CATTLE DIPPING SAVES OUACHITA

Only County in South Arkansas
That is Not Under Quarantine.

For the past month Ouachita has been the South Arkansas Mecca for Texas buyers who, lured by most excellent prospects of an exceptional grass season in the coast counties of their own state, are vying with each other in securing Arkansas cattle and rushing them home to get them as quickly as possible on the now succulent Texas grazing grounds.

This has opened a fine cattle market for Ouachita county owners at a time when very badly needed. Due to excessive moisture and repeated overflows, our ordinarily fine range has been rendered virtually nil as a sustaining agent, with the result that most range cattle are reduced practically to a state of exhaustion brought about by inanition from lack of grazing facilities.

The outlet to Texas is proving a life-saver for these cattle, and from an economic standpoint, their owners as well for were it not possible to sell them for shipment to Texas, most of them would be a total loss, as their condition bars them from the food animal market.

Again, this Texas outlet procures for Ouachita county owners not only a market for these otherwise practically unmarketable animals, but an increase as well of from ten to fourteen dollars a head over and above what could be gotten for the cattle for any purpose under favorable conditions. Twenty-four cars averaging forty head to the car, have already gone and others will follow as fast as buyers can get them together.

This shipping is made possible only by the fact that Ouachita county is not under quarantine. Adjacent quarantined counties of Dallas, Calhoun, Nevada and Union (the latter about to be returned to quarantine) have not this privilege, they being restricted to shipment under Federal quarantine to recognized slaughter centers for immediate slaughter only, with the not far distant prospect of even this meager outlet being closed to them. The paralyzing effects of the latter contingency on the cattle industry in the counties mentioned, can readily be grasped.

The cattle at present in these counties are, least to say, in as bad condition as are those in Ouachita, and by being prevented by quarantine from shipping as freely as Ouachita, cattle owners there are missing the benefits at present accruing to owners in counties not under quarantine.

R. A. L. Order No. 269, issued by the secretary of agriculture, and now in full force, prohibits the movement of cattle for any purpose except as quarantined cattle to recognized market centers, from Dallas, Calhoun, and Nevada counties, with Union and possibly Columbia counties about to be included. To the federal regulations governing the foregoing counties are added the following state regulations now in full force and effect: "Cattle from above described territory are not allowed to be shipped, trailed or transported or be allowed to drift to any other area in the State of Arkansas except as prescribed by federal regulations governing the movement of quarantined cattle."

As fast as men can be secured to supervise dipping localities showing infestation by fever ticks, will start dipping under supervision, and continue at fourteen day intervals and continue until infestation is eradicated. An important factor in cooperation is watching against re-infestation from adjacent counties. Owners menaced from this source should have no hesitancy in reporting to the county supervising inspector any violations coming under their observation, as the man who thus violates is no friend of theirs since he is deliberately jeopardizing the livestock interests of his neighbors by permitting undipped cattle to enter territory where the people are making an effort to clean up. A tip to the supervising inspector on his case will bring swift results.

Full cooperation along all lines will achieve the gratifying result, not only of eliminating any remaining infection, but of stamping Ouachita as the most progressive of all the South Arkansas counties.—Stephens News.

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes:
"From the time I entered into womanhood . . . I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with my back and bearing-down pain, until life to me was a misery. I would think I could not endure the pain any longer, and I gradually got worse. . . Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, . . . I decided to

The Woman's Tonic

"I took four bottles," Mrs. Jones goes on to say, "and was not only greatly relieved, but can truthfully say that I have not a pain. . .

"It has now been two years since I took Cardui, and I am still in good health. . . I would advise any woman or girl to use Cardui who is a sufferer from any female trouble."

If you suffer pain caused from womanly trouble, or if you feel the need of a good strengthening tonic to build up your run-down system, take the advice of Mrs. Jones. Try Cardui. It helped her. We believe it will help you.
