The above maladies were considered of sufficient importance for a record to be kept of them, although it indicates but a small fraction of the actual work done, The diseases of a more trivial nature were treated by a liniment, a cough syrup, a porus plaster, &c., &c., and no record preserved. There is a great deal of malingering or feigning sickness on the part of prisoners, especially during the cold weather when they desire to remain in doors, but each case is carefully and thorughly examined and the fraud generally readily detected, and the person promptly

On July 23 Charles Chester, one of the prisoners, in attempting to escape from the guards, was shot by one of them. The rifle ball entered the right loin and emerged from the groin of the same side, going entirely through the body, barely escaping the large artery that supplies the leg. The wound is ordinarity considored a very dangerous one, but the patient made a perfect recovery and was dis-

During the year seven prisoners have been taken from the institution and brought before the Probate Judge, and after an examination, adjudged insane and During the year eleven patients have been confined to the Hospital wards connected with the institution with the following complaints, viz .:

Abscess
Fever
Inflammatory rheumatism

Inflammation of the bowels It is peculiarly gratifying to be able to state that of the 993 prisoners confined the work house during the past year, not a single death has occurred.

This is all the more remarkable when we remember that our leading life insur ance companies estimate that the mortality per annum is from 6 to 12 per 1,000 population.

Increased experience only tends to emphasize what I said in my last report, viz., that prisoners generally leave the work house in a better physical condition than they enter it. The food furnished them is good and wholesome and sufficient

The hygienic condition of the building itself and its surroundings is well nigh perfect, and I have no suggestions to offer whereby this might be improved upon.

Most cases of disease I have been called on to treat have not originated in the institution, but outside. Thus far not a single disease of an epidemic or contagious nature has originated in the work house.

It appears unfortunate that such a large number of crippied, lame, deformed, and persons otherwise physically disabled, should be sentenced to the work house, instead of other institutions more appropriate to their physical needs. This class of inmates sadly curtails the effective working force in the institution, lays it open to public criticism as not accomplishing results commensurate with the cost of the publicing and its maintaneous and accomplishing results commensurate with the cost of the buildings and its maintenance, and would even seem to defeat the very object had in view in the erection of all public buildings of this character.

I am your obedient servant,

TALBOT JONES, M.D.
