Special to the Globe. DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 13.-La Crosse clearly outplayed the Duluth team at ever point, except pitching, this afternoon. The fielding of the visitors was excellent, while the home team's work was very poor. Brewster pitched a fine game, but the inexcusable error column shows how badly he was supported. The umpire was strictly correct in every detail, and gave the best of satisfaction to the audience. No bases on balls were given and the total of seventy-nine strikes were given to Brewster. The game was almost featureless, except for quick work, the play being the shortest on the home grounds this season. Score:

The St. Paul and Des Moines teams will play to-day at 3:30, regardless of yesterday's storm, unless it rains when it is time for the game to be called. The batteries will be for St. Paul Duryea and Stockwell, and for Des Moines Hutchinson and Sutcliffe. Game at Minneapolis To-Day.

The heavy rain of yesterday pre vented the ball game between the Min neapolis and Milwaukee clubs, and probably saved the Cream City nine from a third defeat. In case the weather will permit a game will be played to day. The character of the Minneapolis ball grounds is such that should the rain cease by 2 o'clock the place will be in condition for the game. Following are the batting orders of the two clubs: Milwaukee.

THE NORTH WESTERN LEAGUE Standing of the Clubs Eight Week From the Finish.

The relative positions of the Northwestern league teams are about as they were at the end of last week, although there are changes in the percentages. Milwaukee has fallen away a good many points, but Des Moines, the second club, has gained nothing. St. Paul has won two games out of three, but is still twenty-four points behind Des Moines. twenty-four points behind Des Molnes. Oshkosh continues to creep up, but must remain in fourth place at least a few days longer, Minneapolis is surprising everybody. The team is playing together well in the field, batting hard and winning nearly every game it plays. It now has a record of five straight victories, two of them from Milaraight victories, two of them from Milaraight victories. straight victories, two of them from Milwaukee, two from La Crosse and one from Oshkosh. The team also won the first of the series with Oshkosh and two out of three with Des Moines. This is ample evidence that Minneapolis, as now constituted, is one of the very best teams in the league. While it is not probable that the Flour City aggregation will take the pennant, it is quite as unlikely to remain in fifth place. Milwaukee is actually about fifth in strength, but its long lead may take it through ahead of all competitors. The clubs come up to the middle of August in the following order:

CAN PLAY AT HOME. Boston Wins a Fine Contest From the New York Giants.

Boston, Aug. 13.-A magnificent attendance of 8,500 greeted the reappearance of the Athenians, after their disastrous Western trip. The game was short, sharp and decisive and the spectators enthusiastic. The home nine played with vim and determination. Burdock and Wise, who are prostrated by "gastrial," were replaced by Sutton and Wheelock. "Old reliable" played a brilliant game at short, accepting ten chances without an error. Kelly covered second base in brilliant style. Wheelock made two difficult fly catches in the eighth and ninth innings. Welch pitched a strong game after the third inning. None of the home team reached second after that. Radbourne was in his best form, no Gothamite making a hit after the fourth inning. Johnston's play was below his usual standard, although one of his muffed flies was exceedingly difficult to handle. Sullivan's judgment on balls was poor and his decisions on bases worse. He made the least favorable impression of any of the league staff yet appearing here and the crowd gave strong expressions to their disapprobation. Score: tators enthusiastic. The home nine

STILL NO CHANGE.

Detroit Manages to Keep a Trifle Ahead of Chicago.

The National league battle is as stubbornly contested as ever. In the last three weeks Detroit and Chicago have each won ten games and lost seven, and they are therefore no nearer together for the three weeks' play. Detroit is in Chicago and must play there on Monday and Tuesday. Chicago ought to win both games, and thus take the lead, but, in the light of the whipsaw movement of the teams the past month, Detroit is due to win on Monday and Chicago on Tuesday, leaving the teams in the same positions they occupy now. New York pulled into third place on Thursday, but dropped back at the first opportunity. Philadelphia is playing a stronger game Philadelphia is playing a stronger game than any of its competitors. The club has won ten and lost five games in the last three weeks, and, although in fifth last three weeks, and, athough in lith place, is but seven games behind Detroit. The Quaker aggregation is evidently in the race for the pennant, and if it shows the strength this year it did last in the closing days of the contest, will be much nearer the front than at this writing. The record is appended:

SUSPENDED. Courtney turned inside the stake and rowed in poor form the remainder of the way. Hamm increased his lead and won four lengths ahead of Ross, who was second, Courtney third, a length and a half behind Ross, Hinley fourth and Bubear a bad fifth. The time was 18:20, but it was conceded that the course was fully a minute slow. Courtney claimed that his seat broke, and that he tried to remedy it when he was making the turn. BALTIMORE, Aug. 13.—Jim Davis, the Baltimore third baseman was suspended to-night for an indefinite period without salary for "indifferent playing," and Jimmy Say was signed to take his place. Jimmy Say was signed to take his place.

A POOR GAME.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 13.—The game this afternoon was the worst exhibition of base ball given at the park this year. Kappel and Baldwin were badly off, the former being completely "rattled." The Clevelands forged ahead in the eighth on a succession of hits and errors. Kappel's timely two-bagger in the ninth won the game. Daily was hit very hard, but phenomenal fielding on the part of Allen and Munyan prevented much run-getting. Score:
Cincinnati......0 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 2—5 remedy it when he was making the turn. In the pools Courtney was the favorite, selling against the field. Courtney tonight challenged Hamm to race for $500 a side within five weeks. Hamm will accept. Hamm rows O'Connor at Toronto on the 23d.

HANLAN DEFEATED.

Victim to Teemer. Cincinnati.....0 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 2-5 Cleveland1 0 1 0 0 0 0 2 0-4

Special to the Globe. TORONTO, Can,, Aug. 13 .- The great Hanlan-Teemer race has been rowed. won and lost, and perhaps no head will rest more uneasily to-night than Ned Hanlan's, He had everything to lose and very little to gain by to-day's race, and nothing but ambition to leave Amerand very little to gain by to-day's race, and nothing but ambition to leave American shores the undisputed champion of the new world tempted him to his defeat to-day. But twice before has there been a championship race on Toronto bay since Hanlan won the centennial championship in 1876. The sun rose a trifle red this morning and the air was chilly, the mercury during the night falling as low as 56°. A stiff breeze from the east raised a choppy sea, but by 10 o'clock the wind had shifted, and the water began to quiet down. Both men were out for a ten-minute spin in the morning. Hanlan was in excellent condition, but Teemer presented a far better appearance. They were both well satisfied with the course. It was one mile and a half and repeat, and was sheltered from the wind. The city was thronged with visitors to-day, all on the anxious seat as to whether there would be a race or not. As the afternoon wore on the wind died down and the course became smoother. The judges' boat went over the course soon after 4 o'clock and announced that the race would start at 5:30. The island at Grand Forks clubs to-day was the most exciting of the season. Fargo had lost the last game with the Forks, and the latter were fresh from a victory at Fergus Falls and Wahpeton. Up to the sixth inning to-day the Forks were ahead when Fargo got down to business and came to the end with a score of 12 to 6. There was unbounded enthusiasm among the friends of the home elub. after 4 o'clock and announced that the race would start at 5:30. The island at this time was one mass of People, fully 30,000 spectators being perched at every available point on the shore. Choice seats in the pavilion sold as high as $1 and speculators reaped a rich harvest. The bay was also dotted with excursion boats and craft of every description. At 5:23 Hanlan appeared, wearing his old-time colors. Teemer followed immediately, and the word was given. The men bent to their oars and the race was begun. Teemer had chosen the south side, next the island. The start was made at 6:05 o'clock. Teemer caught the water first and shot a length and a half ahead of Hanlan, who started with a good clean stroke of thirty-four. and a half ahead of Hanlan, who started with a good clean stroke of thirty-four. Teemer was pulling thirty-six. Opposite the club house wharf, half a mile from the turn, Hanlan began to steer wild. Teemer turned the buoy first, four lengths ahead. Just then a yacht fouled him and he lost six or reseven strokes, which he recovered. Hanlan had closed the gap to a length and then the struggle began. The crowd went wild. Hanlan crept up to within half a length of Teemer, but the latter let out a link and kept him there. Again and again Hanlan spurted, but he never reached his antagonist, Teemer crossing the winning line in nineteen minutes and thirty-one seconds, official minutes and thirty-one seconds, official time. A big cheer rent the air and both men were escorted to their boat houses. It is the general opinion now that Hanlan's best days are over.

The Kennel.

The main topic among lovers of sport and hunting and also the ladies who own pets is the coming bench show of and hunting and also the ladies who own pets is the coming bench show of dogs to be held by the St. Paul and Minnesota Kennel club, in the building known as the Builders' exchange, Tenth and Jacksen, Sept. 13 to 16, and from the interest shown it is an almost assured fact that the show will be an enormous success. The entries continue to pour in very fast and the promoters of the show feel very happy about this fact. The management lies in the hands of Mr. Griswald, of Detroit, who has heretofore successfully conducted some of the largest shows in the east, and has been especially engaged by the local club for that purpose. Ladies wishing to enter their pets will find some handsome special prizes to compete for, among which we mention a handsome silver cup for the best decorated stall, etc. This having proven a great feature of other shows the ladies of this city should not stand back, but enter their pets and decorate their stalls to the best of their ability. The building selected is especially adapted for that purpose, being well ventilated and centrally located. No doubt the people of St. Paul and Minneapolis will show their appreciation by doing all they can to sustain the club in their undertaking and to further the success of what will be known as the greatest dog show ever held in this part of the country.

Foot Ball.

The game between the Thistle Foot Ball club and the St. Paul Foot Ball club at South Minneapolis on Friday club at South Minneapolis on Friday last was by far the best of the season. The teams were about equally matched and some fast and most exciting play took place. Each man put forth his very best efforts, and the result hung in the balance till well on in the second half, when a magnificent kick by Darling sent the ball through the goal posts for St. Paul. The dribbling and passing of both sides have greatly improved and elicited much applause from the

THE RARE ALASKA SEAL

Of All the Fashionable Furs This Is At The Top.

It Makes the Most Becoming and Attractive Ladies' Sacques.

Quality outranks every other consideration in the manufacturing fur trade, and fully accounts for the continued and very marked preference shown by experienced buyers and fashionable consumers for fur garments, and all smal fur articles made throughout by skilled furriers.

fur articles made throughout by skilled furriers.

Quality is regarded as pre-em inently essential in every detail of workmanship, and is secured regardless of cost, as being of the utmost importance in creating and maintaining reputation too valuable to be sacrificed for any temporary consideration.

Of all the fashionable furs, seal skins still remain in the foremost rank, and it seems impossible to find anything that looks as rich and as handsome, and at the same time gives as good satisfaction as an elegant, genuine Alaska sealskin garment. The trouble is that seal has been maltreated of late into all possible and impossible styles, for which this fur is not adapted. After we have had seal petticoats, some ingenious furrier might well now invent a lædy's seal nightgown or lady's seal stockings and shoes combined, or something even more ridiculous! Why should it be necessary to use seal for purposes it is not adapted and was never intended for? Is there anything prettier and more beeoming to a lady than a rich, plain seal'sacque, or a newmarket, or a dolman, or a fashionably cut wrap or jacket, the latter not too extremely tight-fitting?

Ladies know and appreciate these features, and for many years to come sealskin will, therefore, be the leading and most fashionable fur.

In connection with this, we wish to make a few more remarks about seal. This year, more than in any other preceding season, it seems to be the aim of some dealers to get up a seal garment at "a price."

The condition of the sealskin market is a very tempting one.

ALASKA SKINS ARE VERY HIGH—

The condition of the sealskin market is a very tempting one.

ALASKA SKINS ARE VERY HIGH—
20 to 25 per cent. higher than last year—while the lower grades, such as Coppers, Victorias, etc., have not advanced at all. The difference in price between a garment made of Alaska, or of Victoria seal, will consequently be very large.

We have learned already that jackets made of such Victoria seals have been offered at prices that appear ridiculously low as compared to Alaska. Of course, every one in the trade understands full well from what skins these jackets are made, and any manufacturer can make low as compared to Alaska. Of course, every one in the trade understands full well from what skins these jackets are made, and any manufacturer can make them as well as the next. But the consumer does not, and therefore honest dealers and innocent consumers suffer and Alaska seal has to bear the ill will caused thereby.

We think first class houses should keep their hands off and not use these poorly wearing seals for garments.

We are of opinion that it is the duty of first class manufacturers to try how good and perfect they can make their ware, not how cheap. Surely, there are people enough in this country who appreciate good material and good workmanship, besides being willing to pay for both.

We shall use nothing but Alaska seal of English dye, and will warrant every garment sold. We expect a competition from unprincipled houses and firms selling seal, who do not know Victoria or Copper cseal from Alaska, but our prices are for Alaska, and we guarantee that our prices to-day are 10 per cent. cheaper than any reputable house can afford to sell first-class goods later on, at any rate we shall get more money, that's sure.

Next to seal it is hard to say which is the most favored fur. It, strikes us that the time has passed when our American ladies would take up a few articles in the fur line, which the manufacturer could sell in large quantities, while all the other furs were as dead as a door nail. For the past few years furriers could hardly sell in finer qualities anything else but a beaver, seal, Alaska sable and probably a lynx muff. This season the dealers will increase their assortment considerably, as it appears ladies will not all buy the same kind of fur, but seem disposed to suit their own individual tastes. And this is as it should be. There may be more chance for the furrier and less for the specialist.

It may be worth your while, if you haye read these remarks on seal, to
