Terrible Railroad Wreck.

Second only in the annals of railroad calamities in Colorado to the Eden disaster of August 7, 1904, when nearly 100 were killed, was the wreck on the Denver and Rio Grande about 25 miles west of Pueblo, between Portland and Adobe, about 2:30 o'clock last Friday morning. Running at ordinary speed train No. 8, westbound, and train No. 16, eastbound met on a curve about two miles west of Portland and collided, head-on, the engines and seven cars being wrecked.

Added to the wreck calamity was the horror of the fire that almost immediately enveloped the trains and caused the death of probably 30 or 35 passengers and three trainmen.

The known dead are:
William Hollis, Engineer train No. 16.

Walter Cosslett, engineer train No. 8.

H. D. Sudduth, fireman train No. 16.

There was a long list of injured none of whom hail from this county.

THE DEADLY SNOWSLIDE.

A dispatch from Silverton, Colo., Monday, says: Twelve miners employed at the Shenandoah mine, were caught by a great snowslide early this morning and swept to their death. Their bodies have not yet been recovered. Assistance has been summoned from Silverton to help dig the victims from beneath the snow.

The dead are:
Jacob Theobald.
Jesse Shaw.
Gus Hoia.
Peter Coledurg.
Bert Albert.
Edward Kirk, formerly of Ouray.
"Slate" Branton.
Emile Boss.
Gustavson.
Margelo.
Piccolo.
One unknown.

According to a report received from Howardsville, the men were killed by a snowslide which struck the boarding house when the men were at dinner. It is reported that 21 men were caught in the slide and that nine dug their way out, more or less injured.

At the Camp Bird mine, Ouray, one man is reported killed, and over half a million in property damage.

Several deaths are reported from different sections of the Rocky mountains.

Here and There.

Johann Most, the anarchist is dead.

Ex-Judge Bissell died at Denver last Tuesday.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme court knocked over $10,000,000 out of Chicago street railway stocks in one day.

In the six-round bout between Terry McGovern and Battling Nelson, at Philadelphia last Wednesday, the latter won with ease.

Imboden and Hill, the Denver Savings bank thieves, were taken to the penitentiary last Tuesday to serve nine year sentences each.

Vincent St. John, arrested in Idaho as a Steunenberg suspect, was surrendered to the Colorado authorities who claim he is guilty of many crimes in this state.

In Philadelphia two men, recently, had such a falling out over a goat and a small boy, that the police were compelled to "butt in."

Kansas is getting ready to take another "fall" out of the Standard Oil octopus. Good for Kansas.

It strikes one unacquainted in the state as strange that the nomination of the republican party for governor never goes to a prominent man of the party, but is given to someone who has for the first time becomes known to the people. McIntire, Peabody and McDonald were never heard of until they were nominated for office. To those familiar with conditions in that party it is well known, however, that the strong, able men of the party have no desire for the position with its requirements of subservieny (and worse) to the wishes of the powers that control the party for their private uses. The Republican party has members whose personal standing, both for ability and integrity, are a prize to the state; but such men are not candidates for state office.—Idaho Springs Gazette (Rep.)

There is a storm brewing, and the time is approaching when the citizens of the United States are going to make an inquiry into the right by which some men in a few years make hundreds of millions of dollars, rendering them capable of overshadowing the national government," said Senator Dolliver (of Iowa) in the United States senate a few days ago. "I predict that if congress does not agree upon a bill for the regulation of the railroads, the country will be called upon to face a problem of public ownership."

Honest law makers and honest courts will make short work of any trust or other combination in restraint of trade. It is up to the people therefore to provide these necessary agencies instead of contenting themselves with howling and complaining while neglecting to do their duty at the polls.

Two extremes are making a great deal of noise with printers ink just at this time. One is the republican press clamoring for the death of Moyer, Haywood, Pettibone and others and the other is the socialist press asking for a revolution if this action takes place.—Glenwood Avalanche.

The dispatches during the week report an attempt to assassinate Dr. Parkhurst and J. P. Morgan. Apparently some people have no more reverence for a preacher than for a pirate.—Goodwin's Weekly.

Anyway, there is some consolation in the statement of the statisticians that a number of paupers have lived to be 100 years old, but not a single millionaire has attained that age. This is another bearing out the biblical statement that the poor we always have with us.

A murderer executed at Coudersport, Pa., declared this world is full of thieves, and he was glad to be going to a place where there are none. The joke will be on him when he arrives at his destination.

Supplementing the debate on "The Individuality of the Dairy Cow," the dairy convention orators, should devote an evening to "The personality of the American Hen," which recently broke the egg trust.

Governor Johnson of Minnesota says that any man ought to be able, with a little economy, to live on $10,000 a year. There are several of us who would be willing to try it, anyway.

If the railway rate law does not contain loopholes through which several locomotives of mogul size could be driven abreast, some one will be agreeably surprised.

In Savannah Ga., several people died recently after partaking of pork. In congress it has been known to bring on enlargement of the heart.

Raised in an oleaginous atmosphere it was quite natural for John D. Rockefeller Jr., to advise his Bible class to "let your light so shine, etc."

Glass Houses.

"Ha! ha! You don't know how funny these items really are," said the drummer. "Listen to this: 'Ed Mossback was seen driving Sunday. He had a fine new horse and a pretty girl.' Ha! Ha!"

"Wal, I dunno," the goods-box philosopher replied. "Here's an item from the New York 'Howler': 'Mrs. Vander Vest was observed driving in the Park yesterday. It was noted that her lap-dog wore a coat of soft green leather, a departure from the ruby velvet which has been so popular.'—Smart Set.
