P. F. Welch returned from the east Sunday and reported his Fourmile ventures in prosperous shape.

The county commissioners were in session this week. Their doings will appear in next week's HERALD.

Manager Moulton of the Hugus company, left for Rifle Monday to superin-tend "stock-taking" at the branch store.

Dr. Ironsides departed Tuesday morn-"hold your jaw" until he comes.

On July first Meeker became a national money order office, which means that you can draw a money order payable anywhere in the world where the United States has postal connections.

A report comes in from Piceance to the effect that T. E. Bailey has discovered a fine body of asphaltum at the head of Stewart gulch. The vein is said to be the largest in the county.

While out irrigating on Tuesday, A. W. Greenstreet of Buford, was struck by lightening and instantly killed. Deeeased was buried on Thursday in the Buford cemetery, Rev. Sutherland holding religious services

The inherent greed of man (or more properly speaking in the present in-stance—cursedness) was fully illustrated brought back some very fine quartz on Piceance lately where Water Com-missioner Moog found people ruining their ranches with too much water rather than let their neighbors have any.

The Irrigation Age, an illustrated staved and witnessed the antics of the monthly journal devoted to the wants and development of the western states and territories, is the best publication of its class in the country. It should be in the hands of every person interested in the subject of irrigation. Address, Major block, Chiengo

General Road Overseer Bowman returned from Rangely Wednesday, after several weeks spent in superintending road work between that place and the state line. The county is spending nearly a thousand dollars in that section on roads, all of which is made necessary by the heavy asphaltum teaming.

As, previously announced in these last Sunday, morning and evening, preaching to large audiences on both occasions. The bishop is an eloquent, them. He departed Monday morning, Park ranges. accompanied by the Rev. Ostenson, on a missionary trip through eastern Routt and Grand counties.

C. P. Hill, deputy road overseer for old folks. the Rangely district, was a visitor to the Grand Junction-Green River City railroad project, as they think the proposed road is not likely to get beyond the confines of newspaper discussion. He says the opening of the reservation other female relatives without number sorbing all attention down there now.

G. S. Allsebrook returned to Meeker in the early part of the week after a three weeks buggy trip through Northern Colorado. During his trip, Mr. Alisebrook traveled over seven hundred miles, going out via the Rawlins road and then east along the route of the U. P. in Southern Wyoming until the headwaters of the Cache la Poudre was reached, down which stream he traveled to Fort Follins. He also visited the St. Vrain, Big and Little Thompson St. Vrain. Big and Little Thompson valleys, and the Platte valley in the vicinity of Greeley and Fort Lupton. Fine farms and evidences of prosperity were visible on every hand in the sections visited east of the continental divide, and west of the divide the range was found to be in excellent condition. Mr. Allsebrook returned home by way of Berthoud pass, Middle Park, Gore range, Egeria Park, Hayden and Yel-low Jacket pass, very much pleased with the results of his trip.

Meeker and Coal Creek crossed bats again last Sunday, at the Red Stock-ings' grounds, and when the game was called at the end of the fourth inning, on account of rain, the city chaps were several runs ahead. The Reds are a little too swift for the boys from the ered in the Postoffice at Meeker, Rio Bianco rural "deestricts," but, as we said last week, the Blues have several very good players among their number and a lit the more practice will make them for-midable opponents. Their battery, the Lute Johns and John Dyer, is strong. At first they have one of the best players in either nine in the person of Sam Dyer, and George Bloomfield holds down the bag at second in a very creditable manner. Sherman Fiske, at short picks up a ball as quick as anybody but doesn't always use good judgement in selecting the base to throw it to. With practice. Charley Bloomfield will also be all right. All things considered, the Coal Creek boys are a promising lot.

> Water Commissioner Moog had some disagreeable experiences on Piceance and tributaries during his late official trip through that region. In one or two instances when he shut off water from those who had neither legal or any other right to it he was threatened and abused for performing his duty according to Mr. Moog is a state officer an such will be backed by the power of the state in the discharge of his duty. Be-sides, he is a man that will neither be bluffed or intimidated in the perform ance of his duties. Some people on Piceance may as well learn these facts first as last.

Editor Warner of the Rifle Reveille, sums up a recent trip through Rio Blanco and Routt counties as follows: Rio Blanco and Routt counties have a delightful summer climate, excellent DR. C. E. RENNEBAUM, stock ranges, unparalleled fishing and Dr. Ironsides departed Tuesday morn-ing to fill his Yampa river engagements. He will be back about August first, so metals, coal, mineral springs, abundance of good water, and with railroad connections, will be heard from in all the future affairs of the state of Colo-

> Doris Marcott, one of upper White river's solid and respected citizens, paid THE HERALD a visit Wednesday and among other things informed the editor that the mysterious disappearance of sundry horses is still a source of annov-ance to settlers in the eastern end of the county. Had it not been for the unexpected death of one of their number, the North and South Fork settlers would have celebrated the Fourth with their old time enthusiasm.

W. H. and George Welch are back from the Fourmile region, where they have been doing assessment work and specimens.

D. D. Taylor and L. J. Tagert represented Piceance in the early part of the week. The former got away before we could have any fun with him, but Link

Gus Stromberg, H. G. Brown, J. L. Parker, D. Kennedy, H. Goff and Wm. George, formed a jolly party from the vicinity of Thurman creek, all of whom celebrated the Fourth in Meeker.

Mrs. Charles Ellis of Denver, was a passenger on the incoming stage Wednesday, and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Craig for a few weeks.

Mr. J. D. Dickinson of Epworth, Ia.,

came in Wednesday on his annual visit to his son and daughter, Mr. Charles J. Dickinson and Mrs. A. L. Durham.

As previously announced in these columns, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Leonard held divine services at St. James church to make the Fourth of July ball the acknowledged successs that it was
