COTTON GROWING WELL

Chopping Cotton is the Order of the Day in Arkansas.

Little Rock, June 3.—(Special) — Temperatures were high during the past week, especially the latter portion, a temperature of 95 degrees being reported at Little Rock Monday, the highest May temperature on record at that station. The mean for the week was about 6 degrees above normal. Light local showers were reported at a few stations, with no rain elsewhere. The soil is becoming very dry in some western and southern portions, but is in good condition in central, eastern and northern sections.

The weather was very favorable to farm work and for cotton, but too dry for most other crops. Cotton made very good progress and is well cultivated. Chopping is nearly completed in southern localities and is progressing rapidly in other portions. The general condition of the crop is improving and it is now reported fair to good. Corn made very good progress except in western and southern portions where it was too dry. Some cotton is still being planted in eastern sections. Wheat and oats are nearly matured and are reported good. The rice crop is nearly planted and reported in good condition, but needing rain. It was too dry for meadows, pastures, truck and berries.
