ADMIRAL SCHLEY'S STATEMENT.

In reply to the recent attack made upon him by Secretary Long, Admiral Schley made a statement that was remarkable for its courage and dignity, a statement that was characteristic of the man. All men have their faults, and Admiral Schley's greatest fault seems to be his modesty. He has made no effort whatever to magnify his splendid victory over Cervera's fleet at Santiago, contenting himself by merely explaining his conduct during the campaign. It is a matter of history that the Brooklyn was made the target of the Spanish gunners, which clearly demonstrates that the Spaniards well knew that this ship was commanded by the man who was directing the fight against them. To have put the Brooklyn out of action would have increased their chances of escape. It was for this that the flagship was made the chief target for the heavy shells of the Spanish ships. If Admiral Schley made any costly errors during the Santiago campaign they have never been recorded. The cowardly attack made upon him by the Secretary of the Navy was unwarranted. It is plainly an effort to rob the admiral of the credit and glory to which he is justly entitled. Admiral Schley has won the admiration of the world by his valor and ability, and the record that he has made can never be tarnished, nor the love of his countrymen lessened by the calumnious tongue of the Secretary of the Navy.

General Repair Shop.

Mr. A. F. Pharr is now thoroughly equipped in the way of a general repair shop for bicycles, guns, locks and safe repairing and opening as a specialty. He has all the machinery necessary to do any sort of a job in that line, and his skill and long experience are sufficient guarantees of the reliability of the work done. He carries a full line of bicycles, gun shells and sporting goods of all sorts at his place on Newcastle street. Give him a trial.

SUNDAY THOUGHTS.

Lyman Abbot.

Prayer is not always asking for things that we have seen; prayer is not always worshipping—it is sometimes listening. It is talking with God—it is talking to God. In strange ways comes this message of God to us; and it never comes I think, until one is reverent and humble; for reverence and humility are the two ears with which we hear the voice of God. To Christ, you will remember, God's message came through the devil. He went out into the wilderness to study the problem of his life, and temptation after temptation was presented to him. He would undertake to make stones into bread—he can be the world's civilizer. He would fling himself from the crest of the city and have all the people admire him. He would comprise with the world, bow down to it, and then he saw it was the devil who was talking to him, and he said "Get thee behind me Satan, for the Lord thy God, and him only will I serve."

Through temptation, God's voice sometimes comes to us, through the very re-action against a proposition that has been presented to us; but sometimes in one way, sometimes in another, sometimes by an event, sometimes in silence, sometimes by an evil suggestion, sometimes directly, the voice of God comes. And however it may come, to pray is to listen.
If at times you cannot find God, if it is to you as a devoted Christian, once said to me it was with him, "My prayers go no higher than the ceiling," if sometimes you listen and get no answer, and you cry out oh! God, my God; why hast thou forsaken me?
Remember that following after him when you do not find him, longing for him though he does not reveal himself—that also is prayer; and the very struggle toward the unknown God is itself the way in which God reveals himself to the blinded soul.

THE HUMANE SOCIETY.

To the Editor of The Times:

Kindly publish in your columns the following letter which was received by me on Friday last, accompanying a box in which was a beautiful dead pigeon, its breast lacerated by a small bullet wound:

Brunswick, Ga., Feb. 24, 1899.

Mrs. J. E. duBignon,

President Humane Society, Brunswick, Ga.

Dear Madam:

The beautiful and innocent bird which the writer sends you was wantonly shot by some party unacquainted with the divine sense of sympathy and compassion. The destroyer did not need its flesh for food, as it was found lying in the yard which had been its happy home, and occupying the position you do, the writer hopes you will enter a protest against such cruel and aimless sport.

Very respectfully,
BUDDHA.

While sympathizing with the writer and deploring the wanton destruction of all domestic and other birds, I regret that the form of complaint renders it impossible to take action in the matter.

All persons who wish to report cases of cruelty or destruction of life, must give their names, and be able to supply one or more witnesses, otherwise the society is powerless to interfere.

There is an ordinance of the city of Brunswick.

Section 2—part of which reads—"that it shall be unlawful for any person to shoot, or otherwise maim or destroy any sea-gull or other harmless water fowl, not customarily used for human food, or to cause any domestic bird or fowl unnecessary suffering by depriving the same of nec-

HEART DISEASE.

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Troubles.DO NOT BE ALARMED, BUT LOOK FOR THE CAUSE.

Heart troubles, at least among the Americans, are certainly increasing and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way, also the heart is effected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach, and heart and lungs interfere.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Full sized package of these tablets sold by druggists at 50 cents, sold by mail at 75 cents, in any, at book on stomach troubles mailed

The killing of pigeons would come under the head of the last of the section, were the birds not afterwards used for food, the maiming or injuring in any way would be of course actionable.

It must be said however, that without the active co-operation of the city officials, the society is practically handicapped, and an earnest appeal is made to them for their aid.

The communication in the matter of the pigeon which was shot, was addressed to me as president of the Humane Society; having no other means of communicating with the unknown writer, I now beg to say that Dr. J.
A. Butts has been president of the society ever since it was organized, and still occupies that position.

Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night, and with two bottles, has been ab-
