No member of the family will appreciate the advantage of gas in the home in as great a degree as will the housewife.

She knows its value these hot, sweltering days. It is a real comfort to be able to turn on the gas, touch a match to it and prepare a meal in a few moments.

The woman, who has to cook over a hot stove is in misery during the summer months. Life is a burden to her while doing her household duties over a stove.

The price of wood and coal is advancing rapidly and gas is now an economical fuel.
