Council Luncheon Beautiful Affair of Thursday Noon.

The luncheon given by the Council of Jewish Women at Kemp hotel banquet room Thursday was one of the most delightfully original and entertaining affairs ever planned by that organization.

Places were arranged for sixty-members and guests of the Council at the long banquet table, which was very beautifully decorated. Roses, fern and other cut flowers in vases marked the length of the table, with single flowers daintily strewn along the white cloth. Place cards were hand-painted sketches of old fashioned ladies, daintily dressed in hooped skirts and spring bonnets and the individual nut cups were touched with forget-me-nots in blue. The luncheon menu was another reminder of spring, with fresh fruit cocktail, spring chicken, asparagus tips, and other early delicacies among the viands served.

The luncheon program opened with a prayer by Mrs. B. Brettler, after which Mrs. J. L. Art gave two piano solos, the Etude, by Sain-Saens, and Schottish Tone Picture, by MacDowell. Both were beautifully done, and very much enjoyed.

Mrs. A. B. Wolfson, retiring president of the council, acted as toastmistress for the luncheon, presiding with an ease and charm which contributed most happily to the success of the toast program. Mrs. Sam Kruger was first called upon to respond to the toastmistress' suggestion, and paid a most sincere tribute to "The Old Residents of Wichita Falls." Among these Mrs. Kruger specially mentioned Mrs. A. Zundelwitz and Mrs. Risenberg, two of the council "pioneers," and spoke of their work with the council with thoughtful appreciation. Mrs. H. G. Yuridin, following, toasted the newcomers to the city, giving her impressions as a newcomer, and naming the council a "life saver" to the stranger in the synagogue.

Mrs. H. Karlsburg, a special guest from Bowie, responded to the welcome to the out of town guests, declaring appreciation for each of the group for the attractive hospitality of the council hostesses.

Mrs. Wolfson's message to the council, as retiring president, was one of the most interesting features of the luncheon to the members. Mrs. Wolfson spoke of the splendid co-operation given her by the membership the past year, and of the harmony which had prevailed throughout the work of the organization. At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. A. Horwitz, vice president of the council, presented the retiring president with a beautiful basket of flowers as a tribute of love and respect from her co-workers. Mrs. Horwitz quoted very beautifully and appropriately from the sages, "He who guideth the community in the right path will incur no sin, but he who causeth the community to sin will not be suffered to repent."

"You have done your work nobly; you have never shirked your duty. And so, to show our thanks, our respect, our esteem, our love, it is my privilege to present this basket of flowers, a gift which always touches our heart strings."

Mrs. Louis Pink, president-elect, made a most interesting talk on "Our Watchword," featured by the plea for the giving up of little prejudices and little feelings, wherever any obtained and working in unity, at the conclusion of which the council joined in the singing of the council song, words to which were written by Mrs. Pink, with the music to the air of "Alice Blue Gown."

At the conclusion of the formal program the entertainment feature of the occasion opened and proved the hit of the luncheon. Mrs. I. A. Fine opened the "vaudeville" hour with a violin "re-creation" take-off which was very mirth-provoking. Mrs. Fine was appropriately attired as a virtuoso performer, with a heart-shaped boudoir cushion in lieu of the traditionally correct white handkerchief protecting her throat and cheek. She paused at intervals to permit the full effect of the "re-creating" to be appreciated—which it was.
