Those who wish to apply through me for a policy with the Mutual Aid Union will do well to put in their application as soon as possible as I probably will not write for that company here larger than March the first. Every one who loves his family wants to provide for their protection against want, and consequent embarrassment in event of his death. Many can not do so except by securing a policy on his life. The least expensive policy of which I know is that issued by the Mutual Aid Union. See me at your earliest convenience at the News office on Main street. I know not when there will be another agent here for that company.—W. M. Crowson

Weigh it!

Calling a can "a gallon" doesn't always mean that it contains a gallon. When someone offers you a "bargain" in paint, weigh it; measure it; spread it—then test a gallon of B. M. P. paint in the same way. You'll find that is honest in quantity and quality; that a gallon of it goes farther, lasts longer and retains its brilliancy and color better than other kinds.

B. M. P. house paint will not peel or blister; wears down in such a way as to leave the best possible surface for repainting.

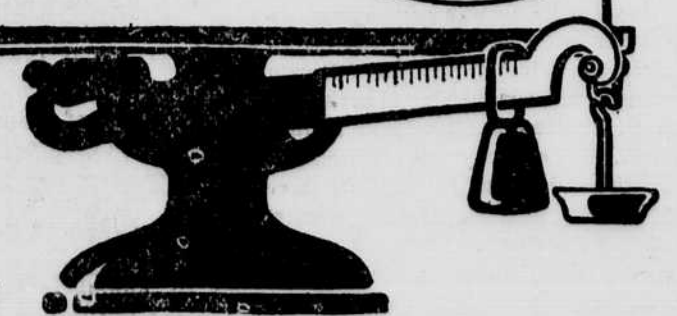

Special service free!

We are authorized to offer those who plan house-painting the special service of the B. M. P. Art Department, which will submit suggestions for color-schemes, free of charge. Call today, get the B. M. P. color card and let us explain this special service.

"B. M. P." stands for Best Made Paint. There is a B. M. P. kind for every purpose.
