The Flowers
To Paint the Laughing Soil."
And not even Nature would allow the flowers to grow and blossom to perfection without good soil. Now Nature and people are much alike; the former must have sunshine, latter must have pure blood in order to have perfect health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood troubles of all sorts. It is to the human system what sunshine is to Nature—the destroyer of disease germs. It never disappoints.

Poor Blood.—The doctor said there were not even drops of good blood in my body. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well. Susan K. Brown, 16 Astor Hill, Lynn, Mass.

Dyspepsia, etc.—A complication of troubles, dyspepsia, chronic catarrh and inflammation of the stomach, rheumatism, etc., made me miserable. Had no appetite until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acted like magic. I am thoroughly cured. N. R. Searcy, 1574 W. 14th Av., Denver, Col.

Rheumatism.—My husband was obliged to give up work on account of rheumatism. No remedy helped until he used Hood's Sarsaparilla, which permanently cured him. It cured my daughter of catarrh. I give it to the children with good results. Mrs. J. S. McMan, Stamford, Ct.

THE ROUGH RIDER,
BUCK TAYLOR, SAYS:
"Pe-ru-na is the Best Catarrh Cure on Earth—It Has Cured Me."

Sergeant Buck Taylor.
Sergeant Buck Taylor, one of the famous Rough Riders, is a personal friend of Governor Roosevelt, of New York. He accompanied Governor Roosevelt on his great stumping tour through upper New York state. He was promoted through gallantry in the field during the late war.

The Sergeant has the following to say of Pe-ru-na: "I think there is no better medicine on earth than Pe-ru-na for catarrh. It has cured me. It would take a volume to tell you all the good it has done me. Pe-ru-na is the best catarrh cure on earth, and I know, for I have tried nearly all of them. Respectfully,"

"Buck F. Taylor."
Winter weather causes catarrh. Everybody knows this. But everybody does not stop to think that winter weather delays the cure of catarrh. It takes longer to cure a case of catarrh in the winter generally, than in the warm season. Spring is here. Now is the time favorable to the treatment of old and especially stubborn cases of catarrh.

DEATH HOLDS A CARNIVAL

Sudden Destruction by Fire of the Windsor Hotel in New York City.

LARGE NUMBERS OF GUESTS PERISH.

The Windows Were Crowded with People Witnessing the St. Patrick's Day Parade, Many of Whom Jumped from Windows and Roof to Instant Death.

New York, March 18.—Flames, which originated from the igniting of a lamp curtain, burst forth from the second floor of the Windsor hotel, at Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon, just as the St. Patrick's day parade was passing the building, and in a few moments they had leaped to the roof and enveloped the entire Fifth avenue and Forty-second street fronts of the hotel. Ten minutes later the flames were roaring through the interior of the hotel, and all escape by means of stairways and elevators was cut off.

Wild Scenes of Excitement.
There was the wildest scene of excitement within and without the building. Hundreds of guests and employees were in the hotel when the fire broke out, and for many of them to escape was simply impossible. Probably from 10 to 15 lives were lost within a half hour, and 30 or 40 persons were injured in jumping from the windows and in rushing through the roaring flames in the corridors and on the stairways.

Died at Near-by Residences.
Many who were injured died later at near-by residences and at hospitals and others who made wild leaps to the stone sidewalks were so badly injured that they are still hovering between life and death. It may be 24 hours and more before the complete list of fatalities becomes known, and it will be longer than that before it can be ascertained definitely how many charred bodies are in the mass of fallen masonry that marks the spot where the hotel stood.

A Spectacular Scene.
The fire was the most spectacular that could be imagined. When it broke out Fifth avenue was crowded with people watching the St. Patrick's day parade, and every window in the front of the hotel facing Fifth avenue was filled with spectators. The day was all that could be desired, and an unusually large number of people were on the streets on that account, a fact which interfered not a little with the movements of the firemen and police.

Drove the People from the Streets.
As soon as the flames were discovered shooting from the windows, that part of the St. Patrick's day procession which was near the building came to a halt, and in a few minutes the parade was disbanded, for the police came rushing toward the fire from every direction, and as far as they were able, drove the people from the streets.

The Fire Engines Appear.
One alarm after another was turned in, and the first of the fire engines were not long in appearing upon the scene. The engines caused a wild scramble among the paraders and spectators as they rushed along the street and fell into positions for service.

Panic-Stricken Guests.
Soon after the first alarm was given people in the lower floors of the hotel, who had easy access to the streets and to the stairway, commenced to pour out of the building in great numbers, but it very soon became apparent that a great majority of the occupants of the hotel were either panic-stricken or unable to make their way to the ground floor. Windows were thrown up on every side of the building, and guests, mostly women, in all stages of terror, made their appearance and uttered frantic appeals to the crowd below for assistance.

Failed to Break Their Awful Fall.
As the flames gathered about them they became more and more terror-stricken, and presently some of them stood upon the narrow window sills and beckoned to the spectators that they were about to leap. Men collected upon the sidewalks ready to render any assistance they could, and in the mean time some of the women left the window sills and dropped to the streets. In most instances the efforts to catch them and break their awful fall were unavailing, for they struck the sidewalk, and in most cases broken limbs were the result.

Many Cases of Heroic Rescue.
As soon as the firemen could get their scaling ladders into position they climbed the sides of the building and entered at every window where there was an unfortunate guest appealing for assistance, and many cases of heroic rescue were witnessed by the throng in the streets.

Taken to Helen Gould's Residence.
At the corner of Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, directly across from the hotel is the home of Miss Helen Gould, and at her direction many of the injured were carried to the house and were treated by physicians and nurses whom she had sent for. In the meantime the chief of police had telephoned to every hospital in the city asking that assistance be sent. Ambulances forced their way through the crowds as quickly as possible, and the injured people who had made the frightful leaps from the hotel windows were placed in them and removed to the hospitals.

Leaped from Windows and Roof.
Several occupants of the hotel appeared at the windows of the sixth and seventh stories and even on the roof and leaped to the streets from those points. Very few of them escaped either instant death or injuries which resulted in their death in a short time later.

The Entire Building in Flames.
In the meantime the entire building was being enveloped in flames, which shot out from every window, and formed a picture which struck terror to all those who were witnessing it.

Fell With An Awful Crash.
Within 40 or 45 minutes after the fire broke out the walls showed every indication of falling, and presently, with an awful crash they struck the asphalt-paved street in front of the hotel, and caused the hundreds of people who were standing there to scatter in every direction. This fall weakened the walls on the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh street sides, and they followed a moment later. When the walls fell the brick and mortar and twisted girders and corrugated iron filled the streets on three sides of the hotel.

Played Streams on Other Buildings.
Firemen continued to play streams upon the flames and also upon all of the adjoining buildings, including Miss Gould's residence, which seemed in imminent danger of catching fire, but the flames were brought under control before they could reach any of them.

A Hall Boy Gives the Alarm.
There were many thrilling scenes in the hotel during the early stages of the fire. A hall boy discovered the flames while he was passing along the fourth floor, immediately over the rooms occupied by President McKinley's brother, Abner McKinley, and his family. The boy pulled a chain attached to the fire alarm, but the chain broke, and then he cried out an alarm of fire, and ran to the floor below. The blaze was then licking up everything on the fifth avenue end of the building, and the lad when he got to the floor above the main hall, ran into the American dining room, and gave the alarm to the guests there. Only a few persons were in the dining room at the time, and they escaped. When the boy reached the main floor, Warren Leland, proprietor of the hotel, was in the rear of the long hall, and the boy shouted to him that the building was on fire.

The First Horror.
The first horror occurred about 12 minutes after the fire broke out. A landlady woman appeared at the window of a room on the fourth floor. She held out her arms to the crowd below. Then she raised her hands as if in supplication, and in a moment climbed to the window and leaped. She landed about like a top, and struck the iron railing in front of the hotel. Her body seemed to be impaled there, but it fell off and into the roadway. She was dead. The woman was identified as Mrs. Amelia Padlock, of Irvington, N. Y.

Heroic Rescue of Several Women.
One of the most thrilling scenes of the fire, at a time when the building was a seething cauldron of flame, was the heroic rescue of several women from the upper stories. One had been carried down from the fifth story. Mrs. A. H. Fuller, of Pittsburgh, then appeared, with her maid, at the window of the fourth story. It seemed an age before the ladder was lowered. Firemen ran up, and with great difficulty brought down Mrs. Fuller and her maid. Just as she was gotten out of the window a middle-aged woman appeared at a window just north of that at which the ladder was placed. The woman, fearing that she would not be rescued, prepared to jump. She was warned to keep back, and became panic-stricken, and stepped back into the dense smoke. A hook-and-ladder man, seeing the desperation of the woman, seized a scaling ladder and went up story after story through the blinding smoke. He climbed to the coping just as the woman reappeared. Seizing her by the waist and holding tightly to the wall of the building, he crept slowly on the coping and passed the fainting woman to another fireman, who had braced himself to receive her. There was a dreadful suspense as the fireman drew the woman toward him, and finally had her safely on the ladder. A tremendous cheer went up from the crowd.

Other Brave Rescues by Firemen.
Fireman John Hanna, of the fireboat Zephyr Mills, rushed through the smoke to the top floor, and found Night Watchman MacNichol, half asphyxiated. Hanna lowered him by means of a wire to the fire escape two stories below, and let himself down the same way. His hands were badly cut by the wire. Then Hanna assisted the old man down the fire escape.

Fireman William Kennedy, of Engine Company 23, rescued a Mrs. Brann from the fourth floor of the hotel by means of a scaling ladder. His rescue was cheered by the immense crowd.

A crippled woman was found on the floor of a room on the fourth floor unable to move, and was carried in safety to the street.

Assemblyman John H. Maher, Sheriff Dunn and Police Commissioners Hesse, Sexton and Abell all assisted in taking persons from the hotel.

RAILROADS ACROSS THE ENGLISH CHANNEL.

The English Parliament is considering the plan of connecting that country with France by railway. Engineers say a roadbed can be laid on the bottom of the English channel, and by mounting trestlework on wheels, so that it projects above the water, the railway can be operated. This seems beyond belief, but it is perhaps no more remarkable than some of the cures accomplished by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in bad cases of dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation. This is an age of wonderful achievements.

INDULGENT MOTHERS

Many a dutiful daughter pays in pain for her mother's ignorance or perhaps neglect. The mother suffered and she thinks her daughter must suffer also. This is true only to a limited extent. No excessive pain is healthy. Every mother should inform herself for her own sake and especially for the sake of her daughter. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for her advice about all matters concerning the ills of the feminine organs.

Many a young girl's beauty is wasted by unnecessary pain at time of menstruation, and many indulgent mothers with mistaken kindness permit their daughters to grow careless about physical health.

MISS CARRIE M. LAMB, Big Beaver, Mich., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—A year ago I suffered from profuse and irregular menstruation and leucorrhoea. My appetite was variable, stomach sour and bowels were not regular, and was subject to pains like colic during menstruation. I wrote you and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used two packages of Sative Wash. You can't imagine my relief. My courses are natural and general health improved."

Mrs. NANNIE ADKINS, La Due, Mo., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel it my duty to tell you of the good your Vegetable Compound has done my daughter. She suffered untold agony at time of menstruation before taking your medicine; but the Compound has relieved the pain, given her a better color, and she feels stronger, and has improved every way. I am very grateful to you for the benefit she has received. It is a great medicine for young girls."
