An Anecdote of Blackburn. Representative (and Senator-elect) Blackburn, of Kentucky, was once stumping his district in company with his opponent. At one meeting he spoke first and charmed the one meeting he spoke first and charmed the audience by the manner rather than the matter of his remarks. Then the other man got up and turned the tide of popularity with a single sentence, in which he likened Mr. ockburn to the swan, "that beautiful bird. which glides along, the perfection of grace, and dips and curves in lines of beauty—but only draws an inch or so of water!"

Don Cameron in Europe. A Washington correspondent of the Pittsburg Telegraph says: A letter was received here a few days ago from Don Cameron, dated "Hotel National, Mentone, France, Jan. 23, 1884." Through the courtesy of the recipient, I am permitted to make the following extracts:

We left Paris on the 8th inst., and came slowly south to this place, stopping at Avignon, a very old town, walled, etc., at Toulon for a night only; at Cannes for ten days, and where we felt inclined to remain for an indefinite time, it was such a charming place; but, wanting to see so many more places before returning home, we came here yesterday, and in a day or two will go to Geneva, and then to Rome. This entire coast from Marseilles to this point—and I presume much farther east—is lined with villas and large, good hotels, filled mostly with English peo-ple. We find no difficulty—at least we have had none so far-traveling without a courier, who, I imagine, is a great nuisance, for Mrs. Cameron speaks the language moderately well, and I have turned out an excellent pantomimist; but after we strike Italy, and certainly when we go to Spain, we will be compelled to surrender ourselves into the hands of one of these land sharks. I find this climate charming, and benefiting me very much; for although it is warm enough for me to be writing in a room without fire and with open windows, and the roses, geraniums, hyacinths, primroses, and indeed all of our midsummer flowers in full bloom, while new potatoes, green peas, and many other early vegetables are in the markets, the air is so bracing that it is not at all BUTTRE—Farmhouse, 30@35c per 2b; cooking, advanced ½@%c, became easier and declined 1%c under yesterday; sales ranged: Cherses—12½@15c@20; Swiss, 20@25c. An Efficient Remotiv

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an avaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure, much more like myself than for a long time past.* * * The days and weeks come and go so rapidly that I don't have time to keep up my family correspondence near so well as I should, and as for thinking about politics or business, that is entirely out of the question. Yours truly, J. D. Cameron.

Mr. Cameron's physicians say that if he remains in Europe he will permanently re-gain his health, whereas if he should come nome now he may in a month or two lose all the benefit he has received. His friends have written to urge him to remain away until September next.

A WAR STORY

How a Desperately Wownded Soldier Was Shot Dead at His Own Request by a Comrade Henry J. Savage, one of the Soldiers' home veterans, tells the following thrilling story of a war incident:

The off-mooted question "Was ever a des-perately wounded soldier shot dead, at his own earnest solicitation, by a comrade?" is answered in the affirmative by your humble servant. It happened as follows: The writer, a member of G. company, 1st Delaware in fantry, was then attached to the Third brig ade (Weber's), Third division (French's) Second crops (Summer's). After wading Antietam creek, plunging through plowed fields, stubblefields, his regiment was finally located within plain view of the enemy, when the welcome command rang along the line to "load and fire at will." It was then that our daily target-practice at Fortress Monroe came into excellent use, as many a poor devil of the 6th Alabama learned to his cost. After firing eleven rounds the writer was wounded and ordered to the rear. While retreating in good order, but making most excellent ime, his route led him through a portion of the Irish brigade. Here he saw a sight that capped the climax of horror. A member of that devoted brigade was aimlessly stumbling Chairman Committee of Ways and Means of the City of Saint Paul, City Comptroller's office, Saint Paul, State of Minnesota. 35-59 around with both eyes shot, out, begging someone, "for the love of God," to put an nend to his misery. A lieutenant of the 4th New York was passing by, and, seeing the poor fellow's condition and hearing his appeal, he halted before him and asked if he really meant what he said.
"O, yes, comrade," was the reply, "I can not possibly live and my agony is unendura-ble."

Without another word the officer drew his pistol, placed it to the victim's right ear. urned away his head, and pulled the trigger. A half-wheel, a convulsive gasp, and one more unfortunate had passed over to the silent majority. "It was better thus," said the lieutenant,

The Black Warrior Invading Honest John Sherman's Territory. Cleveland Cor. N. Y. Sun.

There is an attempt to swell the Logar boom in Ohio. Recently the writer had occasion to visit a score of Republican newspaper offices in this vicinity-at Cleveland. Akron, Canton, Medina, Wooster, Alliance, Salem and other Ohio towns. In nearly all of them, he saw, accidently, or as the result of inquiry, copies of certain papers sent out from Washington, addressed in feminine handwriting, and neatly folded and wrapped, done in every way as a neat and nice lady

Que of these two papers, with which Re publican newspaper offices the country over have been liberally supplied, is the Chicago Herald of Nov. 25, 1883, containing conspicuously upon its first page an article enentitled:

A Western Stalwart-Gen. John A. Logan of Illinois—A Man Whom Many Would Like to See President—Hero of the War and Statesman-Twenty-five Years in Congress but Still Poor-A Romantic Career.

This entertaining article goes on to say that its subject is the chief western can didate for the presidency, the soldiers' candidate and friend, and to give a sketch of his career in the army and in congress, with a surpising particularity of detail, even in priivate matters. Either Mr. or Mrs. Logan was probably in the neighborhood of the manuscript when the arlicle was written. a very entertaining well-written sketch for all that.

The other paper which newspaper sanctums are just now revelling in is a copy of the National Tribune, a soldiers' paper lished at Washington, of date Jan. 31, 1884. Among the double-leaded editorials in this paper can be found one a column and a half long, entitled "An Old Slander Revived," in which the editor rises to deny the truth of the old story, that when the war broke out Gen John Logan was uncertain which way to jump, and that after first making up his mind to fight with the south he finally flopped to the north. The editor makes his denial very emphatic, referring the reader to Gen. Logan's own denial in the Congressional Record of April 20, 1881, reprinting divers letters and affidavits exonerating the Stalwart of the West, and winding up with the declaration: "This slander is powerless to dim the lustre of Gen. Logan's military fame or diminish, by as much as a thought, the love and esteem in which he is held by our veter-

Senator Logan evidently hopes to get the votes of the delegates from Ohio when John Sherman has been dropped, if that time comes. He appeals to the soldiers, for whom he has been so persistent a beggar. There are 409 G. A. R. posts in Ohio, with a membership of 35,000, and a large number of Sons of Veterans organizations, auxiliary. Every one of these has a copy of this Nation al Tribune, and in the senate Mr. Logan asked that a copy of the Congressional Rec ord be sent to every G. A. R. post asking for it. As soon as that is passed the posts will be informed by Mr. Logan that they can get the Record by asking for it. Upon the Rec-ord Mr. Logan will spread his Fitz John Porter speech, his pension and bounty petitions, resolutions, bills, and remarks. And still there is not much encouragement hereabouts for Mr. and Mrs. Logan.

is no indication that they will have a single vote from the great and warlike state of One too Many for the Barn.

A Michigan paper has the following interesting item: "Mrs. Fannie Crapo, of Waverly, Van Buren county, had the misfortune to lose her barn and all its contents by fire last week. She was in the habit at night of putting live coals in her hen-coop close to the barn to warm the hens to induce them to It did greatly encourage the hens, she says, but it was one too many for the
