In accordance with the agreement made with the Clerks' Union some three weeks ago, the general stores in the city instituted the early closing movement on Tuesday evening, closing at 8:00 o'clock each evening, with the exception of pay days and Saturday nights. The closing of business places at this hour gives the employees an opportunity of "having a night off" without having to ask the boss, and will be an appreciable privilege while not working to the detriment of the merchant.

A visit to the new town of Aurora Tuesday afternoon found things at that point moving along nicely, with prospects of a great amount of additional building this fall. Several buildings are in course of construction, among the number being the new bank block being erected by Contractor Sampson. The new town already has a clothing store, a boarding house, restaurant and a number of thirist cures, while other business interests will shortly be represented. In addition to the proven ore deposits in the immediate vicinity, additional explorations continue to prove ore bodies, and the new town has an apparent backing that will guarantee its prosperity.

Basket Social. The ladies of Virginia Lodge No. 3, Daughters of Rebekah, will tender a basket social at Hawkinson's Hall on Thursday evening next, September 10th, to which all are most cordially invited.
