argentine, according to the book, are far more cultured and refined than those of North America and their standard of education is high. They do not believe in woman suffrage and hold an exalted position in the home.

"There is no necessity for prohibition in that country as the people do not drink to excess," he says. However they have a strong prejudice against pure water and invariably dilute it with some alcoholic drink. They believe their people are more robust than those of the north on that account.

Education is of a much higher standard. It requires a greater preparation to enter a university there and the requirements to obtain a professional degree are greater.

Dinner for Short Course Students.

A dinner for short course students will be given February 8. Dean F. B. Mumford of the College of Agriculture will be toastmaster. The speakers are the Rev. Matthew B. McNutt, specialist on rural churches, the Rev. Henry S. Sweets, traveling representative of the Presbyterian assembly and Dean W. W. Charters of the School of Education. A reception for the students and faculty will be given at 5:30 o'clock. The dinner will begin promptly at 6 o'clock.

Just the switch you have been looking for can now be had at the Elite Hairdressing Parlors, 3rd floor Exchange Nat'l Bank Bldg. (adv)

CALLS OUT BASEBALL MEN

First Practice Will Be Held Here Next Week.

The first baseball practice of the season will start next week. It will be held in the gymnasium if the weather conditions do not permit outside practice. A meeting for the pitchers and catchers was held in the gymnasium last night.

Practically all of last year's squad will try out for the team this year. Coach O. F. Field says that the freshman material is promising this season. "We want all the baseball players to come out this year," he said. "Plenty of good men never try out for the team mainly because they don't believe they have a chance. All the men will get a fair try-out as soon as the weather permits outside practice."

C. L. Angerer has decided to stay here the next semester and he will add strength to the team. He is considered the best pitcher in the Missouri Valley Conference. Hall, Mohler, Graham, Lansing and Delano will try out for catchers. Delano is promising material and the question of his eligibility will be settled this semester. Angerer, Helm, Helmreich of last year's team and Capp of the freshman squad will try out for pitchers. The infield candidates are Brainard, Hornback, McCue, Carter, Houston, Wheat, Lyle, Woolsey, Barclay and Palfreyman. The outfield candidates are Captain Taylor, Gray, Dickinson, and Helmreich. Helmreich will alternate as pitcher and outfielder. T. E. D. Hackney, assistant coach, will have charge of the men during Coach Field's absence with the basketball team.

The schedule so far completed is Westminster, April 10, and Ames April 18, 19 here; Warrensburg at Warrensburg, April 22; Kansas Aggies at Manhattan, April 23 and 24; Kansas at Lawrence, April 25 and 26; Drury here, May 3; Oklahoma here, May 12 and 13; Ames at Ames, May 16 and 17; Kansas Aggies here, May 19 and 20, and Kansas here, May 23 and 24.

THAT NEW HOME

The first step toward a new HOME is the selection of a lot. It is a thousand times more satisfactory to have this lot located in a strictly HOME community, where the lots are large and beautiful, and where the personality of the community is satisfactory to you.

In practically every city throughout the country the better class of people have gone out into exclusive communities and built their HOME. Why not in Columbia? Why not you?

If you are interested in building a HOME, let me know about it, and I will give you prices and terms that will be of interest to you.

Lots in Westmount and Westwood are not only better, but they are decidedly cheaper, especially when you take the size of the lot and the location into consideration.

Let's talk it over.

Respectfully,
J. A. Stewart
