Secretary.

CONFESSION TO A "GAM- BLER."

My Dear Boy:
I received your funny postal with a rowdy, drunken man being arrested by a drunken policeman and under the picture
"When a body meets a body Coming full of rye" and, as I suppose it was a hint, I take it with the following explanation and confession, for I see worse than ever the necessity of not only avoiding evil, but even the least appearance of evil.

Over a year ago the best doctor in this part of the state positively ordered me to take a little whiskey to 6 parts of water before meals. As I knew nothing about whiskey I complied reluctantly with his prescription at first, not so reluctantly later on.

I recovered my appetite and thought whiskey had done wonders for me. I never took a drink outside the hours prescribed by the doctor, and I never was under the influence of it because I took it sparingly, but as I had it, and when I did not have it, a friend of mine got it for me from a local drug store, which I will not name, or through a town official whom I will not name, I made the blunder of treating several members of the funnel gang of Prescott and thus it got out that I was a drinking man.

Months ago I noticed that I could get along without a stimulant and this thought, together with a look of distress on my wife's face as she detected the odor of the stuff on me, made me quit it abruptly regardless of the doctor's protest.

A woman's look of distress has been a powerful factor for good in my life.

When I was ten years old I took it into my head to smoke and be a man. The first thing I hit upon was a very strong cigar.
The outcome was disastrous and humiliating in the extreme. My dear mother, in her fond simplicity, thought I was poisoned, and her look of anguish as she nursed me haunted me for months until I gathered up courage and confessed to her that I had smoked on that dreadful day.

The look of distress of that dearest and sweetest of mothers caused me never to use tobacco in any shape or form since and the look of distress of the best and most sensible wife in Arkansas makes me hate whiskey forever.

Health or no health, I want no more whiskey in mine, and the fact that I enjoy the best of health now convinces me that I would have gotten well without it.

"Whiskey," as Sam Jones says,
"is a good thing in its place, but its place is in hell."

As to you, my dear Boy, I know you as the sender of that postal. I hope you will not misjudge me any longer. I am very much interested in you and all boys, and I regret that you

"SNAP SHOTS". [By B. F. Arnold.]

Stand "pat" for principles.
Its a poor moule that wont work both ways.

No question is ever settled until it is settled right. Take notice, Mr. Bryan.

Time and tide wait for no man, but the women wait, they say.

Gold and Silver is not money, money is a creature of law, gold and silver is a creature of nature.

Railroads are instruments of government, consequently the government should own them.

The independent voter makes "Shylock" and the politician quiver in their boots, the party slave, the "yaller dog" voter is his toothsome diet.

History fails to record where an old political party or organization ever reformed, a government. Reforms emanate from among the common people.

How long, Oh Lord, how long will the people continue to be fooled by the politician.

CLEAN UP.

Our mayor and council are to be commended for ordering concrete sidewalks on the main streets of the town, and the walks constructed so far seem substantial and very neat, the latter so much so that a certain sick man got up 24 hours ahead of his time in order to promenade on his beautiful sidewalk when he ought to have been in bed.

But the law of harmony requires that our streets should be kept neat and clean so as not to disgrace the sidewalks.

With a little good will on the part of every resident or storekeeper, our town could be made very attractive.

Suppose, for example, that I keep a store, and a fellow comes along and throws a newspaper or an envelope in front of my store. All I have got to do is to go up to the fellow and ask him to pick up that paper and to chew and swallow it. Should another fellow of the heavy-standing-round class whittle in front of my store, I would prepare a broom to him with the request that he sweep his chips together and put them in his pocket. I would never have to ask the same favor twice of the same man. Now suppose the gutter in front of my store was dirty, it would not be beneath me to get a shovel and clean it out, using the hose to flush it after the cleaning. A few minutes every day would keep my place faultless. Paper and other rubbish I would have in an old iron or tin box in front of my store and burn it in the box.

Wooden boxes will not do because of the whittlers, (see that box at post office and that post at Nevada Co. Bank.)

As for the weeds along the streets, our jail inmates and loafers around the depot could and should be made to remove them. If the town authorities cannot undertake this task, then every householder ought to be requested to clean up in front of his own place.

The marshal of the town should take it upon himself to order people to clean up in front of their houses and stores. Sensible people would respect him for doing it.

Last but not least, if I were marshal I would give special attention to the postoffice where tobacco juice squitters and the whole untidy element of the town make their dumping ground. Instead of going outside to spit, they flood the walls of the office with their filthy product and instead of throwing envelopes and papers in the box provided outside they throw it on the floor. With the best will in the world the postmaster could not keep the place clean, because our public is determined to keep it outrageously dirty.

A. D. MEREDITH-BEAUFORT.

A Young Mother at 70.

"My mother has suddenly been made young at 70. Twenty years of intense suffering from dyspepsia had entirely disabled her, until six months ago, when she began taking Electric Bitters, which have completely cured and restored the strength and activity she had in the prime of life," writes Mrs.
W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Mo.
Greatest restorative medicine on the globe. Sets Stomach, Liver and Kidneys right, purifies the blood, and purifies the blood, and cures Malaria, Biliousness and Weakness. Wonderful Nerve Tonic. Price 50c. Guaranteed by drug store.

The exposures in the Life Insurance has reminded a Northern exchange of Gen. Lee's action. Gen. Lee was offered the presidency of a Northern insurance company at a large salary. He declined saying he had no experience in the insurance business to command such a salary. They replied they considered his name worth it, and he answered, "What influence I have with the Southern people is not for sale."—Exchange.

When the British Association of Scientists quits examining microbes long enough to devote a session to temperance it is evident the world is moving. At their recent meeting Dr. Eccles made the principal address at the temperance session. He em- phasized the point of the injury done to the tissues by small quantities of alcohol. He said children were born not with an inherited appetite but with dis- eased tissues. This is specially the case if the mother had not been a teetotaler, even though she had never been under the influence of liquor.—Exchange.

Nothing to Fear.

Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but it is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup, and can always be relied upon. For sale by Baker Drug Store, wholesale and retail.

The Texas Standard says: "It has come to pass pretty generally that fathers are too busy to give any time to training and safe-guarding their children.
They have turned the whole matter over to their wives, and they are out on a chase for the dollars. Fathers will do well to remember that when God was going to settle with somebody about the conduct of Eli's children, He called for the father of those children, not the mother."— Exchange.

SCHOOL NOTES.

School opened October 1 with

CONTEST NOTICE.

Department of the Interior,
United States Land Office,
Camden, Ark., Oct. 8, 1906.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Luther Anderson, contestant, against homestead entry No. 23925, made December 4, 1900, for northwest quarter of the southeast quarter, section 1, township 19 south, range 22 west, by Rufus M.
Compton, contestee, in which it is alleged that Rufus M. Compton has never established residence upon said land since entry was made and that he has not made any improvements thereon. Said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation at 10 o'clock a. m., November 20, 1906, before J. O.
A. Bush, Notary Public, in his office at Prescott, Arkansas, and that final hearing will be held at 10 o'clock a. m., on November 30, 1906, before the Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office in Camden, Arkansas.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed October 1, 1906, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice, be given by due and proper publication.

An Awful Cough Cured.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with whooping cough and some thought she never would get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs.
Ora Bussard, Brubaker, Ill. This remedy is for sale by Baker Drug Store, wholesale and retail.
