ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR SHERIFF.
We are authorized to announce
F. A. RAGE.

As an independent candidate for the office of Sheriff of Cape Girardeau County.

There is yet a little more than month of the campaign of education.

The Jefferson City people are doing some hard work to hold the State Capital.

Judge Sawyer will lead the equality ticket. Everybody will vote for Judge Sawyer.

The opportunity to rebuke the repudiation of promises made on behalf of free trade is near at hand.

The Bayards of Delaware are still in evidence. Thomas F. Jr., has just been nominated for congress in the Wilmington district.

Nearly all the railroad employees in Southeast Missouri are for sound money, and a large majority of them will vote for McKinley.

The mints do not employ a very large force and even worse they run day and night they would provide for but few men now out of a job.

Bourke Cochran was listened to by fifteen thousand people in St. Louis Monday night. His speech was the best speech delivered in St. Louis this year.

The opposition is not making any vigorous attacks upon George Green's figures. They have learned to have a great deal of respect for the general's statements.

The congressional elections should not be neglected in a single district. A Republican president without a Republican Congress would be at a great disadvantage.

The Republican candidates for office in this county do not believe in the old maxim: You break one and I'll tickle you. They want the other fellow to do all the tickling.

Two years ago Judge Sawyer got eighty-eight votes more than the combined vote of the Democratic and Populist candidates for the Legislature. The Judge will do better than that this year.

When approached with lucid promises for free silver it is well to remember the plentiful promises made in behalf of free trade.

F. B. Meyer is an honest farmer, a successful business man and the convention made no mistake in giving him the nomination for County Judge. He will run right along with the strong men on the ticket.

To pull in full force and effect the policies of the Republican party it is necessary that a Republican president be supported by a Republican congress. This makes of great importance the congressional election.

This campaign should be lively enough for almost any one. But one class is dissatisfied—the men who like to bet on the result. Everybody wants the same side of the wager, and odds seem to be unavailing.

A Democratic paper that pretends to be supporting Vandiver for Congress says "after the campaign is over Prof. Vandiver will resign his duties in the Normal school." He might as well return to the school now.

We have heard it said that the Democrats of this county would not cover their county ticket. How can they? They were compelled to fuse with the Populists and a Democrat hates a Populist as hard as the devil hates holy water.

Judge Ross will succeed himself as Judge of the Cape Girardeau Court of Common Pleas. The Judge has made a clean record for himself. The people are satisfied with his conduct and they do not want a change in that office.

Mr. Bryan has nothing for the tariff, he said in his letter of acceptance. With a large and growing deficit in the national treasury, some one had best be elected who has time for the tariff, because therein lies the remedy for the deficits.

The monetary system now in vogue in the United States secures the elevation of both gold and silver as money, as no other system has ever done. Coins of both metals are kept at parity and an enormous volume of each is used.

Next Friday the Democratic and Populist Congressional Committees will meet in Thayer to decide which of the two nominees for Congress shall withdraw from the race. The Democrats almost wish to withdraw and the Populists want Vandiver withdrawn.

If John Jenkins knew how hard some of the leading Democrats of this city were fighting him he would come down here often than he does. The same old crowd that fought Mr. Jenkins in the convention are fighting him still and they are going to black-ball him too.

Free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver has never produced bimetallism; has never secured the concurrent circulation of coins of both metals. One or the other has always been at variance with the legal ratio and hence withdrawn from use as money.

The present season has developed a new campaigning method for the head of such great party. One candidate travels through the land showing himself and speaking to all mankind. The head of the other ticket remains at home and lets all mankind who want to see him and hear him come to him.

Vandiver's name is Dennis. The Democrats say he must get out of Livingston's way and the Board of Regents say he must withdraw from the race for Congress or hand in his resignation as President of the Normal Faculty. Poor Vandiver. He is a good man and he deserved better treatment at the hands of his friends.

A correspondent asks us if George G. Kimmel has quit the Democratic party. Seems to us that the question is too easily to consider. Nearly all the Democrats of this county, and we might add nearly all the Democrats in the West have quit the Democratic party. Mr. Kimmel, we understand, is for Bryan and free silver and he is therefore a Populist.

The little state of Rhode Island furnishes a "less raw material" object lesson in its experience with free trade. There are 100 woolen and worsted mills in the state and 75 of them employ 4,000 hands when running full time in 1892. Now there are only 15 out of the 100 mills that are running at all, and none of them are earning any wages.

Here is a good story: An employer asked his porter, Mike, how he was going to vote. Mike answered that he was going to vote for McKinley. "Why?" exclaimed the employer. "I thought you were a Democrat?" "Yes," responded Mike, "I am a Democrat, but I won't vote for Bryan, for I don't think much of a man that has to run all round the country to get a job."

Repudiation will prevail at the polls on November 3, but it will be repudiation of the free trade and mismanagement of the present national administration.

The Philadelphia Press finds by a canvass of the college presidents in the West and South that all of them are opposed to Bryan and the majority of them will vote for McKinley.

"The people have no money to come to see me," says Bryan. "Therefore I must go to see them." That is true. People who would spend money to go very far to see Bryan are not the kind that succeed in getting ahead.

Quaker isn't it, that a few mine owners, for their own private advantage, should get half of the Democratic party, and some other easily swayed individuals, in an uproar?

The ineluctable fact is, Mr. B. will cannot "carry his own family," in the November election is now supplemented by the report that Mr. Bryan will not receive any votes from the fellow church-members at Lincoln. A leading member of the church declared that he does not know a single member of the church that will vote for Bryan in November.

Where is Lumy Stephens, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Missouri? He is not out seeing the people. He has not appeared at any of the big Democratic meetings. He is not making any speeches. His meddlesome free silver views has not been heard in this campaign. He is a candidate for Governor, but his party is afraid to send him out among the people. He is a backer. He is sleek and these are his recommendations for themselves.

If the wings of America are pain in "200 cent" dollars they will probably not decide to give it a wing away as that. Whether there are "200-cent" dollars or not, it is certain that one dollar will buy many of the necessities of life now than in 1892. And with "McKinley" men there will be more work, more wages, and more demand for flour and all other products.

It is now evident that Ben Cockel will be our next sheriff. Mr. Cockel submitted his name to the Republican convention, received the nomination, and he will get the support of the Republicans almost solid. He is a young man of unblemished character, is popular with both Democrats and Republicans. He is well qualified for the office. He is honest, honorable and clever and he will make the county an excellent Sheriff.

The Republic and other papers are publishing squibs stating that our fellow citizens, Hon. Louis Henck, is expected to coerce all his Railroad employees to vote for Bryan and the fifty cent dollar. The writers of these articles are badly mistaken. Mr. Henck is the last man that would attempt to induce any man by pressure to vote against his principles. Some of the most trusted lieutenants are Republicans and Mr. Henck has a contempt for any man that can be led to the noise. The writer knows whereof he speaks.

No system that could be imagined in this country would induce more to the benefit of England and the old world than free trade. No system would permit of supplying American consumers with foreign made goods and thereby deprive American workmen of making such goods. And yet no one member of congress worked harder for free trade, and hence for American mechanics and manufacturers than did Mr. Bryan. And with such record he goes about the country accusing Republicans of being "under English domination."

The present season has developed a new campaigning method for the head of such great party. One candidate travels through the land showing himself and speaking to all mankind. The head of the other ticket remains at home and lets all mankind who want to see him and hear him come to him.

McKinley at Gordonville. Thursday was a lively day at that out-of-the-way village. By noon the Main street was packed with people from all parts of the country, and at 1 p.m. the Jackson Band took its stand at Henry Kershner's store and several hundred voters formed line and marched through the town in martial order. Drums beating, flags flying from every house along the line of march, while cheering cheer arose to lend life to the scene. The procession halted at the foot of the flag-staff west of Bangert & Morris' store and Mr. C. F. Siemers' pale of grapes, all decorated with flags, was attached to the tackle. When all was ready Mr. Dittlinger, the master of the band, gave the word and under the sweet strains of "Hail Columbia Happy Land," the 100 foot pole rose grandly to its position, then such a burst of cheers Gordonville never heard before. The staff secured old glory rose fluttering to the breeze and took its place beneath the broad McKinley & Hobart streamer while the band discoursed the Star Spangled Banner. Then a second round of cheers followed. The President of the club introduced Judge Ross, who in a short address, presented the principles espoused by the streamer and flag, that of good and staple money, the payment of just debts with honest dollars, a one hundred cent dollar for a day's work. He defended the integrity and independence of the constitutional branch of our Government, the United States Court, and the enforcement of law and maintenance of order, all of which was loudly applauded.

All raised prolonged cheers for the late and McKinley, the people gathered in the grove in front of Siemers' large store. T. H. Glenn, E. C. Taylor of Illinois and others, as well as the speaker, Mr. Dittlinger, expressed their admiration of the speaker, and the efforts of the patriotic citizens who had gathered. He told the people who gathered that the Democratic speakers for the sake of those who had abandoned principle and were trying to lead the Democratic voters into Populist camp. His speech was well received and made a good impression. The people of Gordonville and the surrounding towns deserve much credit for their masterly arrangements, and have proved that their principles are deeply engrained in their hearts and they will give a good account of them on election day.

Beware of swindlers.

We have exposed, during the last year, many swindlers who advertise under the name of medicine, etc. compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a purgative and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters. —Editor Sun.

Frank James is threatening to take the stump for Bryan and free silver.

Col. Robert G. Ingersoll is on the stump for McKinley and honest money.

Workingmen are anxiously awaiting the opportunity to rebuke the policy under which they were promised such great prosperity but under which they have suffered so severely.

Webster Davis will make several speeches in Southeast Missouri before the November election. Mr. Davis is one of the best campaign orators in Missouri and we hope he will visit Cape Girardeau.

The Jackson Cash-Book is still drag on Glyndon. The editor of the Cash-Book don't like Vandiver because he is a Methodist. He had rather vote for a Populist than a Methodist.

Frank E. Burrough and T. D. Hines are dated for several speeches in this county. The Democrats and Populists are making a desperate effort to carry this county, but they are meeting with little encouragement.

Frank E. Burrough and T. D. Hines are dated for several speeches in this county. The Democrats and Populists are making a desperate effort to carry this county, but they are meeting with little encouragement.

Hon. Louis Henck is dated for several free silver speeches in this county for valuing and in railroad lands. Mr. Henck is a level headed man out on the financial question. He is on the wrong side.

Hon. E. S. Taylor of Chicago, Illinois, delivered a speech at the courthouse in this city Thursday night. Mr. Taylor is an able man and his speech was one of the best our people have heard during this campaign. What he says in his speech is said in an argumentative manner, in language that can be understood by all.

If the Republican candidates in this county expect to be elected they are not showing it. They are too certain.

They seem to think the nomination is all that is necessary. They are sitting around talking about their opponents and trying to look wise. Work, work, is what is needed this year and the man who expects to be elected had better be up and at it.

A Kansas editor offers a silk shirt waist, a ready made essay and a box of gum to the high school girl who first sends a correct solution to the following problem: A man purchased groceries to the amount of thirty-four cents. When he came to pay for the goods, he had only a one dollar bill, three cent pieces and a two cent piece. The store keeper had a half dollar and a quarter. They appealed to a bystander, but he had only two dimes and a penny. After some perplexity the change was made to the satisfaction of all.
