

IMPROVING RIGHT OF WAY

Minneapolis & St. Louis Guarding Against Delays.

Crew and Ditcher Now at Work in Fritsche Ravine.

Steam Shovel to Remove Surplus Dirt on Searles Hill.

Precautions are being taken by the Minneapolis & St. Louis railway against a recurrence of the annoying land slides which so delayed traffic last spring. They will also guard against any more wrecks on the Searles hill and intend spending several thousand dollars this fall improving their right of way near New Ulm. Both of the big cuts leading to this city will be rendered safer and the work which has been planned is on an extensive scale.

At the point between this city and Klossner where the land slides occurred a few months ago a crew of men is now at work. This place, which lies about half way up the Fritsche ravine, has been a source of worry and annoyance to the officials ever since the road was first constructed. During wet weather trains coming down the Klossner hill have always been compelled to run slowly or take the risk of a derailment and after an unusually heavy rain they were practically certain to encounter delay. Upon several occasions last spring the line was absolutely blocked and it was impossible for trains to pass the obstruction for nearly twenty-four hours.

After several slides had occurred a gang of Italians was sent here to keep the track clear but the relief which they gave was only temporary and now the officials of the road propose to make improvements which they hope will prove lasting. They have a large, pneumatic ditcher at work in the ravine and it is intended to scoop out a capacious drain on both sides of the track. These will be large enough to carry off all surface water and to receive such earth as may become loosened and slide toward the rails. The dirt obtained from the excavations is being used on the fill of the Minnesota river bridge and the men engaged expect to complete their task before the end of the week.

Within ten days another crew will be sent here to work on the Searles hill. Here the engineers of the road have to contend with an entirely different problem. Near the top of the hill and at the point where the Cambria wagon bridge crosses the track there are a myriad of springs and the overflow from these keeps the earth along the track continually moist and soggy. In the winter months instances are frequent where the water has covered the track, forming ice, and last February a north-bound passenger train was derailed through this cause, the heavy engine mounting the ice and then sliding for several hundred feet.

At that time there were no casualties but the road might not again escape so fortunately and steps will be taken to remove the danger. A steam shovel and gravel train will be detailed to perform the labor, which is expected to require at least a fortnight, and surplus earth will be used to fill in the series of small trestles on the hill and also on the long bridge across the Cottonwood river. The latter has sunk about three feet since being filled last spring and it will require several hundred carloads of dirt to make it firm and unyielding.

HAD HUSBAND ARRESTED

In St. Paul Friday a sensational incident occurred which escaped the eyes of the reporters there. Mrs. Ada Seeley of this city, while walking along a street there, encountered her husband, W. E. Seeley, who recently attempted to secure a divorce from her, the application being denied by a South Dakota judge. Seeley was ordered to pay over to his wife $40 per month alimony, which order he has not seen fit to obey. When the wife met the husband she immediately called upon an officer to arrest him.

Seeley was taken to the police station where it was discovered that the St. Paul officers had no jurisdiction in the matter. Of course Seeley was discharged from custody. As the couple left the station rain commenced to fall. Seeley had an umbrella and Mrs. Seeley didn't. Mrs. Seeley was anxious for the protection of her "hubby's" "bombers" and she asked him to escort her to the hotel. Seeley, however, darted off and went down the street at a pace only equaled by Dan Patch. He did, however, have time to turn around and laugh derisively at his wife.

Mrs. Seeley will keep an eye on Seeley, who is said to contemplate going west. She will have his photograph sent to all the police officials in the western country, with instructions to arrest him. There's a happy time in store for Seeley.—Mankato Free Press.

DISTRESS AFTER EATING CURED.

Judge W. T. Holland of Greensburg, La., who is well and favorably known, says: "Two years ago I suffered greatly from indigestion. After eating, great distress would invariably result, lasting for an hour or so and my nights were restless. I concluded to try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it cured me entirely. Now my sleep is refreshing and digestion perfect." Sold by all Druggists.

ROASTED CHILD TO DEATH

Brutal Negro Boasts of Cruelly During Massacre.

Was With Little Crow's Band in New Ulm Attack.

Joe Godfrey Has Never Ventured From Santee Reservation.

"Yes Joe Godfrey is alive and living on his farm or land on the Santee Indian reservation," remarked one of the young Santee agency Indians who are in the city to a reporter for the Argus-Leader this afternoon.

"He was married to his second wife, a girl about seventeen years old, a few months ago, his first wife having died a year or two since."

Joe Godfrey is the negro who was with the Santee Indians at the New Ulm, Minn., and the Spirit Lake, Ia., massacre, almost a half century since, and he is now about seventy years of age. He returned to the reservation after the war expedition of the Santees with those Indians and married a squaw, thereby becoming a ward of the government, or rather living off the rations and annuities issued by the government to his dusky spouse.

Men who know of Godfrey's residence on the reservation have often speculated as to why he has been permitted to exist at that point. He has never left the reservation since he took up his residence there and the reason given for that is that he was afraid of being killed by some of the white people who reside near the reservation for his participation in the massacres mentioned above.

It has been stated that two or three men went from Minnesota to Springfield many years ago and took up their residence for the very purpose of killing this negro at the first opportunity when he was off the reserve and that he has never dared trust himself in Springfield nor any other community of white people.

It is stated upon good authority that Godfrey has frequently related at Indian pow wows and councils on the Santee reserve the part which he took in the New Ulm massacre and he seems to have enjoyed what he did at that time.

One feature of his narrative is a statement to the effect that he killed a white man and woman and then took their infant child, placed it in a huge sheet iron pan and then placed the pan in the oven of the stove and roasted it to death.

This story he told at the last time at an Indian feast at the Santee about eleven years ago. Today he owns a fine farm at Santee and his wife is a young Indian woman. A number of the Indians who took part in the New Ulm affair were hung for their crime but Godfrey who seems to have lived off the government ever since. His hair is gray now, but what he has done is still fresh in the minds of many people.—Sioux Falls Argus-Leader.

"Joe Godfrey is well remembered here," said Judge S. A. George, of the probate court, to a Review reporter. "In the early days he resided between New Ulm and the lower agency and his frequent visits to this city made him a familiar figure. He was a medium-sized negro and there is little doubt but that he practised atrocious cruelties during the massacre. He made partial reparation for his brutal acts, however, by exposing his former comrades-in-arms after their capture by the government forces. He was one of the prosecution's strongest witnesses and it was largely upon his testimony that the thirty-eight Sioux Indians were convicted and hanged at Mankato."

MILL TO RUN FULL TIME

New Ulm Feed and Cereal Will Grind Rye Flour.

Beginning this week the New Ulm Feed and Cereal mill, which up to now has been running only two or three days each week, will start operating under full time. This decision on the part of the management is due to the fact that the new rye crop is beginning to come in and they desire to commence grinding their rye flour for the market. The mill will be operated to its full capacity and for several months to come steady employment will be furnished for a crew of men.

When the New Ulm Roller Mill company remodelled and reopened the cereal mill last fall they created a better market for rye than New Ulm had been able to boast of for years and their action influenced many farmers to turn their attention to the grain in question. As a result a great deal of rye was raised near New Ulm and through the eastern end of Brown county this season and it is thought that there will be nearly enough to supply the local demand. A small quantity, of course, will have to be shipped in, but the bulk of the grain will be bought from the farmers about here and at the present high prices there is a neat profit assured for the growers.

Manager Ben Stockman of the mill company, counts upon producing fifty barrels of rye flour daily but this is not the limit of the cereal mill's capacity. Graham flour, corn meal, several kinds of breakfast foods and a number of varieties of feed are turned out while the rye is being ground and the plant really has a very respectable output.

Unlike wheat flour, that ground from rye may be shipped west as well as east. From the local mill consignments are sent in all directions, but the principal markets are found along the lines of the Minneapolis & St. Louis and the Chicago & Northwestern. The other products, including the feed, are disposed of at points in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois. This year the prospect for good business is very bright and a large part of the output has already been contracted for.

PERCENTAGE VERY HIGH

Majority of High School Graduates go Away to College.

One of the criterions of successful educational work is the number of graduates who go away to college to take up higher branches and in this respect the New Ulm high school has been remarkably fortunate. Of the seventy-nine young men and women who have been given the diplomas of the institution during the past twelve years, between sixty and seventy have matriculated at more advanced schools, a very high percentage and a record which is probably equalled by but few other high schools in the state.

Naturally Superintendent E. T. Critchett and his corps of teachers are rather proud of their ability to instill into their students a desire for greater learning and at the request of the Review the former has supplied this paper with a list of recent pupils who are now studying at well known colleges or who have adopted teaching as a profession. This will prove of interest locally and, divided into classes, is as follows:

THE GENUINE VS. COUNTERFEITS.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by all Druggists.

SAW SIGHTS AT CARNIVAL

Crowd of New Ulmites Descended Upon Sleepy Eye.

Wednesday Night's Excursion an Unqualified Success.

Visitors Enjoyed Their Evening Among the Attractions.

New Ulm invaded Sleepy Eye last Wednesday night and for several hours the visitors remained in complete possession of the town. They paraded the streets of Senator Somerville's bailiwick, saw all that was worth seeing at the carnival and returned home at midnight after having spent a very enjoyable evening. It is estimated that between 350 and 400 people went up on the excursion and the latter is regarded as one of the most successful every sent out of the city.

Long before time scheduled for the special train to start the crowd had begun congregating at the Northwestern depot and when the locomotive and four coaches arrived from the west there was an immense throng in waiting. As the train drew up to the station there was a grand rush for seats and every one available was soon pre-empted, many persons being compelled to stand in the aisles during the trip.

The run to Sleepy was made in very good time and, arrived in Griffithville, the excursionists, with the Concordia and Second Regiment bands, formed in line and marched to the principal street, where the tents of the attractions had been pitched. There both bands rendered selections and during the remainder of the evening the boys of the Concordia continued to play, they receiving many compliments from the townspeople of Sleepy Eye.

The Patterson & Brainerd Carnival company, which furnished the attractions for the fair, have a nice line of amusements. Shortly after reaching their destination the excursionists were able to see one of the performers mount a spiral tour upon a huge ball and later they visited all of the shows in turn. Almost without exception these were good, they consisting of a Hindu magician, a troupe of glass blowers, trick bicycle riders, stereopticon pictures of Champion Jeffries and others, the electrical fountain, Ferris wheel and miniature railroad.

On the return trip the train left Sleepy Eye shortly after 11:30 o'clock and made the run to this city in a trifle less than twenty-five minutes. Expressions of satisfaction were heard on all sides and G. W. Barnes, F. W. Johnson and the other gentlemen who arranged for the affair are entitled to great credit for the successful manner in which it was carried out. Neighboring attentions such as these promote the best of feeling between the two cities and for this reason should be encouraged.
