The Democrats are bobbing up in the county for county offices. They want to ride Populist horses.

Will Jaden went over to Illinois today to attend a picnic.

A. J. D. Burford, we understand, is a candidate for Assessor.

I heard of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey being for sale at the store of Messrs. Gann, Burnett & Co., Grantsburg, Ills., and seeing many recommendations from different persons, of its wonderful valuable merits, I thought I would try a bottle. I have been seriously affected for 25 years with a cough and pains in my side and breast that were causing me a miserable life. I spent hundreds of dollars with doctors and for medicine, but everything failed until I tried this wonderful remedy. It beats the world and has saved my life. I recommend Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey to everybody with weak lungs. It is a great success. Sold by all dealers.

J. B. ROSELL, Grantsburg, Ills.

The St. Louis club house on the St. Francis River gets its nottle beer in St. Louis and then orders ice to cool it with from Cape Girardeau. Our ice dealers would be doing the polite act by telling the St. Louis club to go to hell. We need our ice here to cool a better article of beer than they make in St. Louis.

The townships at their meetings are also requested to nominate candidates for Constables.

By order of the committee.

WILLIAM REGENHART, Chairman.

WILLIAM PAAR, Sect.

Ballard's Snow Lintment.

Is equally as effective for animals as for the human flesh. As a Lintment it has no equal in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. It never fails to cure Neuralgia. Sold by Wilson drug store.

Health in Hot Weather.

The preservation of health in hot weather is accomplished by the most rigid abstinence in eating and by total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors. Flesh meat should be sparingly used and only once a day, and the other two meals should be of a light farinaceous character, either tea and toast, mush and milk or corn starch. The gourmand will swear at this bill of fare, and say there is not enough in it to sustain the waste of animal life, but let me assure him that he is mistaken, as practically and physiologically there are good reasons why in hot weather this moderate diet is most suitable. In warm weather we lose our appetites, indicating that nature intended us to lessen the quantity of our food, and the bilious secretion, the most important in the process of digestion, is charged to such an extent as no longer to be able to prevent the development of ptomaines—the poisonous products of digestion which excite fever, stupor, thirst, colics and diarrhoea. The most suitable drink in hot weather is warm water, which, though not the most palatable, is the most agreeable to the stomach, and never excites those painful gastralgias which ice-water does. These simple rules of health, if strictly carried out, rob the hottest days of their terrors.

Respectfully, THOMAS O'REILLY, M. D.

BROKE ITS NECK.

It Was a Sad Mishap.

The Infant Child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koch Broke Its Neck in Bed.

The little eight months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koch broke its neck in bed Sunday morning. Mr. Koch was out feeding the stock and Mrs. Koch was cooking breakfast. The little child was in its crib sleeping when the parents left the room. When the mother went to the crib to look after the little child she found it dead. The little innocent had crawled from off the mattress on the bed, got its head between the mattress and the railing of the bed. It was then almost standing perpendicular with the head down. Its body swung over and the little child's neck was broken. It had been dead only a few minutes when its mother discovered it.

An Old Citizen Passes Away.

August Von Cloedt died at the Franklin House in this city this morning, August 5th, 1896. The deceased had been an invalid for several years and for the last three months he had been confined to his room, most of the time unable to get out of his bed.

August Von Cloedt was a native of Germany. He came to this country before the breaking out of the war of the rebellion, and when the war broke out he enlisted as a private in Company I, 119 New York Infantry. He was soon promoted to the rank of Captain and served in that capacity to the end of the war. After the close of the war Mr. Von Cloedt located in Cape Girardeau and for several years he held the office of City Engineer.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps the more generally needed in the Spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at W. C. Haman's drug store.
