"THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES,
IS OUR ONLY GOVERNMENT, AND IN ITS HONOR AND GLORY MUST WE FIGHT OURS."

THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1867.

We publish elsewhere the recent reconstruction Bill, as arranged and perfected by the combined wisdom and hatred of both houses of Congress.

A careful perusal of its conditions will remove all doubts as to the meaning of its framers, and for this clear exposition of their intentions, we tender our thanks to Congress. Far better to know the full extent of our own humiliation, than, while wandering in doubt and uncertainty, to act in a manner only calculated to rivet the chains already forged for our continued degradation.

The law has now been emphatically laid down to us and no one hereafter can doubt the animus of our foes.

In the Acts hitherto passed, the existence and authority of the President has not been altogether ignored; his position as Commander-in-Chief has, though unwillingly, commanded a certain degree of respect and deference, but in the present bill his authority is utterly contemned and in the hands of the District Commanders and Boards of Registration is placed the supreme dictum, subject only to the disapproval of Gen. Grant and Congress.

It is expressly declared that the present State governments are illegal, and, overruling the late decision of the Attorney General, gives full license to the District Commanders to remove at their option any and all officers holding under such authority.

The power heretofore granted Boards of Registration is enlarged to an alarming extent, and they are now permitted, of their will to strike from or add to the lists of registered voters such names as they may see fit, even though the required oath has been taken and subscribed.

The question of the right of Sheriffs, Clerks, Constables and other County and Municipal officers to register and vote is definitely settled, when it is expressly declared that among the disfranchised are included all judicial and executive officers created by law for the administration of any general laws of a State or for the administration of Justice.

The first day of November has been designated as the time for the completion of registration, and, as noted above, the Boards of registration have power fourteen days before all elections, to revise for a period of five days the lists in a manner best calculated to effect the objects of the party, passing this iniquitous measure.

This power together with the custody of the ballot box, while removing all checks against frauds renders the face of an election but a foregone conclusion.

From these clearly expressed sentiments there is no escape; not a flaw is apparent, which the chief expounder of the Law can detect in defence of unconstitutional right and liberty and nothing remains us but to submit in the best manner possible. We quote from an exchange the only hope left us, "An uncomplaining temper, a brave spirit, a heroic patriotism and an honest loyalty which will stand the proof of all trials and all imputations will, in due time, save our cause and our country."

Our Northern brethren are developing an amount of wit the excellence of which evinces a high state of cultivation.

From association, the term "so-called" has attained a significance truly wonderful for an expression characteristic of barroom loafers, and from having been incorporated in the national vocabulary of the universal Yankee, has obtained a currency, that renders it an essential term of qualification for all names and persons under all circumstances and on all occasions.

Thus in prayer—we should allude to the Deity as "the great I am" so-called—Mary the mother of Jesus so-called the saviour of men. And it is the height of impropriety in Fourth of July orators to breathe the name of Washington as other than the so-called Father of his country.

The absolute necessity for a strict observance of national usage in this particular, has recently come home to us in watching the proceedings, and reading the debates in the Congress of the United States, composed of those representative men, whose wisdom, justice and moderation is the wonder of the hour and the admiration of mankind.

Introducing a resolution in Congress the other day Mr. Shanks of Indiana, had occasion to allude to the late unfortunate Emperor of Mexico, in which he spoke scornfully of the self styled Prince Maximilian, and the "so-called" Royal House of Hapsburg." For this very brilliant idea the New York Times, Radical, thus compliments him:

"The self styled Miser Shanks, or the 'so-called' Honorable Miser Shanks, lives so far out West that probably his news has not yet reached him that the House of Hapsburg has been decidedly and definitely 'Royal,' or rather imperial, for something like six centuries, and that it traces its genealogy and power back to the seventh century of the Christian era. If a person cannot be blamed for having heard this, he certainly cannot be blamed for having heard that Maximilian was actually by birth a Prince," and that he is no more to blame for this than Mr. Shanks is responsible for being born a free and independent citizen of the great democratic republic, whose gigantic bird, standing on the Rocky Mountains, shows its wings over the entire continent, and keeps the whole human race in a constant state of terror.

A Test for Radicalism.
The Republican party has been so much absorbed in the important task of securing the spoils of office through the instrumentality of the next occupant of the Presidential chair, that they seem to have entirely forgotten or ignored the claims of a powerful faction, through whose support they mainly hope to achieve success.

They have commenced already at the North, to be soon re-echoed through the four millions blacks at the South, demanding a full and ample test of the honesty of Radical professions, and its attachment to the principles of equal rights to all men, regardless of race or color.

They demand, in tones that cannot be mistaken, the right to confer upon one of their own race, the Second office in the gift of the people, and ridicule, slight and contemptuously disregard this demand as the Radicals may, they will soon find that they have raised a whirlwind, which can only be quelled by filling the office of Vice President with a full blooded negro.

We confess the idea tickles us amazingly. We are glad to know that at last there is an opportunity of testing the manifold professions of the Radicals of love, sympathy and good feeling for the colored race, and we would advise them to press this matter home to their sympathizing, hypocritical friends; "fight it out on this line" and see how much reliance can be placed upon these professions, when coming in contact with their own political schemes and intentions.

Let the Radicals, (your so-called friends) know, that you will not be used as material for carrying elections and then cast aside in the disposition of public patronage.

They have given you liberty and permission to hold office in the South. Let them know that you also demand of them to prove the truth of their professions by extending that privilege throughout the length and breadth of the whole land.

Let them know that you are not only going to vote, but also to be voted for; that you are not only going to aid in filling offices, but that a fair share of these offices must also fall to you.

The Radicals understand fully that the colored vote is their only hope of success in the coming election; this knowledge in the hands of the colored race will prove the powerful lever whereby to coerce radicalism to their will, or prove the utter worthlessness and hypocrisy of its professions.

A CASE FOR THE "BUREAU"—SUSPECTED CRIMINALS FIT TO BE "TURNED" —We extract from the Jefferson (Texas) Times the following story of military disregard for the rights of "free American citizens of African descent":
Col. Fowler, who has charge of the collection of the internal revenue dropped from his pocket a package of money, estimated at from $200 to $250. He went to the place where he thought he had lost it, and there found the envelope, in which it was enclosed, but the money was gone. He immediately offered a reward of $500 for its recovery, but obtained no tidings of the missing package. Recent developments have led to the belief that the money was found by an old negro, who kept it. On Sunday night last a young negro, residing in the neighborhood, made an affidavit before "quid Jones, and had him arrested. Various circumstances led to the belief that this was the missing money of Col. Fowler. The military interfered; the negro was arrested and upon being put to the tests which are not usually resorted to in such proceedings, the elder negro confessed that he had found the money and had kept it, and the younger admitted that he had stolen it from him. The younger negro, however, could not be induced to give it up, but under the application of caustic remedies, not recognized by the Freedmen's Bureau, alleged that he had given it, first to one white man then another, all of them men of respectability, and which statements proved to be false, until at last he charged upon a very respectable young man, who is now under arrest.

Will the New York Tribune please note that the sanguinary and impudent Texas rebels had nothing to do with these "tests" and "caustic remedies".
WEST POINT—We see that Zack Smith, a young freedman has applied to the Secretary of War for a cadetship at West Point, from the First Congressional District of South Carolina. This is very proper, and we cannot well see how the Secretary can refuse the application. The appointments for the South have, for the last seven or eight years, been given to Northern youths, and some of them have recently graduated, and Mr. Stanton can urge no good reason to refuse this young freedman. His loyalty is unquestioned, and certainly his rights are equal to any of all means let him be appointed. The spirit which forces negro equality at the South and denies it at the North will have Great Conflagration in Tarboro!

ONE ENTIRE SQUARE BURNT!!

$75,000 Worth of Property Destroyed!!!
The prophecy so long foretold for Tarboro has at last overtaken her—and of course found her utterly unprepared to contend with the fiery elements displaying their irresistible power upon the wooden edifices of this town.

About half past one o'clock on Tuesday night, the alarm bell roused us from our slumbers, and hastening to the scene of fire, we found an immense crowd already assembled—ready either for plunder or gain as the circumstances might warrant.

About one month ago some dastardly villains attempted to destroy this portion of town by setting on fire the Stables in the rear of Mr. Sizemore's premises, but failed on account of the vigilance and activity of our entire community. But a short time since the same rascal no doubt exercised his ingenuity upon the Smoke House of one of our citizens and finding everything so easy and open to his predations he planned to have developed to more ambitious aspirations.

Upon arriving at the scene of the fire we first discovered it was confined to the Stables of B. J. Keech in the rear of several business Stores, and only through the instrumentality and energy of our citizens was the Dwelling House of Dr. A. H. McNeill saved from entire destruction.

In the attempt to save this dwelling, our young men showed the utmost heroism, and upon the form of many to-day can be displayed the marks of those fighting the fiery monster, in defence of one and all.

We are called upon to notice to-day the most extensive conflagration that has ever visited this town, and together with the entire community, we lay the blame at the feet of the town commissioners and call upon them, in the name of the public, to answer the charge of indifference and neglect, displayed by those in whom the public have placed their interests.

Returning to the fire we call their attention to the fact that fifty men were organized and controlled would have been sufficient to have swept the flames in their course, but the crowd was too basely engaged in robbing and plundering the goods from the different Stores to pay any attention to this fact and but a short time sufficed to give the flames a headway to which opposition was futile.

Committed from the Stables, a warehouse in rear of the Store of E. Reed, that it required but a short time to ignite this building and with it went the last hope of saving any part of the square.

Several propositions were made to blow up houses, but either from the ignorance or fear of those engaged in the undertaking nothing was done and the fire allowed to play its own game.

After all hope was given up of saving any part of the burning square, all thoughts were directed towards the building on the opposite side of the Street and to their salvation was devoted the united efforts of all.

In this undertaking every one, both white and black, engaged with the most zealous endeavors, but we cannot refrain from expressing our highest admiration for the young men of town to whom the proprietors of the Hotel were entirely ascribed the salvation of that building. Under fire and danger and trials that would drive many weaker men, they remained by their posts, and through their fire and valor, came out victorious over an enemy but seldom yielding to the means employed on this occasion.

Foremost among the active workers, we noticed many members of the Base Ball Club and to them the citizens of town should tender their warmest thanks for the suppression of a fire which at one time threatened to involve the whole place.

During the prevalence of the fire, an absolute apathy and consternation seemed to have fallen upon most of our citizens, and with arms folded and brows knit, they watched the progress of an element, which in its course spared neither friend or foe.

The morning sun displayed a dismal scene. For many squares the Streets were blocked up with the goods saved from the burning Stores and upon them the respective owners kept faithful watch and wait, praying for daylight to bring some relief from their dreary guard.

Daylight disclosed a sad spectacle: one entire square, situated in the most business portion of the town lay in smouldering ashes and the solitary chimney along the street, the spot where formerly thriving enterprise did its allotted work. There is no doubt that the present fire was the act of an organized band of incendiaries—who have at last accomplished their fell purposes of plunder and rapine.

The Reconstruction Acts Explained.

The following is a text of the bill as it passed both houses:
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That it is hereby declared to have been the true intent and meaning of the act of the second day of March, 1867, entitled "An Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and of the act supplementary thereto, passed on the 23d day of March, 1867, that the governments then existing in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas were not legal State governments, and that thereafter all such governments, continued, they were continued subject in all respects to the military command of the respective districts and to the paramount authority of Congress.

Section 2. That the commander of any district named in said act shall have power, subject to the disapproval of the General of the Army of the United States, to have effect, whenever in the opinion of such commander the proper cause exists, to suspend or remove from office or from the performance of official duties and the exercise of official powers any officer or person holding or exercising or professing to hold or exercise any civil or military office or any such district, under any power of election or appointment, or authority derived from or granted by or claimed under any so called State or other government thereof, or any municipal or other institution of a State upon such suspension or removal, such commander, subject to the disapproval of the General as aforesaid, shall have power to provide, for the relief of such officer or person, if he should be removed, by the detail of some competent officer or soldier of the army or by the appointment of some other person to perform the same, and to fill vacancies occasioned by death, resignation or otherwise.

Section 3. That the General of the army of the United States shall be invested with all the powers of suspension, removal, appointment and detail granted in the preceding sections to district commanders.

Section 4. And be it further enacted, That the acts of the officers of the army already existing in said districts in the exercise of the functions of civil officers, and appointing others in their stead, are hereby confirmed; provided that any person heretofore or hereafter appointed by any district commander to exercise the functions of any civil officer, may be removed either by the military officers in command of the district, or by the General of the army, and it shall be the duty of such General, to remove from office any such officer, who are not loyal to the government of the United States, or who use their official influence in any manner to hinder, delay or prevent the due and proper administration of this act, and the acts to which it is supplementary.

Section 5. That the boards of registration provided for in the act entitled "An Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," passed March 23, 1867, shall have power, and it shall be their duty before allowing the registration of any person, to ascertain upon such facts or information as they can obtain in reference to such person, whether such person is entitled to be registered, and if not so entitled, to provide that no person shall be disqualified as a member of any board of registration, by reason of race or color.

Section 6. That the true intent and meaning of the act presented in said supplementary act, is among other things, that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State or who has held any executive or judicial office in any State, and who has taken an oath of support of the Constitution of the United States or who, and whether he was holding such office at the commencement of the rebellion, or had held it before and who afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or to vote, and the words "executive or judicial office in any State," in said oath mentioned, shall be construed to include all civil offices created by law for the administration of any general law of a State or for the administration of Justice.

Section 7. That the time for completing the original registration provided for in said act, may, in the discretion of the commander of any district, be extended to the first of October, 1867, and the boards of registration shall have power and it shall be their duty, to examine fifteen days prior to any election under said act, and upon reasonable public notice of the time and place thereof, to revise for a period of five days the registration lists, and upon being so directed, they may be extended thereto has been registered, to strike the name of such person from the list, and such board shall also during the same period, add to such registry the names of all persons who at that time possess the qualifications required by said act, who have not been already registered, and no person shall be registered, who has not been registered, or who is not entitled thereto, has been registered, to strike the name of such person from the list, and such board shall also during the same period, add to such registry the names of all persons who at that time possess the qualifications required by said act, who have not been already registered, and no person shall be registered, who has not been
