Ask any Business Woman who has once used

Moore's Non-Leakable Fountain Pen

why she prefers it above all others and in all probability she'll give you a dozen reasons—it has so many merits. "Why," she'll begin, "I could drop it into my pocket." "Leak?" "Never; it can't. It's air-tight and ink-tight." "It's a convenient size—4½ inches long when closed." "It's clean—to handle—never soils the fingers. But I could not begin to recite all its virtues. There's no pen that can compare with it in any respect." See for yourself. We have all the various styles

Their line is very complete with the finest in the market, and they make a special endeavor to please their patrons in every particular. Their ice cream parlors are the finest in the northwest. Visit them.

John Owens, the first village president of Virginia but now a prosperous farmer at the Little Fork valley near Cook, was in the city Wednesday on his way home from a business trip to Duluth. Mr. Owens says he fears the frost of Tuesday night fixed much of the green stuff, although most vegetables were beyond the frost line.

Gleanings from Our Exchanges.

Isaiah Trimmer, of Dollberry, Neb., was playing with a cat when the animal scratched him on the v-randa.

While Miss Pearl Kinsmore, of East Wind, Ga., was coming downstairs Tuesday she slipped and bruised herself on the landing.

Amos Mittleby, of Woolpost, Me., while harnessing a fractious horse, was kicked just south of the corn crib. He is said to be about again.

While Harold Green, of Beulah, Miss., was escorting Miss Violet Goof home from church Sunday evening, a savage dog set upon Mr. Green and bit him four times in the public square.

A mischievous boy at Glend, O., threw a stone and hit John Perkins, a prominent citizen, in the alleyway.

Mrs. Binnick, of Pipetown, Wis., let a cat opener slip Wednesday and cut herself in the pantry.

Upon hearing a horrid "Me-ow" on the porch one night last week, Miss Belinda Ann Summers, of Hebron, Ill., immediately set forth and kicked the cat in the garden.

Duluth Police Didn't Like His Looks. We note by the Duluth press that Starl Cronley, who walks around the borders of the United States and who passed through this city last week, was picked up by the Duluth police, who evidently did not like his looks. Mr. Cronley, however, soon produced his identification and was permitted to wander on his way.
