Wheat Also Shows an Advance, but the Bears Profess to be Satisfied With the Result.

But There is a Growing Belief that Wheat is a Good Thing to Go "Long" On.

An Inactive Opening Followed by a Sharp Bear Drive in the Wall Street Market.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

Special to the Globe. CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Both sides have had a severe shaking up during the week, but the bulls have had decidedly the worst of it, and along about Friday noon they were a very battered looking set. During the week the wheat market hrs witnossed a bulge and a break. There were but two days, however, when the market was quotably strong. The prevailing tone was weak, with prices cosh and one over 4c lower than on the Friday previous. The real standing of the market has been elearly illustrated by the short distance the purchase of a few million bushes! advances the price, and by the far greater distance the sale of a like amount puts the girder down. In other words, it bulls a great deal harder than it bears. While the figures show a decline, it must be acknowledged that the causes bringing about these results have been composed largely of "wind," and reports having no actual foundation in fact. Among this class of Tumors has been the talk of gold exports, Twice during the week the market has been reviewed uning the week the market has been reviewed the state of the figures show a decline, it must be acknowledged that the causes bringing about these results have been composed largely of "wind," and reports having no actual foundation in fact. There has not only not been any exports of gold, but it is improbable that there will be. Such, at least, is the view taken by a leading Chicago banker. It is a noteworthy fact that these rumored exports have been regularly denied on the day following their systematic production. The only logical conclusion is that reports are originated in the East to influence congressional legislation and sent West for effect on the grain market. The big purchases of the week have been principally on "short" account, quantities of this kind of wheat being taken at bottom prices. Sales have been jointly on "short" account and "LONG" WHEAT, on which margins had become about exhausted. All over the country small holders have been shaken out. On Thursday it was reported that the bears were after the scalp of Crosby, one of the millers' association leading lights and a holder of several hundred thousand bushels of wheat, but they could not freeze him out, and now he will keep his wheat until it pleases his own sweet will to let it go. The class who be-lieve that higher prices are about to be the order of the day are receiving numerous accessions to their ranks. The ground work is made of the visible supply and the unusual weather conditions. The former, it is claimed, will show next week a decrease of about 1,000,000 bushels. The other argument is that the warm weather is taking all the snow off the winter wheat, leaving it covered with water, which, with a little cold weather, will turn to ice and result in incalculable damage to the crops. A portion of this argument is worthy of more or less credence. Having been bearish on wheat all the way down from $1, 17 cars. it seems improbable that the decline will be of very much longer duration. An advance is dependent on three things: A steadily decreasing visible supply, damage to winter wheat and foreign war. Any one of these three would advance the price, but the third cause is by no means as likely to occur as the two former. A concentration of speculation on either side, however. would be of greater moment to the trade than anything else, all well-regulated guesses made by manipulation excepted. Notwithstanding its price wheat is still about 15c above a practical export basis, though wheat can be

EXPORTED ON PAPER oney lost by the operation. Pork in and no money lost by the operation. Fork is being industriously bulled, and higher prices are probable. The week has witnessed an advance of about 35@45c per barrel. To-day not less than 100,000 barbarels and the state of the rels were traded in. Wheat developed firmness, and staying qualities to-day not anticipated by the bears. The market opened about where it rested last evening, and a desire to get a little of the stuff manifested itself in all parts of the pit. Nobody appeared anxious to bull the market, for on every bulge the buyers drew out and waited for prices to recede before completing purchases. Houses representing New York and the Northwest were among the largest and steadiest buyers. The improvement was attributed very largely to the anticipated increase in the visible supply for the week of nearly if not quite 1,000,000 bushels. The scalping elements seized upon this legitimate feature of changed conditions as a good excuse for a decisive speculative reaction, and the mer-chant class had a good deal to say in the same general line. The deal was, as usual, confined principally to May, which opened There were rumors of grain failures abroad. In the pork crowd the purchases by Stone yesterday are still the talk of the brokers and speculators. The purchase of 20,000 to 25,000 barrels of pork by a broker who, heretofore, has done his business in 250 barrel lots, and then the giving up of the name of a man who never in his life was known to have a dollar's interest in pork were also puzzlers. Kent & Favorite smile so significantly when asked about the transaction that those who do ask them set it down to Mr. Armour and Mr. Kent, and the big purchases are

NO PUZZLE AT ALL.

This morning C. H. Adams & Co. took short 6,000 barrels for May at from $10.85 up to $10.90, presumably for Armour & Co. Before the day was over the $11 point had been reached for May, and most of those in the crowd who had been undecided made up their minds pork was going to boom and they had better catch Houses near to Kent are getting bullish in their advice to customers. This is significant, because Sid Kent has been presumably leading the fight on the advance in pork. So far as the trade go, this is about the proper time to bull the pit. houses have now been under way on "regular" pork two and one-half months, and the cellars must be pretty well filled if they evor will be. The stocks are large and the manufacturers ought to be in a selling mood. If they are, they will be found manipulating in advance. Trade conditions, however, about the pork pit have been disturbed since "Old Hutch" left off packing and began to harass his old partners as an outsider. Then, too, remarkable as it may appear, the packing crowd has been very nuch mixed and of the packing crowd has been very much mixed and at variance all this winter. Allerton has been a bull. The big New England concern, the International, has been bullish. Armour and the Chicago Packing company, Vent, Cudaby and the others have been bears. This stock opened at about yesterday's closing, but was steadily hammered until a de-There may not be much of an advance in pork after all, with even the traditions forcing it. Special to the Globe. DULUTH. Minn., Jan. 16 .- The wheat market opened nrm, with a good business. Curb prices were steady, without exhibiting much strength. Opening prices were ½c above the close of yesterday—92½c for May. For a few moments the demand was not especially urgent, but a good demand soon developed and took all offerings and advanced values to 92½c and then to 92½c, where it rested for a short time, with sellers holding out for further advance, which they soon brought out, buyers paying up to 923/4c, with trading fairly liberal. This was the highest price of the morning, and under easier outside markets values again dropped off to 92½c, where it was stopped, and liberal buying again ensued, quickly carrying prices back to the outside figures of the day, 92¾c, at which the last sale was made. Cash wheat was confined to sales of No. 1 Northern at 823/c. On the curb, after the close, the feeling was a shade easier, but there was little change in values, $25% bid and $22% c asked. Special to the Globe. New York, Jan. 16.—The stock market was less active to-day than for several days, interest centering principally in Pacific Mail. cline of 134 points had been secured, the general market remaining in the meantime about steady. The story was that a big bear pool between two opinions on the merits of the provision deal. One story is that the heavy packers, who have been extensive sellers for future delivery against the product of their establishments, have been induced by UNEXPECTED SHRINKAGE of receipts of hogs and the prevalence of cholera to shift their positions, and that they have gotten under the market, Armour and Kent leading off and the small packers following. The other theory is they have and then the prevalence of taken off the pressure from on top and combined to puff prices higher in order to sell their actual property at better figures, the covering of shorts by the Eldredge crowd and other strong bears affording the manifacturers of product a good chance to whoop up things, induce outside trading, realize a profit on the upturn and a correspondingly greater profit on a decline later.
