"PERSONAL LIBERTY"

The liquor dealers, recognizing that their very obvious pecuniary interests would lessen the weight of an argument which they might publicly advance, are making their fight under cover of organizations purporting to present those who use liquor. Any well-meaning men have been misled into believing that every attempt to lessen the evils of intemperance is a "factual attack" on "personal liberty."

It is time the phrase "personal liberty" were defined. What is meant by "personal liberty?"

Does it mean that a person has a right to drink in any quantity, at any time, and at any place, no matter what injury he may inflict upon others? If not, to whom rests the right to fix limitations?

A drunken man is a menace to the lives and property of those about him; have his neighbors a right to protect themselves? A drunkard robs his wife and children, and he may finally take his family and himself a large upon society; has society a right to protect itself?

The saloon is next-of-kin to the brothel and the gambling den; it is a rendezvous for the criminal element and the willing accomplice of the corrupt politician; has not the body politic a right to protect itself from the demoralization which the saloon works?

The right to drink does not necessarily include the right to demand the establishment of a saloon. The right to drink is sufficiently protected by any arrangement that permits the reasonable use of liquor under reasonable conditions; and it must be remembered that the right to drink, like any other right, can be forfeited. Nothing is more sacred than the right to life, and yet one may forfeit his right to life if he uses it in such a way as to threaten the life of another. So, the man who drinks to excess may forfeit the right to drink; even the moderate drinker may forfeit the right to drink in moderation if, not content with reasonable regulation, he insists that liquor shall be sold under conditions that constitute a menace to the home and the state.

The man who desires to drink moderately ought to join with those who seek to reduce the evils of drink to the lowest possible point, instead of allying himself with those who ignore the evils of intemperance and resist every effort put forth for the protection of society.—The Commoner.

DESPAIR FOLLOWS JOY AT CHERRY

None Is Added to List of Rescued and 198 Men Are Still Entombed in Mine.

Coerry, Ill., Nov. 21.—What had promise to be Cherry's real day of Thanksgiving ended in a night of hope deferred or despair.

All the long day the vigil was kept. At the end of it no living man or boy had been added to the list of the 20 rescued yesterday. At nightfall the toll stood 20 saved, 92 known dead and 198 missing.

All day long the tolling of church bells resounded in Cherry and Spring Valley. Eighteen bodies were interred today in a field south of the town. At the mine coffins of a dozen victims awaiting removal, while a score of caskets were piled near by for those who are to come.

Squads, relieving each other at frequent intervals, are working frantically to remove obstacles obstructing the east workings of the mine, for here, if anywhere, it is believed more survivors await deliverance.

On account of getting out a day ahead of time this week, we were forced to leave out some of our correspondents letters. We regret this and trust it will not happen again soon.

All parties found hunting or otherwise trespassing on my premises northwest of town will be prosecuted. E. A. Hale.

If you owe me anything, call and settle at once. I accommodated you, now I need the money. If not settled by the 5th of December will put all accounts in the hands of an attorney.

EMMET SCHOOL NOTES

The cool weather is infusing fresh vigor into all the students. The class-room work is on the up grade.

All of the students are pleading for two days' vacation for Thanksgiving. It must be that they have a lot to be thankful for since it takes so long to give thanks.

At the request of Hope, the basket-ball game between Emmet and Hope will be postponed until some time after Thanksgiving. The reason for postponement is that some of the Hope boys want to see the big football game and attend the oratorical contest at Ouachita College.

Prof. Brockman has agreed to teach a class in vocal music. This class meets for the first time Tuesday evening at six thirty. work will be continued 8, 15

We expect to build up an enthusiasm for good vocal music.

This is a great opportunity for any one who wishes to study this subject to do so at a very reasonable cost. Every student of piano ought to know something of vocal music.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thomas and Prof. Crump attended the Baptist State Convention at Arkadelphia. They report an abundance of food both mental and physical. The Convention was great and had many great features. But the greatest feature of all was the noble way in which the Baptists of the state came to the rescue of their educational institutions, Ouchita College and Central College will now be placed on a firm financial basis. The debt of the institution have been provided for and endowment fund started. We rejoice in this triumph in the educational world and wish for these great institutions a still greater future.

To us all women are mysterious but none are profoundly more mysterious than others. We will give a gold dollar to any one who will conjugate the word "woman."

The xmas holidays are coming on apace, but we have been so busy we have hardly had time to think of Xmas. We remember that examinations will intervene. We cannot enjoy the holidays unless we make a good record in school and feel that we deserve a rest.

If you want to see a scowl come over a certain teacher's face just mention disarranged benches.

Some of us are hoping that Leo Hines will not get that school. He is such a good student and excellent basket-ball player that we should regret exceedingly to lose him from our institution.

We are glad to note that the Baptist church of this place is making arrangements to purchase an organ. "Ther's music in the air."
